Lehman defeated Dallas Township Friday night on the township floor in a game that went into overtime periods. The contest was a nip and tuck battle all the way. With Dallas Township leading 20-18 and only one-quarter minute left to play, fans thought Lehman had lost a tough game. Then it happened. Chet Rusloski intercepted a pass from the Township quintet and hooped the sphere to tie the game at 20 all as the whistle shrieked ending the game.

The game then went into a 3-minute extra period with Bittenbender caging one for the Township, to put them ahead 22-20. D. Rusloski of Lehman, was fouled and awarded a free throw. He tallied bringing Lehman within one point of the Township. Then McCarty of Lehman was fouled. It was a tense moment for the players, as well as McCarty. This free throw would enable him to tie the score. He eyed the hoop and then let go the ball. There it was! The score tied, as the whistle shrilled announcing the ending of the extra period.

The crowd was tense, the players nervous, as they started the "quick death period". (The team scoring the first point winning the game). The ball went into the Township's possession who soon lost it as it traveled out of bounds. Lehman then took charge, passing the sphere to Chet Dropchinski, who tallied, winning the game for Lehman, with a sensational goal from twenty feet out.

COFFIN A BOMB REFUGE

A 400-year-old stone coffin in the crypt of the Church of Christ Spitalfields is the bed of Michael O'Connor, a London East End laborer whose home was destroyed some months ago by a Nazi bomb. Hundreds sleep in the crypt, a refuge from air bombing.

MOTOR CLUB SECRETARY WARNS JANUARY 31 IS DOUBLE DEADLINE

Warning that midnight, January 31, is a "double deadline" for motorists of the state, Wyoming Valley Motor Club yesterday issued a final reminder that both operators' licenses and motor vehicle inspection stickers must be renewed by the end of the month. Failure to fulfill both requirements within the week ahead, the club continued, will make delinquent drivers subject to fines, arrest and interrupted operating privileges.

Norman Johnstone, secretary-manager of the club, said the possibility of confusion and forgetfulness arises from the fact that this is only the second occasion on which Pennsylvania motorists have had to meet the twin deadlines simultaneously. The first occasion arose last year when legislation, sponsored by Pennsylvania Motor Federation and enacted by the 1939 General Assembly, changed the renewal dates for operators' licenses and motor vehicle registrations. The latter were made renewable on April 1, thus relieving motorists of the necessity for purchasing new license tags during the Christmas holiday season.

"At this time, nearly half of Pennsylvania's motorists are engaged in the annual rush to renew their operators' licenses," Johnstone said. "Under legislation effective for the first time last year, drivers' cards expire at midnight on Friday, January 31. On and after February 1, every Pennsylvania-licensed motorist must carry a 1941-42 operator's license."

January 31 is also the deadline for motor vehicle inspection. Every car must bear an official inspection sticker issued during the three-month period that began last November. In the enforcement drive that starts February 1, motor vehicles without new stickers will, in accordance with the law, be ordered to the nearest inspection station and be "grounded" until inspected and approved while their operators or owners will be liable to arrests and fines.

"Motor vehicle owners and operators who must comply with both laws during the few days before the deadline are confronted by different problems. They can obtain their 1941-42 operators' cards in a day or two if they mail properly-prepared application forms at once. The State Bureau of Motor Vehicles is demonstrating its customary efficiency in handling the huge, current flood of applications.

"Last-minute inspections, however, present an entirely different problem. Whether the motorist encounters delay, and possible interruption of his driving privilege, depends upon his location and the capacity of the official inspection stations in his vicinity. At this time, the safest plan is to have inspections made immediately, without the risk attendant to putting the job off until tomorrow."

Mrs. J. D. Garreau Wins Township PTA Quilt

Mrs. J. D. Garreau of Goss Manor was winner of the quilt which was chanced off at Dallas Township Parent Teacher meeting Monday evening. Over forty dollars worth of chances were sold. The proceeds will be used to buy books for the school library. Mrs. Ray Perrigo, president, was in charge of the meeting which consisted only of a business session and musical program.

Prayer Meetings

Prayer meeting at Idetown and Lehman were cancelled last week due to so much illness. Idetown was held Wednesday and Lehman Thursday of this week as usual.

Secret Service Warns Against Counterfeit Bills

Treasury Department Lists Ways To Check Good Money From Bad

The United States Treasury Department through the Philadelphia office of the Secret Service Division has issued a warning against the appearance of counterfeit notes and coins.

Special scrutiny is urged for $5 and $10 Silver Certificates, Blue Seal, and for $10 Federal Reserve Notes, Green Seal. Check letters and face plate numbers A32, D32, J26 or H26 if they appear on the $10 Silver Certificate indicate a counterfeit bill. Check letters and face numbers F942 or J870 on $5 Silver Certificates indicate a bad bill as do numbers D81, or 181 on the $10 Federal Reserve Notes.

The Secret Service gives five ways to check bogus bills. Portrait is flat, dull, smuggy, and does not stand out distinctly from oval background. Serial numbers are usually irregular or out of alignment. Colored seal lacks clear fine detail. Paper does not contain colored threads. Printing on face and back does not have clearcut, sharp outline as on genuine note.

Always compare a doubtful looking note with another of the same denomination, examining the features stressed above. When a counterfeit note is received do not return it. If the passer is a stranger delay him under pretext and telephone the police immediately. Avoid argument. Write down a description of the passer if he departs and take license number of automobile if he has one.

Drum Corps Not Allowed In Inaugural Parade

Some seventy-five Shickshinny residents, including the Boys' Bugle Corps were disappointed this week when they were not permitted in the inaugural parade after making the long trip to Washington, D. C. They were none-the-less thrilled with their experiences, watching the parade from vantage points near the White House, cheering loudly when a division of tanks, including 100 of the design built in Berwick, passed by.
