

See Paint Made At Raker Factory

Plant One Of First Of Kind In Valley

An interesting Wyoming Valley industry, recently opened at 595 Market Street, Kingston, is the Raker Paint factory. The company is operated by Lester Raker, a graduate of Pratt Institute, Brooklyn and a chemical engineer. Before coming to Kingston Mr. Raker was employed in the research laboratories of the National Lead Company, makers of Dutch Boy White Lead, in New York City. Later he managed production in the Raker Paint factory in Scranton. The business in Scranton was established fifty years ago by Mr. Raker's grandfather.

Grinding of pigments and mixing of paint is done in the factory at Kingston, and the public is always welcome to visit the plant and watch the paints in process of manufacture. Barn, house, implement and furniture paints are manufactured. Besides this the company handles complete lines of enamels and varnishes for every type of use and service. It also handles a large selection of wall papers in the newest and most modern patterns.

The company furnishes ladders and spray equipment to those who purchase paint from the factory. This has been a popular feature this spring. Customers who are not sure of the exact amount of paint needed for their work, simply take the measurements of the surface they wish to cover to Mr. Raker and he can tell them how much paint they will need and the cost for all materials for the work.

Three-Way Tie For Tops In Merchants' Softball

A three-way tie between Buddies', Stull's and Parry's for first place in the Luzerne Merchant's Softball League remained unbroken Tuesday when Memorial Day games were postponed.

Games unplayed Tuesday, which included Luzerne Club at Parry's, Little's at Buddies', Lare's at Asco and Benefit Association at Stull's, will be made up by arrangements between the teams' managers.

Parry's traded pitcher Martina to Asco for outfielder Jordan and Lare's Market traded Breckenridge to Asco for Pollack. Yadisky, manager of the Asco softballers, has returned to the active playing list to strengthen the falling grocers.

Schedule for next week: Tuesday noon, Lare's at Luzerne Club, Wednesday at Buddies', Parry's at Asco and Little's at Benefit Association.

Thursday—Asco at Buddies', Luzerne Club at Little's, Benefit at Lare's and Parry's at Stull's.

Expect Appropriation For Swoyersville Town Hall

Between five hundred and a thousand dollars, sought from the WPA by Swoyersville Borough Council for the completion of the Town Hall project, will be allocated to the borough in the early part of June, it was disclosed by Burgess John Bronski this week.

The project, which includes repairs and alterations to the borough building on Shoemaker Street, was discontinued last month when the labor appropriation ran out, and employment was taken from a dozen laborers.

It will take less than $1,000 to complete the job, and the appropriation is expected to be approved by WPA officials sometime next week, according to Burgess Bronski. Council is in a position to finance the necessary materials, he stated.

Two Local Musicians In Prof. Wood's Recital

The students of Prof. Ernest Wood, of Dallas, will present a musicale in the Memorial Church, North Street, Wilkes-Barre, Monday night, June 5, at 8. "Bob" Sutton, of Dallas, and Miss Edna Meeker, of Kingston, will be featured artists, both playing several numbers on the pipe organ, assisted by an able cast, who will give piano, organ and piano, and vocal selections. There is no charge, but a free-will offering will be taken. The program is under the auspices of the King's Daughter's Circle of the Church. The public is cordially invited.

New Amazing Safe Way Makes Stained, Discolored FALSE TEETH LOOK LIKE NEW

Do these Three Simple Things:

- (1) Dissolve a level teaspoonful of Kleenite in half a glass of warm water.
- (2) Put in your stained, discolored plate or bridgework. Leave for 15 or 20 minutes; while you dress or overnight.
- (3) NO BRUSHING—rinse—replace.

TOWN MEETING

five jobs for Democrats and twenty-two jobs for Republicans.

Previously they had fought through the courts for forty-nine appointments, with John Riley and Bob Bierly tying the Davis-MacGuffie vote and MacGuffie stoutly declaring that with the G. O. P. county majority he never would submit to minority representation. The Democratic Court handed down twenty-two jobs and the Commissioners lost twenty-seven.

So, the twenty-seven were subject to another appeal, with the same old division of forces. Economy and patronage became so confused you could not distinguish one from the other. On Saturday, the day of the Guild show, the award to five Democrats brought the better awards to twenty-two Republicans, all of whom should be on duty the day The Post goes to press.

And there were your Guildsmen in their Gridiron entertainment, parodying and paraphrasing the song of "The Three Little Fishes," to this effect:

THREE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Three County Commissioners rule Luzerne,

Where a wage or salary is hard to earn,

Where the spoils belong to the G. O. P.

And the County Controller to Democracy.

"We want," said MacGuffie, "lots of extra clerks"

"To list the voters or they'll jam the works;"

"You're right," chimed in Davis, "and I'll motion so."

But Riley countered with a robust "NO!"

And Bierly shouted "DENIED!"

The lid went down with a loud ker-slam

With registration in an awful jam.

Oh, Judges, listen to our tale of woe:

There's a way to arbitrate a "Yes" and "no".

When county officials are an even split

And it seems that business is about to quit.

MacGuffie and Davis must the voters woo,

And Riley's looking for election too,

They all want the jobs and they fail to see

There is always danger in monopoly.

So, count up the vacant spots, Divide them in equal lots;

Give each side a shake of the old plum tree,

And we'll hear no more about economy.

Chorus:

Give politicians their share of the jam,

And the flow of business you never can dam.

Well, your narrator liked the Guild show. As gridironers the newspapermen of Wyoming Valley did a much better job with local material than the more publicized Washingtonians have many a time done with national subjects. This scrivener shall never forget Martha Thomas of the Record as one of the Garble sisters.

Nor will memory lose for a long time the lilting cadences of "The Ruler of the Keystone State." Dallas has a claim upon the Governor, because a very important member of the James family, Mrs. Agnes James Spry, wife of David, is a neighbor in Shavertown. How better portray, in brief form, the idea of the man who was elected Commonwealth Chief after the fashion of the famous Sir Joseph Porter who became Admiral of the Queen's Nah-vee by never, no, never going to sea? Here's the song and if you know your Gilbert & Sullivan and "Pinafore" you can sing it:

THE RULER OF THE KEYSTONE STATE

When I was only a small galoot I spent vacations in a breaker chute,

I threw out boney and discarded rock

Which the miners had to shovel and the bosses dock;

I tumbled out such mountains of wasteful slate

That now I am ruler of the Keystone State.

When I grew older I peddled ice

With a horse and wagon and a tong device,

I shaved it neatly and I brushed it clean

Til it glistened with the brilliance of a diamond's sheen;

I cut the ice exactly as to size and weight

And now I am ruler of the Keystone State.

The breaker days are an epoch past

And boys no longer heed the whistle's blast,

The ice-man's finished with his chilly toil

With freezing automatic in a kitchen coil;

Machines have caused a freeze-out of the humble skate,

So I became the ruler of the Keystone State.

So, neighbors all of Old Shawnee, On roads to fortune take a tip from me:

Don't choose endeavors that are circumspect

If you'd be cutting ice among the State's elect;

Forget the diplomatic frills and pick the slate

And you may be the ruler of the Keystone State.

As far as your correspondent could judge, the only important absentees were those who owe most to the scribes. Governor James fought to get there and was defeated by the last-hour jam in the Legislature. However, he did send for copies of the show and saw to it that a letter was at the banquet table early Saturday night. In that letter the Governor declared that he had at least an evening's enjoyable reading. And his only regret was that he was compelled to remain away from the Gridironing which would have smoothed out many a wrinkle in his executive brow. —A READER.
