

Luzerne County Hens Help Farm Income Higher

Hens of Luzerne County have contributed materially this year in assisting farm income to the highest level since 1929.

Heavy production coupled with a favorable market means that income from eggs should exceed $600,000,000.

Defense buying and sales promotion activities were prime reasons for the higher price.

The favorable price situation is illustrated by the fact that, as an average this season, only 5.84 dozen eggs have been required to buy 100 pounds of poultry ration.

The equivalent of more than 200,000,000 dozen eggs in shell, frozen or powdered form has been purchased since the lend-lease bill passed.

Quality campaigns, resulting in a better grade of eggs in Pennsylvania, have brought about increased purchasing by the mass distributors.

Production in Pennsylvania is expected to exceed 177,310,000 in 1941, with Luzerne County contributing more than 1,650,000 of this total.

Mrs. J. Montross Recovers

Mrs. J. Montross of Tunkhannock, R. D., who at the age of 82 has recovered from a fractured hip was moved from the Wilkes-Barre General Hospital to her brother's home in Wyoming, on Wednesday, January 7th.

Mrs. Montross fell and broke her hip the first of October. She was in the hospital for 12 weeks and to anyone going in to see her, she was an inspiration of courage and hope.

Mrs. Montross' husband who died five years ago, owned many acres of rich timber land between Evans Falls and Tunkhannock.

C. J. Montross, her only child is a successful farmer in the same section.

Boy Escapes Drowning

Albert Ruff Jr., six-year-old son of Albert Ruff, Fairlawn storekeeper of Noxen, was rescued from drowning on Friday, January 9th, when ice in the middle of Bowman's Creek broke through with him.

Albert was on his way to school in the morning when an older boy induced him to try the dangerous place. Albert, a naturally brave little fellow set forth on the dare and all went well until he struck a swift place in the creek which seldom freezes over.

Army Planes Sighted

The back mountain countryside was startled on Monday afternoon when the air was riddled with the pounding of the engines of seven army planes.

The planes were flying so low, some of the spectators wondered whether they were U. S. planes or enemy planes that were bent on destruction. As they passed out of sight with no disastrous results they left a glad people behind them, glad that they still enjoy security with Uncle Sam keeping watch over them.

Postmaster Resigning

Lewis Hackling who has been postmaster in Noxen for the past eight years has resigned to take the seemingly inferior position of rural mail carrier. When explanation revealed that the new position meant more than double increase in salary it did not appear so inferior.

Mr. Hackling has relinquished his school bus route along with the postmastership and is still bettered financially.

Mr. Hackling has served the public commendably and his genial personality will be greatly missed at the post office window. He started his new duties Thursday, January 15th.

Mr. Chona Fritz will be acting postmaster until a future appointment is made.

Florida Trip
