

Stroke Is Fatal To J. D. Williams

Former Accountant Found Unconscious

The funeral of John D. Williams, for more than fifteen years a resident of Fernbrook, who died Monday night at Wilkes-Barre General Hospital, will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 from Kniffen's Funeral Home in Kingston. Services will be in charge of Rev. George Westberg of Memorial Presbyterian Church, Wilkes-Barre, assisted by Rev. Percy Davis of Westmoor Church of Christ. Interment will be in the family plot at Danville.

Prior to suffering a stroke on Thursday night Mr. Williams had apparently been in fair health. During the past winter he had lived with his sister, Mrs. A. P. Lloyd of Kingston and on Thursday decided to come to Fernbrook to oversee some work being done on his property. He told his sister that he might not return that evening if work was late but would stay in his little bungalow back of the home he recently sold to Lewis Nichols of Pittston. He left word with Arthur Lloyd, who lives in one of the apartments to call him at 8 Friday morning. Mr. Lloyd called and receiving no response thought that Mr. Williams might have returned to Kingston with the idea of coming out on the bus Friday morning. Mr. Lloyd waited until the arrival of the 10 o'clock bus before going back to the bungalow where he found Mr. Williams lying on the floor beside his bed, unconscious. Dr. Frank Schooley was called and had Mr. Williams removed to General Hospital in Brickel's ambulance.

Mr. Williams was a native of Danville, the son of John D. and Margaret Williams. His father was superintendent of Danville Iron Works. The deceased started his career as a bookkeeper and accountant with the Mahoning Tube Works at Danville and in 1903 was transferred as accountant to the Buffalo, N. Y. works.

In 1904 he entered the accounting department of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company in Wilkes-Barre and five years later became office manager of the Times-Leader, a position he held for fourteen years.

He resigned in 1923 to accept a similar position with MacWilliams Store, now Pomeroy's. Failing eyesight made it necessary for him to give up accounting and he entered the real estate business in 1929.

His wife, Anna D. Williams, who died three years ago, was the daughter of the late Thomas J. Williams, State Mine Inspector.

Mr. Williams was a member of Memorial Presbyterian church and Kingston Lodge 395, F. & A. M., whose members will act as pall bearers at the funeral.

He leaves four sisters: Mrs. A. P. Lloyd, Margaret and Elizabeth Williams of Kingston and Mrs. William Deitz of Wilkes-Barre; a niece, Mrs. Guy Haupt of Wilkes-Barre, and a nephew, J. M. Mottern, of Philadelphia.

Gregson Honors Old Employees

Hugh Murray Sixth In Term Of Service

George C. Gregson, Shrine View, general manager of the Hazard Division of American Chain and Cable Company, Wilkes-Barre, introduced members of the Forty-Plus Club who received recognition for having worked for the company 40 years or more at a dinner at Hotel Sterling on Wednesday.

The Hazard was established more than 70 years ago. Twenty of its employees have been with the firm more than 40 years—the oldest, George Hoats, is approaching his 70th anniversary with the company. Hugh Murray, of Pioneer avenue, is the sixth oldest employe in point of years. Many local men are employed at the huge Hazard plant and residents of the Back Mountain Region are proud that its head comes from Dallas Township.
