Work up energy on a glass of tomato juice and a cup of black coffee. "Nice people don't eat." Unless you want to lose your man, don't lose your vigor. Green salads with gobs of mayonnaise have a pronounced slimming effect. The lettuce cancels out the olive oil, and the net result is no calories.

A picture of a succulent crown-rot of pork, each little chop bone wearing a ruffled paper petticoat. Eat lots of pork, on account of it has thiamine in it. What is thiamine? I wouldn't know, but probably somebody invented it to confound the people who insist that you musn't eat any pork at all, but slim yourself with lean beef.

Get your ten kinds of vegetable-juice, folks, right this way and don't crowd.

Sh-h-h, lady, you have Gaposis. How can you expect to hold a man's affection if your pocket springs a leak? And that Lordosis backline. You can overcome that by wearing a foundation garment made to measure and costing the nominal sum of fifteen dollars, or you can train yourself to stand correctly by walking around the room with a stack of books on your head.

And that unwelcome spare tire around the middle. It takes patience and hard work and strict attention to business to melt it away, but if you will send your name and address and a slight moneyporder you will receive by return mail in a plain envelope a blue-print of exercises calculated to scientifically dislocate your neck and give your spine a permanent-wave.

Why bother with sending in your name and address? After all, for a very modest sum, you can get the self-same effect with Whozit's Pills, and much more painlessly. Well, why take pills? Eat all you want and take no exercise whatsoever. Body-contouring is the answer to a maiden's prayer. Your neighborhood Beauty-Shoppe has what it takes. For a perfectly inconsequential amount you can get slapped and mauled and steamed and contoured without lifting a finger. Just press a button and the apparatus does the rest. It works while you sleep.

ARTHUR SILVERBLATT, Attorney.

and perspective talents to good use during the World War, which took him more or less abruptly from the Lehigh Valley. He enlisted July 24, 1917, at East Orange with the 112th Heavy Field Artillery, 54th Field Artillery Brigade, 29th Division, and was sent to France with a headquarters company as a map maker and reconnaissance man. The 54th, incidentally, was one of the few motorized units in the U. S. Army at that time.

All told, Mr. Lundy had 22 months of active service, half of them spent in France with a turn at the front thrown in for good measure. He's still something of an artilleryman at heart, and is a member of the 29th Division Association.

After he was mustered out Mr. Lundy came to Wilkes-Barre to go into business with his brother, Walter J., who at the time was proprietor of the Lundy Piano Company. The two brothers bought out the Glenn Electric Company in '34, moved into their present building on North Main street and have been electrical men ever since, now running the most complete store of that sort in Wilkes-Barre. Another brother, incidentally . . . Robert H. Lundy . . . is now with the firm.

Mr. Lundy moved to this section ten years ago this month, and his house . . . which he shares with his wife, Bernice Wolf Lundy, and their two daughters, Marilyn and Dolores . . . is one of the most pleasant homes along Pioneer avenue. It has a number of unique features, among them two langorous weeping willows, a neat little basement game room which Mr. Lundy panelled and decorated himself, and a rotating Santa Claus which wags cheerfully at passing children from an upstairs window every Christmas.

One way or another Mr. Lundy cuts quite a figure in both political and civic betterment circles. Three years ago he was appointed Tax Collector of Dallas Township, replacing the late John Isaacs, and on the basis of his record for the partial term he is seeking the Republican nomination for the collectorship in the primaries. This year he is president of the Dallas Kiwanis Club and is leading the organization in its campaign for safety patrols for school children. For several years he has been chairman of the Underprivileged Children Committee of the Kiwanis and has helped to make happy Christmas days for any number of little kids who might otherwise have been disappointed. Mr. Lundy also holds memberships in the Shavertown and Dallas fire companies, and is one of the many Shriners in this section, belonging to the uniformed bodies and the Legion of Honor.

ble until the flames and suffocating smoke had stilled their efforts to escape. All were killed when the interior of the barn collapsed, spilling 400 bushels of burning grain and hundreds of flaming timbers upon them.

The flames were beyond control from the outset, but a small adjoining barn, ignited several times, was saved by a bucket brigade. The flames in the main barn shot high into the sky as the dry hay caught like tinder from the burning superstructure. The whole scene was one of terror, with the screams of the pain-racked animals mingling with the outcries of the onlookers.

The walls of the barn, located on the southern outskirts of the village, still stand, blackened and scarred by the flames. No attempt can be made to remove the remains of the dead stock until a great pile of feed, which is still burning, has been shovelled from the wreckage.

In addition to the four animals saved from the barn, two teams of horses in pasture at the time of the fire survive. Mr. Long estimated his loss at more than $10,000.

Making Strong Campaign

William F. Myers of Kingston Township is making a strong campaign for the office of supervisor on the Republican ticket. Mr. Myers apparently has strong support throughout the township and his wide experience in many branches of industry will be acceptable to the taxpayers of his district.

ish enough to look like a responsible sort of fellow, Mr. Lundy enjoys people, puttering and fish and divides his spare time nicely among all three. He and his wife will have a house-full of company more often than not, but on guest-less evenings Mr. Lundy is very apt to be down in his wood-working shop or at his drawing board. And once or twice a year the Lundy family decamps for the fishing grounds. Best fishing they've had so far was in the deep waters off the Florida Coast, where Mrs. Lundy hooked a 50-pound sailfish one fine day, and her husband more Tuna than he could lift.

Among other things Mr. Lundy is a man of stern personal discipline when he wants to be. One time he even quit smoking entirely for a good many months, which makes him something of a man apart. Perhaps his very best trait, however, is his devotion and faith to his community, which along with thousands of other fine people, he believes to be second to none.

Schools Open September 3rd

8:30-11:00 and 12:30 to 3:30 and both elementary schools 8:45 to 11:30 and 12:30 to 3:15. The resignation of Walter Hicks, athletic coach and teacher of health, mathematics and physical education, was accepted by the board this week and marks the only change in personnel. Mr. Hicks, at Kingston township for the past 10 years, goes to Wilsonborough schools as basketball and baseball mentor and assistant football coach. Enrollment at Kingston township will be about 1,050, same as last year.

Lehman Township

An increase of about 15 high school students over the 240 of last term is expected at Lehman township, according to Supervising Principal H. Austin Snyder. New addition to the faculty is Miss Dorothy Thomas, resident of Exeter and graduate of Bucknell University, who replaces Miss Edyth Dickover as head of the English department. Miss Dickover will teach this year at Kingston High School.

A new table saw for the shop, a soil testing outfit, egg scales and caponizing set for the agriculture department and an SVE projection set for laboratory slides have been added to the equipment of the modern Lehman High School building, built three years ago. The old building now houses the 175 grade school pupils.

Five new steel-bodied school busses replace the old ones this year, and will carry an estimated 370 students. School opens at 8:50 for both grade and high school pupils. Bus schedules will be the same.

Coon Hounds Will Have Day

Coon trials have become increasingly popular in the past few years with as many as 5,000 persons attending the trials held at Catawissa each year.

Among local dogs entered at the Sgarlet Lake meet will be Rover, owned by Andy Stelt of Meeker; Tony, owned by Floyd Corby of Evans Falls; Ring, owned by Kenneth Martin, and Wriggle, owned by Ernest Martin. Dozens of other dogs from Wyoming, Luzerne and Columbia counties have also been entered and all who have coon dogs are urged by the committee to enter them. The public is invited to attend the trials and take part in the fun.

Members of the committee are: Ray Edwards, Sweet Valley; Andy Steltz, Sweet Valley; Fred Ferrell, Meeker; George Wesley, Mooretown; Frieda Evans, secretary of the club, and Ernest Martin, field manager. Richard Stapleton, Luzerne dog fancier, will take photographs of the trials.

The British Overseas Airways Corporation operates the longest commercial airline, running between London and Auckland, New Zealand, a distance of 18,000 miles.

Lake Township

Lake township schools open at the regular time Wednesday morning, Walter E. Roberts, principal, announced this week. The enrollment is expected to reach 500 this year, with small increases in both high and grade school pupils. Bus schedules will be the same.

REPUBLICANS!

Do you believe that a 71 year old man will be able to perform the duties of Judge for 21 years as well as a man 47 years of age? If you do not, then vote for EARL V. COMPTON for Judge of the Supreme Court.

The term of a Judge for the Supreme Court is 21 years. Mr. Compton is 47 years old. His opponent is 71 years old and will be 92 at the expiration of the term.

Mr. Compton is qualified by training and temperament for the Pennsylvania Supreme Court. He is NOT the James Administration candidate and will be under no obligation to any special interest or pressure group.

What Two Outstanding Men Said Of THOMAS M. LEWIS

REGULAR REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE for JUDGE OF ORPHANS' COURT

Dear Tom: . . . I think I have never known in the history of Luzerne County the work of your office carried on so successfully.

Your service speaks well for HIGHER WORK IN JUDICIAL LIFE.

MAY IT COME TO YOU IN DUE TIME.

Very affectionately yours,
L. L. SPRAGUE.

Late and beloved president of Wyoming Seminary.

I was tickled pink to see that you have entered the race for the Bench. I pity the poor fellow who will be on the other side! You are about the last man in Luzerne County I would want to run against for any office.

You certainly gave a splendid account of yourself while serving as District Attorney and I have every reason to believe you would be equally independent, capable and impartial on the Bench.

For many years I have visualized you in that important position.

Cordially yours,
REV. JAMES M. LAWSON.
