Large Crowd To Attend Performance

A large crowd is expected to turn out for the Luzerne High School Band Concert, which will be held tonight at 8:15 in the school auditorium on Bennett Street.

Rehearsals for the concert, which will be the first given by the band in three years, have been very favorable, according to director William Saunders, musical supervisor of borough schools, and the program will be one of the most entertaining ever staged at the school.

Well-rounded, with both modern and classical selections, the program follows: March Salutation, arranged by Roland F. Seitz; overture, The Golden Sceptre, R. Schlegel; clarinet solo, Serenade from Les Millions d'Arlequin by R. Drigo, given by Jeanne Carter; Songs From the Old Folks, arranged by Mayhew Lake; vocal solo, I Love You Truly, by Carrie Jacobs Bond, sung by Katherine Kester; Chalma, by Harold Bennett; cornet duet, Buddies, by G. E. Holmes, given by Robert Shellhimer and Paul Michaels; Bohemian Girl, by M. W. Balfe, arranged by P. Yoder; trombone solo, The Lost Chord by Sullivan, played by George Traub; Idyl, The Glow Worm, by P. Lincke; clarinet duet, Theme With Variations, by H. Lazarus, given by Virginia Lyons and Harold Judkovic; novelty numbers, Old MacDonald and Trombone Toggog; vocal solo, Indian Love Call, by Rudolph Frimil; A Night in June, by K. S. King; saxophone solo, Deep Purple, by Peter De Rose, played by Robert Machinist; overture, Grandiose, by E. De LaMater; and the Star Spangled Banner.

in every case has returned to the fold. We doubt if his latest move will be any exception.

But we can see him now, in his damp little tent pitched beside a babbling brook. He has a handkerchief in his hand, and he's dabbling at his eyes, probably sentimentalizing over his memories.

We were wrong. It's his nose he's dabbling at. And we can even hear him speak:

"Beace! Id's Wudderful!"

'Scotty' VanHorn Made Store Manager

Scott VanHorn of Dallas has recently been made manager of the Luzerne-Beacon feed store located in the old mill on Main Street, Luzerne.

"Scotty" has been covering this territory for the past twenty years for various feed companies and has a large following among farmers and livestock and poultry growers. The new firm will handle Beacon products exclusively. During the past few years the business of the Beacon Mills has grown extensively in this region. This firm was one of the first to put a quality turkey mash on the market that cut down young turkey mortality. The firm handles all types of quality feeds for livestock, poultry, rabbits, chickens, goats, turkeys, etc. "Scotty" will be glad to greet all of his old friends at his new location in the old mill just outside of Luzerne on the Harvey's Lake highway.

Commenting on the location "Scotty" says the old building was built more than 129 years ago, and that Beacon feeds are good feeds because years of experience in the milling business have made them so.

Horse Shoe Lucky? Maybe

Two years ago when Ross Lewin of Center Hill Road, found a horse shoe in his garden and hung it up he made a laughing remark about his luck changing. He waited two years but the old horse shoe, he is sure, did the trick. On Sunday he and his wife will leave for a week's trip to the World's Fair and it won't cost him a cent.

Two months ago Spauldings' Bakery, for whom Mr. Lewin is route foreman, offered this trip in a selling contest among all the bakeries under Spaulding jurisdiction. Up until the announcement on Saturday evening, Mr. Lewin had no idea of winning. But his salesman, Charles Bronson of Wilkes-Barre did such a fine job that Mr. Lewin came up to the top along with Mr. Bronson. Now the contest is being decided among the bakeries and if the Wilkes-Barre Bakery, under the leadership of Ross Williams of West Pittston wins, Mr. and Mrs. Williams will accompany Mr. and Mrs. Lewin and Mr. and Mrs. Bronson to the fair. Moral: Always hang any and all horse shoes up and keep faith for at least two years.

Dancing Starts At Bob's Rink
