Goodies From The Griddle

ANNOUNCE wheat cakes for breakfast and watch the family get to the table in double quick time. Serve English Muffins for tea and bow to the compliments of your guests. Be ready with the makings for griddle-toasted sandwiches for a Sunday supper and feel comfortable about unexpected guests.

The evenly maintained heat in the surface units of the modern electric range assures that even golden browning of the griddle must have. It is so easy to know that the heat is right. Just turn the switch to high heat for five minutes, grease the griddle, then turn to low heat and bake.

Here is a variation for French toast which is delicious. Spread one side of a slice of bread with marmalade, lay a second slice on top. Fasten with toothpicks and dip in a mixture of 1 cup milk, 2 beaten eggs, and 1 teaspoon salt. Fry until golden brown. Top each with a teaspoonful of marmalade and serve. Or if you prefer, put thin slices of ham or tongue between the slices of bread instead of marmalade.

English Muffins

- 1/2 cup scalded milk
- 1 cup water
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1 yeast cake, dissolved in a tablespoon warm water
- 2 tablespoons shortening
- 4 cups general purpose flour

Heat milk with switch turned to high heat. When lukewarm, add water, salt, sugar, yeast, and 2 cups flour. Beat well and let rise at 85°, until double in bulk, about one hour. Add softened shortening and rest of flour. Beat and knead well.

let rise double in bulk, about fifty minutes. Roll out 1/4 inch thick and cut. Let rise until very light, about one hour. Preheat griddle on large surface unit of the modern electric range for ten minutes with switch turned to low heat. Cook English muffins fifteen to twenty minutes.

For variety, serve golden brown corn meal griddle cakes with apple butter, instead of syrup.

Jam-filled griddle cakes make a delicious and unusual dessert. Make large, thin pancakes, about 6 inches in diameter. Spread with strawberry jam and roll. Sprinkle the cakes with sifted confectioner's sugar, and serve hot.

Melba toast isn't just something that happens in restaurants. Cut white bread into very thin slices, place in a shallow pan and bake in a slow oven until dry and crisp. It can be made to perfection in the oven of the modern electric range where the low temperature needed can be accurately controlled.

To wash glass from which milk has been poured, plunge into cold water before putting it into warm water. Rinse egg dishes with cold water. This dissolves the egg left on dish or spoon, but hot water makes it stick.

Hot meats should have a hot garnish. Broiled orange slices served around the Easter Roast Lamb have plenty of eye appeal. Cut the unpeeled oranges into slices 1/4 inch thick. Marinate for an hour in French dressing. Broil for about ten minutes in the smokeless broiler of the modern electric range. Top with a bit of mint jelly.
