Parrish Buys Wilson Farm

Twenty-Three Acres Purchased For Homes

The John C. Wilson farm of 63 acres in Dallas Township was purchased this week by Elmer D. Parrish of Dallas from James Race, executor for the estate.

Thirty-one acres and the timber were sold almost immediately by Mr. Parrish. Raymond Balut of Shavertown bought 23 acres near Irem Temple Country Club and will erect a home there within the next year. A second parcel of eight acres has been purchased by Walter Evans of Wilkes-Barre who plans to build a home.

Claude Shaver purchased the timber which he and Frank Brown are taking off.

Mr. Parrish, who has been in the real estate business longer than any other Dallas operator, reports activity brisk in farm properties and homes. He recently sold the Alex Zarembo home on Davenport St. to Andrew Polichak and has sold the Charles Bomboy property in Shavertown to Dr. Albert Blase of Kingstown.

Pupils Complete Book On Life Of Christ

"The Life of Christ," a lovely colored booklet replete with pictures, stories and poems was completed by members of the Junior Sunday School class of Huntsville Christian Church at a special meeting held in the church Tuesday afternoon. Miss Mildred Major, teacher, will exhibit the booklet at the laboratory training school conducted in First Presbyterian Church at Wilkes-Barre the week of June 20 to 28. At Tuesday's meeting were Ethel Culp, Mary Dargoy, Donald Frantz, Richard Culp, Carl War-mouth, Arnold Price, Misses Elma and Mildred Major.

Ten White Leghorns Lay 1,200 Eggs In Six Months

Ten white leghorn chickens owned by Alvin Masters have laid 1,200 eggs since December 1, 1940. Mr. Masters who is a Dallas bus driver and lives in a part of the Parrish home on Main St., Dallas, makes no claim to being a poultry expert but believes that white leghorns—given ordinary care and attention—are profit makers. His flock is housed in an old coop and is without electric lights—but of course Al is enthusiastic about his chickens and sees to it that they get the best of care.

Capt. C. N. Booth Will Be Buried Tomorrow At 2

entered the service of the Pennsylvania Railway Company. Later he became head of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company police force and a few years ago organized his own private detective agency composed of fifty old associates with offices throughout the State. In his capacity as head of the agency he traveled to all parts of the anthracite field and played an important part in the protection of national defense work in Pennsylvania.

Captain Booth was an outstanding police officer; intensely patriotic, possessing tremendous energy and ability to do the job at hand, and devoted to his work. He had no scorn too great for those who mixed politics with duty and never lowered his standards. He advocated Civil Service for police officers and was one of the most active proponents of the Police Civil Service law in Pennsylvania. He was a life member of the State Police Chiefs' Association and a member of the North-eastern Pennsylvania Police Executives' Association. He was a member of all Masonic bodies and of the Shrine and was also a former member of Dallas Rotary Club.

Captain Booth was a man of cheerful disposition; endowed with a personality that was infectious, he made friends quickly and held them throughout his life. He was engaged in a profession that required tact and sternness but his ready ability to see the light side of a serious situation disarmed friend and opponent alike. His code was best expressed in the Biblical phrase, "do good though the heavens fall," and he followed it earnestly. He was a genial host and nothing pleased him more than to enlarge his family circle with old friends and associates. He was a devoted husband and father.

Captain and Mrs. Booth summered for many years at Harvey's Lake and about thirteen years ago purchased the home on Lehman Ave. where they lived the year around. Four years ago they took up their winter residence in an apartment at Hotel Sterling. They had been living in Dallas since May.

Beside his wife, the former Margaret E. Brittin, Captain Booth leaves one son, Nelson, a civil engineer of Dallas; two foster children, George Lee Walton of Wilkes-Barre and Mrs. Lewis P. Rhody of Lee Park; one grandchild, Helen Ann and two foster grandchildren, Margaret Jane Rhody and George Walton, Jr.

Interment will be in the family plot at Warden Cemetery beside his foster son, Harry Stanley Walton. Pallbearers will be his associates in the Booth Detective Agency.

Higher Milk Prices Asked

Farmers Contend They Can't Make A Profit

Representative milk producers from this area attended the hearing of the State Milk Control Board held in Scranton Friday and asked for an increase in milk prices effective July 1. The hearing came as the result of a petition from producers who contend that advancing labor, feed and production costs make it impossible to produce milk at present prices without a loss to the farmers.

Dealers contended that increases asked by the farmers are too great and the Milk Board took the whole matter under advisement to release its findings at a later date.

The milk producers asked for an increase from $2.50 to $2.75 a hundred for Class 1, 3.5 butterfat content milk; and for an increase from $1.80 to $2.10 a hundred for Class 1-A milk. They also asked for a 10c increase in the formula price of Class 2 milk and an increase of 5c in the formula price of Class 3 milk.

Beside Class 1 and Class 1-A milk there are 13 other classifications based on formula under which milk is sold by the farmer. Formula prices are based on the butterfat content of milk times the price of 92 score butter in the New York market plus a constant. The farmers asked for increases in these classifications as well.

Red Cross Will Give Canteen Courses Here

Wyoming Valley Chapter, American Red Cross, has completed plans for nutrition and canteen courses to start in this area next week, according to Mrs. Mae E. Townend, district chairman of the canteen service.

Classes have been formed in Dallas, Shavertown and Trucksville and are open to every one. The Red Cross invites those who are interested in taking the courses to communicate with Mrs. Townend by calling Dallas 357.

The schedule follows: Tuesday, June 24, 2 p. m., Shavertown M. E. Church; Thursday, June 26, 7 p. m., St. Paul's Lutheran Church; Tuesday, July 1, 7 p. m., Dallas M. E. Church; Wednesday, July 2, 2 p. m., Trucksville M. E. Church.

Local Youths Place High In State Contest

Warren Stanton, together with Robert and Lawrence, played in the popular F. F. A. Band composed of more than 100 F. F. A. boys from all parts of the State. The band furnished music at mass meetings Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

Beside participating in the band, the boys made inspection trips over the beautiful college campus, visited the various buildings and went swimming in the indoor Glenland swimming pool, attended a movie and did many other interesting things.

They made the trip with their Agricultural teacher, Gerald M. Snyder, going by way of Benton, Danville, and Lewisburg, and returning by way of Lock Haven and Williamsport.

Building Boom Hits Area As Modern Highway Opens

large lot facing the new highway at Goss Manor.

Dallas Township is experiencing its own building boom in the Kunkle area being developed by Walter Elston. Walter has about completed a Cape Cod Colonial house of concrete block and stucco construction for himself, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Maury of Wilkes-Barre have completed cellar excavations for a second Cape Cod Colonial home nearby. Mr. Elston is also building two new bungalows for his employees in the same vicinity and has cellars about completed.

Howard Martin is building a new six-room home on his father's property near the new highway.

In Dallas Borough along the new highway above the triangle intersection, L. A. McHenry and Joseph Banks Construction Company have about completed excavations and filling which bring forty lots to highway level. A number of the lots have already been sold and construction of several business properties will start there shortly.
