Seek FHA Okay For Small Homes

Would Build Low Cost Houses On Dallas Plot

The possibility that a tract on the lower end of Goss Manor, adjoining the new boulevard, may be developed soon by erection of low cost houses, to sell for from $3,000 to $3,500, was disclosed by L. A. McHenry this week following a conference with FHA officials in Philadelphia.

Mr. McHenry, who is general director of Goss Manor, a restricted area big enough for 500 homes, is convinced of the popularity of homes which can be paid for, under the FHA plan, at about $22.50 a month and although the proposal is still tentative he reported that the FHA officials were sympathetic to his plan.

One contractor is seriously interested in the move and is reported to have financial backing from a Wyoming Valley bank and the aggressive support of a large lumber company. The area which would be set aside for the smaller homes would accommodate about 150 structures, Mr. McHenry estimates. It would be within convenient walking distance of Dallas's business section.

Goss Manor has been restricted exclusively to single residential buildings. The strictest restrictions apply to the Hill section, where homes range in price from $5,000 to $10,000, figures which permit amortization at about $40 to $75 a month under FHA.

Another section, west of the high school, an area big enough to accommodate 100 houses, has been set aside for homes in the $4,000-$5,000 bracket, or about $30 to $35 a month. The new highway intersects a part of the development

Phil Prutzman Transfers To Penn State College

Philip R. Prutzman, for the past three years a student in the Music Department of Mansfield State Teachers' College and a member of Dr. George Salade Howard's Symphonic Concert Band for three consecutive years, including the Summer Band Camps, has entered the School of Education at Pennsylvania State College as a Senior Music Education student.

This summer Phil was active as a member of the staff of the Pennsylvania State College summer band and orchestra school directed by Dr. G. S. Howard and Richard W. Grant, director of music education at the college. As well as being librarian for both band and orchestra, Phil was responsible for making and marketing 500 commercial phonograph records, the product of the Fairchild Recording Equipment which was in use on the campus this summer.

Mr. Prutzman has become a member of several of the College musical organizations, some of which are the college choir, the college sym-

State Medical Society Elects Dr. L. T. Buckman

The State Medical Society of Pennsylvania has named Dr. Lewis T. Buckman of Wilkes-Barre as its president-elect to take office a year from now, succeeding Dr. Francis F. Borzel of Philadelphia, whose term began at the convention held in Philadelphia this week.

Dr. Buckman is the first State president from this section in 27 years. His numerous friends in the Dallas section add their congratulations to those from his associates and his friends elsewhere.

Dallas Methodist Board Will Meet On Tuesday

The semi-annual meeting of all the members of the official board and solicitors of Dallas Methodist Church will be held next Tuesday evening at 6:30 in the church, as a covered dish luncheon. Rev. Francis F. Freeman, pastor, has urged a good attendance, since expenses and income are to be studied to assure adequate finances during the second half of the year.

15-Year-Old Boys Are Jailed For Thefts

Two 15-year-old boys from Harvey's Lake were sentenced to serve terms in Kis Lyn this week after Chief of Police Ira C. Stevenson had secured a conviction against them on robbery charges. Tools stolen from the Leo Carroll home at the Lake were discovered in the possession of the boys, who had been in court three times before for similar offenses.

which could hold about 300 houses.

There are 35 homes on Goss Manor now and three additional FHA operations pending. Several more lot owners are getting plans ready and Mr. McHenry believes that by January 1 there will be plans for 50 more homes.
