

Mme. Undset Fled From Nazi's Rule

Nobel Writer To Speak At College Next Month

Sigrid Undset, distinguished Norwegian novelist, will describe Germany's invasion of her homeland when she comes here on October 13 to be the guest of College Misericordia and to fill a lecture engagement.

Madame Undset's eldest son, Anders, was killed fighting with Norwegian troops against the Nazis. Her 21-year-old son, Hans, accompanied her to this country.

The Nobel Prize winner left notes and outlines on her latest novel in her home at Lillehammer, Norway, when she fled. After the Nazi invasion she became a Government censor.

Madame Undset, who speaks excellent English, will deliver a series of lectures and her appearance here will be among her earliest engagements.

"I am certain," she says, "the United States has some lessons to learn from this war. It would not be nice for the United States to be the only Democracy remaining."

Since her arrival in this country she has indicated that she will probably not resume her literary work until peace comes again to the world. "I most certainly can't sit down and write novels as long as this war is going on," she says.

Death Claims Mrs. Stahl, Resident Here 30 Years

Mrs. Ella Stahl, wife of Chris Stahl and a resident of Dallas for the last 30 years, died last Saturday morning at her home, Oak Street, Dallas, after two months illness.

Mrs. Stahl was born in Bethany and lived in Honesdale before she moved here. She was a communicant of St. Therese's Church, Shavertown, and a member of its Altar and Rosary Society and the Catholic Women's Christian Association.

Surviving are her husband, two brothers, John Dowd of Kingston and Thomas Dowd of Honesdale and a sister, Mrs. John Canivan of Garden City, L. I.

The funeral was held from the McLaughlin funeral home at Honesdale, where services were held Tuesday morning, followed by a requiem mass in St. John's Church, Honesdale. Interment was in the parish cemetery.

Legosh Dies At Lehman

Thomas Legosh, 55, died Friday night at his home in Lehman. He had been ill only a short time. Mr. Legosh, a former resident of Swoyerville, is survived by his widow, the following daughters, Mrs. Joseph Kaminski, Leraysville; Mrs. Walter Goidzikowski, Kingston, and seven grandchildren. The funeral was held Monday from the Goidzikowski home in Kingstoh.

Old Hickory Club Met

The Old Hickory Gun Club held an enthusiastic meeting on Wednesday night at Exeter town hall and entertained a number of guests from the Dallas area.

Ballot For A New Name

A good many readers of The Post have indicated that they are tired of hearing their community referred to as "The Back Mountain Region" as if it were a refuge for hill-billies.

Another good-sized group like "Back Mountain Region" and are opposed to any move to change it. It isn't what you call a thing, they say, recalling Shakespeare's widely-quoted comment on the rose, it's what you make of it. There's one way to settle it. For three weeks The Post has been awarding prizes for suggestions for a substitute label. Fifteen have been accumulated. Now The Post submits them for your choice. Put a check opposite the one you prefer and in a few weeks we'll announce the results. Here they are:

Back Mountain Region	Suburban Hills	Highland Manor
Mountainboro	Mountain Parkway	Ruralvania
Newer Dallas Region	Blue Ridge Region	Bedford Hills
Dallwood Heights	Dal-King Suburbs	Dallarea
Suburban Heights	Dallmont	Sylvan Hills
	King-Dal-Lake Mount

Five Local Dairy Herds Retain High Ranking In Testing Group

Five dairy herds in the Dallas area ranked among the first 10 in average production of high-grade milk during July, according to the report of Columbia-Luzerne Dairy Herd Improvement Association. These herds have had consistently high ranking among the 17 which are tested regularly.

The highest producing cows in July were:

Tom Kenney Reports 'The Eagle Has Wings'

"To see thousands of men building Uncle Sam's air force is a marvelous treat," writes Tom Kenney of Dallas, who is working now in the Martin aircraft plant in Baltimore. "America is surely awake. Axis beware. The eagle's planes can meet them anywhere!"

Mr. Kenney was referring to the big new building program launched by Glenn L. Martin at his Baltimore plant. Within a short time 37,000 men, instead of the present 17,500, will be working there and producing to around eight such ships ev-Paul's Church, Shavertown.

Class In Singing

Elwood Price, baritone soloist of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Wilkes-Barre will again meet his vocal scholars Tuesday at 4 at St. Paul's Church, Shavertown.

New Students Invited

A class in mechanical drawing and blue print reading is being taught by James Harfman of Fernbrook, an accredited engineer in mechanics, on Tuesday evenings at 6:30 in the Sunday school room at St. Paul's Lutheran Church at Shavertown. New scholars will be received this Tuesday.

College Prepares Evening Courses

Extension Classes Open In City September 26

The extension courses of College Misericordia will be conducted on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons and evenings at the extension center, 165 South Washington Street, Wilkes-Barre, beginning Thursday, September 26.

Each course will carry three semester hour credits. Latin, plane trigonometry, American history, American literature, science in elementary schools and the teaching of English and handwriting will be taught from 4:30 to 6. The classes from 6:30 to 8 will be in sociology, Latin, economics, geography, French, English and appreciation of art.

The Saturday classes at the college will begin tomorrow (Saturday). In addition to the regular academic subjects, courses will be offered in music, library science, home economics, secretarial science and elementary education.

Further information can be secured from the Director of Extension School, College Misericordia. Personal interviews are possible at the office at the college every day or in St. Mary's high school, 165 South Washington Street, Wilkes-Barre, Tuesday, September 24, from 4 to 8.

Hahn On Committee For Farmers' Outing

Thomas Hahn of Noxen was a member of the general committee for the third annual Farmers' Day at Rocky Glen on Sunday. Mr. Hahn is noted for his speed in the log-sawing contests at the annual gathering of farmers from Lackawanna, Luzerne, Wyoming, Wayne and Susquehanna counties.

Are We Wasting Time And Space?

'Back Mountain' Seems Most Popular Label

Maybe (Heaven forbid) we're wrong!

Maybe Dallas is perfectly satisfied to be known as "The Back Mountain Region."

That's the only conclusion that can be reached after tallying the first week's returns in the voting on 16 names submitted by The Post on Page 1 last week.

For, lo, "Back Mountain Region" led all the rest! More votes were cast for retention of the present label than for any of the other 15 entered by contestants in The Post's recent "New Name Contest."

The second most popular name was "Mountain Parkway," although "Ruralvania" ran a close third.

Fourth was "Bedford Hills," and the explanation for its popularity probably was that Dallas once was known as "Bedford," an historic fact Mrs. Herbert A. Smith took into consideration when she suggested the name.

The other 12 suggestions received a smattering of votes and appeared to be almost out of the running, although later returns on the balloting may produce surprises.

If you haven't voiced your preference yet, clip out the ballot on this page and mail it in, with your choice marked.

'Are You Decent' Is Last Play At Grove Theatre

For its final presentation of a "hit" season, Nuangola Grove Theatre will offer "Are You Decent?", a comedy which bears the personal recommendation of Director Royal Stout. And well may he speak, for Mr. Stout was a member of the original Broadway cast. Produced at the Ambassador Theatre by Albert Bannister, the show played to capacity audience for over 30 weeks.

Candidly speaking, "Are You Decent?" concerns a very modern miss who desires maternity without the formality of marriage. Royal Stout promises an ultra-amusing evening and after 30 weeks in the Broadway cast—Royal Stout should know.
