HOW TO BE YOUR OWN DECORATOR

Color Schemes for Kitchen and Pantry

March as a month is rather a delusion and a snare to a lot of us isn't it? Just as we think spring is about to arrive, and want to begin spring painting, it turns cold suddenly and we have the snow storm of the year. But every month has a speciality and you'll find your favorite newspaper full of news about housewares, china, and glass sales, so it's wise to go over your kitchen and pantry equipment, and turn your mind to making these two rooms attractive as well as efficient. For color schemes are just as important here as anywhere else in the house, and there are so many ways to follow a color theme.

HELEN KOUES
Director of Good Housekeeping
Studio

For instance, in either or both rooms, begin with your linoleum floor. If you need a new one let it be the base of your color scheme. If the one you have is a block pattern, as so many are, with blue, red, and yellow in it, you have a choice of white, pale blue, or straw color for your walls. Your equipment is probably white, so you can choose dark blue linoleum with chromium edge for table and sink tops and red for your accent color. This red can be used for the inside of your cupboards, for canisters, for curtains, for the handles of knives and forks, cutlery, etc. Other basic color schemes are: block patterned linoleum in ivory, green, yellow and beige; walls, pale yellow;

Brighten your kitchen with color woodwork, deep yellow; counter tops, green; curtains, white edged with green. Or oyster white linoleum with gray, red, and black design and black cove base; walls, pale gray; woodwork, oyster white; inside of cupboards, red; curtains, white with red rickrack. Or: linoleum in tones of beige; walls, and woodwork, beige; cove, countertop and ceiling, blue; curtains, white with fruit design in natural colors.

If you're buying curtains, remember that you can buy, by the yard, the same kind of rubberized fabric that is used for shower curtains. It withstands kitchen wear and is easily wiped off. These curtains you could make. Hem top and bottom and sew small brass rings an inch apart at the top and hang on a brass rod. Close them at night as you would overdraperies. Or you can buy or make the cottage sets of thin cotton materials in a checked or figured material combined with a solid color. These are called "double Dutch" in upholstery terms, and may have the top open with the bottom closed, as shown in the illustration. They add a lot to the homey feeling of the kitchen.

And what does all this decoration cost? Not very much. Our costs today are in the actual equipment of range, refrigerator, and sink, and even these come in units which are especially priced this month. In a small kitchen, 9 ft. by 15 ft., for instance, the painting (which you could do yourself) would cost around $12 to $15. The linoleum, and it pays to buy good grade and have it properly laid by being cemented to the floor over felt, is on the high side, from about $22.50 to $37.50. In a new house, the linoleum is probably laid as it is considered a flooring. Curtains might vary from one dollar to two a pair. While canisters come at about $1.50 the set and up. So, depending on what you need, a remodeled color scheme for the kitchen of linoleum, fresh paint, curtains, and canisters would be about $37 to $57; without linoleum only $14.50 to $19.50.
