NEW MOON

Adapted from the METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER Picture by FRANCES BARBOUR

SYNOPSIS: Marianne de Beaumanoir (Jeanette MacDonald) belle of Paris, comes to New Orleans and falls in love with Charles (Nelson Eddy) her bondservant. Then she learns that he is really the Duke de Villiers, exiled from France because of revolutionary activities. She and Charles quarrel. That night he frees the other bondservants, takes a ship and sails away. The New Moon, with Marianne on board, pursues but on the high seas Charles captures the boat.

NOW READ CHAPTER FOUR—BELOW

"Mademoiselle, you must obey the Chief..."

Marianne is unable to cope with Charles' sardonic laughter. The night there is a terrible storm and they are all cast on an island. Marianne, angry at Charles' domineering manner, tries using passive resistance against all his orders but he threatens to have his first henchman give her a spanking.

"What! Mademoiselle can actually wash her own linen?"

Now, starting with the very first day, all of the wreck's survivors proceed to build a free settlement under Charles' guidance. In the weeks that pass, many of the bondsmen marry the brides intended for the planters and settle down happily. But between Charles and Marianne there is a burning antagonism.

"Oh... nature has a way with the heart of a maid..."

Marianne though, is repeating history, for she has become the belle of the island. All the young men seek her out to dance and sing and the gentry is especially pleasurable to her since it seems to arouse Charles' anger. One night she is on her balcony, being serenaded by a group of adoring young men.

"You've made moonstruck Romeos out of all of them."

All at once, she turns to see Charles in her room. He yanks her off the balcony, orders her cavaliers away, and then proceeds to tell her that she will have to change her behavior. The men of the colony are neglecting their work because of her and it must stop. Be sure to read the next romantic episode.

Seaman On Boat Bringing Royalty

Mrs. Niemeyer Awaits Word From Brother

Mrs. William Niemeyer of Dallas is anxiously awaiting word from her brother, William Thomas, a seaman on the U. S. S. Trenton, which is bringing seven members of the royal family of Luxembourg to the United States.

The local woman is particularly eager to get word from her brother because about a month ago he wrote a brief letter saying that he had been injured and was in the ship's hospital. He gave no details of his accident.

The Trenton has been based at Portugal and has done heroic work in transporting refugees. Thomas has been in the navy for 15 years. Mrs. Niemeyer is expecting her brother to come here on furlough, since dispatches said the Trenton has finished its tour of duty in European waters.

Card Of Thanks

The family of Mrs. Amos Kitchen of Alderson desires to express its thanks to all those who assisted them in their bereavement, including those who sent cars and flowers.
