POST SCRIPTS

ENDS OF THE WEEK

DOUBT

A poetic lady who isn't sure that we always tell the truth verifies our statement of week before last that the Kunkle Road, despite its tar surface, looks like an ivory ribbon in the moonlight, but she thinks maybe there is no one named Joe Elicker and that we were just making something up when we reported last week that he objected to our "ivory ribbon" simile. "Did a real man really pick you up on that," she queries, naively, "or is this some more of your cleverness?" Blushing profusely, we confess that Mr. Elicker, no figment of our imagination, is real, lives on Pioneer Avenue and is advertising manager for the Comerford Theatre Corp. If we tried, though, we could, no doubt, invent someone, if it would get us another letter.

All things really do come to those who wait and now we've met a gentleman who saw a ghost. He is Mr. Irving Renbar, a printer who has just departed for home after working for The Post for several weeks, and he chose one night when we were both working late to relate his spectral adventure to us.

-0-

"I was vacationing in the Adirondacks," began Mr. Renbar, with no warning, "and had gone to bed early I awoke out of a sound sleep and saw someone entering the door. At first I thought it was a woman in a nightgown but then I saw it more plainly and knew it was a man. Aha, I thought, a sleepwalker. So I waited until he was near the bed and I put out my hand to wake him. So my hand went right through him."

"You mean your hand went right through him?" we asked, wondering if we'd heard correctly.

"Sure," said Mr. Renbar, cheerily. "What was it?" we asked, fearing "An apparition," Mr. Renbar declarsaw a ghost?" we queried, double checking. "I mean I really know I saw a ghost," Mr. Renbar informed us. "It walked around a little while and then it went over by the window and sat down, with its chin on its fist ,sort of thinking. Funny, but I didn't feel scared. Just laid there and watched it and finally it disappeared." And he wasn't kidding, either. He knows he saw a ghost and he was so earnest we didn't prolong the conversation. We just closed up the desk and went home, walking in the middle of the road and listening fearfully to the whisper of the leaves falling from the gaunt trees as we passed.

LEG

discovery of a big bone in New York he saw a flaming meteor streak from state, reminded us of the great occa- the heavens and disappear not far door recreation to Pennsylvanians," sion when we added an ancient femur from his home. to the paleontologic bone-pile.

Newspaper offices become hardened to crazy reports so there was scarcely a flutter in the one we were working his porch when he saw the spectaculin when someone called and reported the uncovering of a prehistoric bone at Pennsylvania Avenue and North Street. The boss made a brief note and forgot it until he saw us lifting there. He estimates the ball was about our feet up on the desk for a short three feet in diameter. period of reflection. We drew the assignment.

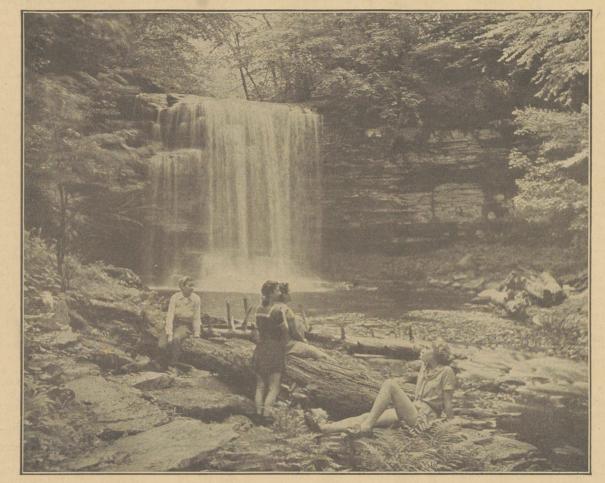

the door open, disclosed a really gar- body. gantuan bone we swallowed hard. It | William Niemeyer of Dallas conlooked like a story, a big story.

high and about six inches thick. Ob-(Continued on Page 12)

THE DALLAS POST, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1938

JUDGE JAMES HOMEWARD BOUND AS EXCITING CAMPAIGN NEARS END

SCENE AT NEW $183,470 STATE PARK NEAR DALLAS

The price was $14 an acre, a total of $183,470. The area covers part of

Sullivan, Wyoming, Columbia and Luzerne counties and contains waterfalls, gorges, lakes and about 1,000 acres of virgin timber. Secretary Bogardus said the land would be important to

Several years ago the Federal government spent $14,000 on its survey in

"It will not only give healthful out-

he said. "but will also attract hundreds of thousands of out-of-state visitors each year to Northeastern Penn-

Park Is On Good Road

mous Luzerne County family and a

(Continued on Page 8)

the Kitchen Creek watershed and then flood control work.

develop the area.

fifty years.

a hundred-fold."

This waterfall, one of 33 which mark the course of Kitchen Creek, is typical of the scenic beauty which will be preserved by the State Department of Forests and Waters, which this week acquired 13,105 acres along the stream for a State Park. The park is 15 miles west of Dallas.

State Buys 13,000 Acres For Kitchen Creek Park

PAYS $183,470 FOR BIG TRACT NEAR HERE

(Special To The Post)

Harrisburg, November 3-Secretary James F. Bogardus of the Department of Forests and Waters announced today that the State has purchased 13,105 acres of woodland of Rickett's Glen, 15 miles west of Dallas, preparator t "You mean you really believe you establishing a recreational area along the beautiful Kitchen Creek watershed.

Meteor Sighted Near Here, But Nary A Martian

a few nights ago, according to George number of groups in this section of into next Tuesday's election with a Hofmeister of Shrineview, but no men the state, notably Wyoming Valley from Mars had appeared up to press Motor Club, have urged either the

A few nights before a CBS Sunday night broadcast sent panic-stricken persons stumbling into the streets acquisition of Rickett's Glen to the We often wonder what ever became mumbling about Martian invaders, State's outdoor areas is one of the of our mastodon leg. An item in The devastating death-rays and interplan-Times the other day, reporting the etary rockets, Mr. Hofmeister thinks

> He had come home about 4 a. m. from his duties as night watchman for a Kingston firm and was standing on lar ball of fire. He identified it as a meteor immediately because he had a similar experience at Lake Nuangola some years ago when a meteor fell

It was early evening when we waded no attempt to investigate. He men- Club, which has maintained the pic- that the "purge" would cut Demothrough the ooze of a cellar excava- tioned the occurrence to the family, turesque walks and the parking space cratic strength considerably. Actually, tion to the watchman's tiny shanty. "I then forgot about it until the excite- beside the road, understand you dug up a big bone ment over Sunday night's radio hoax around here today," we said, by way recalled the incident. Then he led a of arousing the vigilant old character reporter in a search for some trace of who was draped over a rickety chair the phenomenon. The amateur scienbeside the doorway. Up to this point tists uncovered a fertilizer advertisewe were expecting nothing, but when ment, a golf ball and an old auto the watchman unfolded and, kicking crank but no evidence of the heavenly firmed the report of heavenly goings-That bone was at least three feet on by reporting that he, too, saw an viously, it came from something unusually bright "shooting star" a few nights ago.

GOP Hit Hardest As List Is Reviewed By

The purge of Luzerne County's regstration list-which began with the emoval of about 8,000 names last veek-took on a new complexion this week as Democrats took legal steps to protect their registration lead in

As a result of William A. O'Connor's appeal to the court en banc last Friday, the names purged were reduced this week from the 8,000 originally actimated to about 5,000 more than 3,000 of whom are Republicans. The lead estimated yesterday at 9,500.

State or the Federal government to Board, with Attorney O'Connor and Secretary Bogardus said today the Attorney Charles B. Lenahan present to represent the Democratic County Committee, resulted in about 3,000 of addition erected in 1936?" most important steps taken in the past the names being replaced in the files.

The continued study of the quescases which will result in prosecution against WPA foremen who are alleged quarter of a million dollars. to have induced boys under age to sylvania, increasing the tourist trade register as Democrats, Attorney Lawbe issued in these cases.

Kitchen's Creek crosses the recently Slightly more than 5,000 of the improved main highway between 8,000 or so names questioned were Huntsville and Benton at a point east "purged" by unanimous agreement. Of of Red Rock. A good part of the acre- that number 3,283 were Republicans age to be acquired by the State is and 1,984 were Democrats, an unex-It was so late Mr. Hofmeister made leased now by the North Mountain pected result in view of predictions there were about 2,000 more Republi-Colonel Rickett, a member of a fa- cans than Democrats purged.

The names wiped from the list were

(Continued on Page 8)

Election Night For Readers

Democrats In Lead After Vote 'Purge'

Board

Fate Of $15,000 Addition To School Rests With Electorate

The only municipality in this section next Tuesday's election will be Dallas float a $15,000 bond issue to finance A meteor landed in Dallas Township abandoned its plans. Since then a Democratic party will, therefore, go on voting machines in this rection of On voting machines in the township

SCHEDULE OF EVENTS

night follow:

Sterling.

Armory.

FOR JAMES' "WELCOME

Highlights in the "Home-coming

Celebration" to be staged by Luzerne County voters in honor of

Judge Arthur H. James tomorrow

6:30 to 7: Reception at Hotel

7 to 7:15: Parade forms (See story for detailed instructions on

7:30: Door open at 109th F. A.

7:45: State-wide radio broad-

8 to 8:30: Entertainment at

Bond Issue Before

Voters On Tuesday

Armory, Market Street, Kingston.

cast by Judge James.

HOME CELEBRATION"

will appear this public question: "Shall the indebtedness of the School A review of the "purged" names District of the Township of Dallas be this week by the Registration increased in the amount of fifteen thousand dollars for purpose of enlarging the present high school building by adding a new second story to the

If township citizens approve the bond issue, the contemplated school tioned cards also produced several construction in the Back Mountain section will reach a total well over a

The present indebtedness of Dallas Township school district is $55,000, rence R. Coughlin, county solicitor, which includes an issue of $20,000 said. Bench warrants are expected to worth of bonds floated this year. The proposed $15,000 issue is equivalent to about 1.4 per cent of the last assessed valuation of township property. izations, veteran's organizations, fra-

If the addition to the high school is authorized the 40-year-old Goss school, which has been a target for criticism, will be abandoned and pupils will be moved into the main building.

Missionary Society Has Birthday Party

The Youn Women's Missionary Society of Dallas M. E. Church held its 17th birthday party last Tuesday in Russell J. May of Shavertown spoke.

BOX SOCIAL

E. Church will sponsor a box social on of the fourth division. The motor di-Friday night at the church.

20,000 Expected At Home-coming Rally

Plymouth Jurist Winds Up Campaign So He Can Report To Old Friends And Neighbors In Rally At Kingston Armory; State Awaits His Last Public Address

TORCHLIGHT PARADE WILL PRECEDE RALLY

Back from the political wars, Luzerne County's own candidate for the Governorship of Pennsylvania, Judge Arthur H. James of Plymouth, will come home tomorrow to a rousing welcome which is expected to surpass any political demonstration in the history of Luzerne County

An estimated 20,000 persons will jam the 109th F. A. Armory in Kingston Saturday night to welcome the Republican standard-bearer and listen to his last public address before the General Election. As he did just before his landslide victory in the Primaries, Judge James will review the historic campaign for his neighbors. Judge James, who may be Luzerne County's first Governor in 60 years, will come home a 10 to 7 favorite to win. Like a star football player who is the principal target for the opposing team's attack, he has been subjected in the last two weeks to more "mud-slinging" than he encountered in any of his previous campaigns. Democratic leaders freely predict his defeat as a result of such attacks. Perhaps they have been effective. But seasoned political observers cannot forget that in every one of his four political victories Judge James has astounded careful statisticians by his "surprise" vote. In the last two months Judge James has given the State one of its most colorful campaigns. He has addressed audiences totaling in the hundreds of thousands, he has visited cities and villages throughout the State, he has stepped to the microphone time and again. His bid for the Governorship has brought him national publicity. He is tired, but he is drawing upon a seemingly boundless reserve of energy to bring his campaign to a smashing

Last Public Address

He will make a broadcast from Philadelphia on election eve, but his speech at the Kingston Armory tomorrow night will be his last public address.

The rally will be preceded by an old-fashioned torchlight political pawhich will have a purely local issue in rade, complete with blaring bands. Doors at the armory will be open at Township, where the electors will de- 7:30 and the program will begin at cide whether the school district shall 8:30, with opening remarks by "Little mentator. After invocation by Rev. George G. Summerson, Col. B. F. Evans will introduce J. Henry Pool, Luzerne County Republican chairman, who will introduce candidates who are on the slate with Judge James.

Parade headquarters: South River and West South Streets. Officials: J. Henry Pool, county chairman, chief marshall; Col. B. F. Evans, chief of staff; William B. Healey and Frank Slattery, Jr., aides to marshal. First Division: To form on West South Street and West River Street, with head of column at West South Street and on South River Street. This division will be headed by an escort of Wilkes-Barre policemen, the colors, the grand marshall and his staff, and will be followed by the candidates and their parties, a band, women's organternal organizations and young men's organizations. Second Division: To comprise voters from the First Legislative District and to form on West River Street with head of column at South River Street. Third Division: Second Legislative District voters, to form on Riverside Drive, with head of column at West

River Street. Fourth Division: Third Legislative District; to form on Riverside Drive the church, with 75 attending. Mrs. with head of column at West River

Street at rear of third division. Fifth Division: The Fourth Legislative District. This group will form on Old River Road with head of col-The Men's Class of Huntsville M. umn at West River Street, at the rear

(Continued on Page 8)

HEAVY BETTING MARKS GENERAL ELECTION; JAMES IS FAVORITE

next Tuesday's balloting.

Best odds of the week were two bets were reported at even odds.

zerne County men after Philadelphia Scranton.

.Evidence of the intense excitement | interests had sent money here to be over Pennsylvania's General Election, wagered on Judge James' chances 10 untold hundreds of thousands of dol- to 7 odds. It is said $20,400 worth of lars have been bet on the outcome of wagers were covered by the local syndicate.

So important a part of the election reported at 3 to 2 on James' election, is the betting that a representative of Democratic adherents insist odds will the firm of Robert Green & Co., Wall tighten in the closing days and as Street, New York, made a special trip proof of their prediction several bets through Luzerne County on Tuesday One of the biggest bets was one and was reported to have covered bets covered by a group of prominent Lu- totalling $25,000 in Wilkes-Barre and

4-H CLUBS FROM CARVERTON WILL BROADCAST SATURDAY AFTERNOON

will broadcast from 12:45 to 1 on Sat- celebrate National Achievement Day. turday over Station WBRE during the daily Farm and Home Program. A similar group from Wyoming County ord, which will be reported during the Washington and will later be switched | county agent, in charge.

The 4-H Club of Carverton, sponsor- to stations through the country for ed by Wilkes-Barre Kiwanis Club, local broadcasts. The program will

The Carverton club is one of the oldest in this section and has a fine recwill broadcast immediately after the broadcast. Members of the club will sing. After their broadcast, the listen-The broadcasts will take a half hour ers will hear the conclusion of the proof the daily program of the Depart- gram from Washington. The local arment of Ariculture in conjuncation rengements are being made by Luwith the National Broadcasting Com- zrne County Agricultural Extension pany. The broadcast will begin from Association, with J. D. Hutchinson,

The news-gathering facilities of The Post, expanded for the occasion, will be working at top speed next Tuesday night to keep the people of this section informed of the results of Pennsylvania's exciting General Election. Visitors will be welcome all evening to receive at first-hand the stream of election news which will be pouring into the offices of The Post. There will be refreshments to prevent monotony

Post Will Have 'Open House'

fluring lulls in returns. For those who will not be able to drop in on us personally, there will be extra telephone lines to assure prompt service and alert operators to answer questions quickly and completely. This service will be available to anyone telephoning Dallas 300.

The returns will be compiled and condensed for publication in next week's Post, which will carry a complete review of the Pennsylvania election.

All adults will be welcome to The Post's "Open House" on Election Night. Officials at local polling places and others having returns are requested to co-operate by phoning them to The Post.