From Pillar To Post

(Continued from Page 1) Avenue in all kinds of weather toward his house and a favorite cheese concoction which he mysteriously compounded with milk, salt, pepper and cinnamon (Yes, it was cinnamon); nor the early mornings we fell asleep reading in twin beds with books stacked high between, and late editions of Metropolitan newspapers scattered from one end of the room to the other; nor the energetic and bubbling reception his wire-haired Rags gave us as she ran circles over the beds, nor the nights when the circus pulled in and we didn't get home at all, or those other nights when a late fire or an accident or the woman in black made us forget sleep with excitement.

We wanted Howell to go to Nassau. This was his opportunity and we knew it. But we can't help thinking of the press days at The Post we've worked the clock around together—and loved it; or how we all had to go without pay to buy favorite fonts of type or a new machine; or of the huddled conferences before pay day when we had to figure how $50 could do the job of $200; or the nights when the old press broke down and the folder went haywire and his encouragement and stories kept up morale.

We know he'll think of those things too on moonlight nights in Nassau, and we don't mind sharing it with an interloper. Once he shared it too.

We won't soon forget a wedding in a strange New England church when he and Scotty were the only guests, or the first night we ever tasted Vodka and thought we'd never live to regret it. We remember Irene his first love, and then there was Doty and Ruth and Mary; but this one is different.

We'll miss his bursting back into The Post to find something he had remembered as he passed Turner's apple tree; we'll miss seeing him drain a cough medicine bottle "to Plans were outlined for a card party to be given in the near future and Mrs. Arnold was named chairman. Christmas baskets will be distributed to disabled veterans by members of the auxiliary.

Captain Larry Lee Seeks New Recruits

Capt. Henry (Larry) Lee of Dallas, commanding officer of Battery B 109th Field Artillery, Tunkhannock, has announced vacancies for twenty-five men in his organization. Men who might prefer to enlist with his outfit, rather than enter training through conscription channels, are urged to get in touch with him.

HEPBURN COSTUME AND ANNIE OAKLEY SHOOTING HARD ON RUFFED GROUSE

Katherine Hepburn in her weird costumes and Annie Oakley with her eye for straight shooting have nothing on Madge Space, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Space, either for costumes or shooting ability. When Madge slipped into the office of the Post the other day she was wearing blue denim trousers, a leather jacket and had come from gunning over the nearby hills. The staff was sure it was Hepburn only this young lady was much prettier. When she enthusiastically began to talk about "wing shots being the greatest sport" the Annie Oakley strain began to show. Madge shot a ruffed grouse the first day of the season, and expects to get many more before its close. She is so enthusiastic about hunting that she forgot all about registering and voting on election day.

Christian Church Makes Plans For Sample Fair

Ladies Aid Society of Huntsville Christian Church are making plans for a "Sample Fair" to be held in the church basement Wednesday evening, November 20. Mrs. Ralph Frantz, president of the society, is chairman of the affair and Mrs. Nesbitt Garinger, Mrs. Jack Roberts and Mrs. Herbert Major committee members. Three years ago the society conducted a similar fair and had over 200 guests. A small admission charge is made for which samples of displayed articles are given away free. There will be refreshments.

later and was discharged in April 1919.

On his return here he assisted his father, who was ill, and in the next six years served as chief clerk and as deputy Clerk of Courts. On the death of his father in 1920, his mother was appointed Clerk of Courts by Governor William C. Sproul. She was the first woman in Pennsylvania to hold public office following ratification of the 19th amendment.

Mr. Wagner helped to reorganize the Dallas Post and later became its editor and manager. While living in Dallas he was elected as burgess. He operated municipal tax service, advising municipal and higher government on inheritance tax matters and in 1927 was named chief of the inheritance tax department in Luzerne County. He was named county property assessor in 1930 and special auditor of county taxes in 1931 under Controller Leonard D. Morgan.

Mr. Wagner is married and has four children. He is a Presbyterian by faith and is a past noble grand of the Odd Fellows, a member of the Moose and American Legion and was president of the Dallas Rotary Club for two years.

Do Cars Need to Get Old?

The Atlantic Refining Company's Florida Road Test revealed amazing facts on the life-span of automobiles that receive proper care, fuel and lubricants. Using Atlantic Products, including new Atlantic White Flash PLUS, a fleet of stock cars traveled 100,000 miles each (10 years' driving) and still gave practically new-car mileage, pick-up, anti-knock and top-speed performance!
