

Pennsylvania Offers Variety Of Resorts And Sports

Charming inns specialize in catering to vacationists' whims by offering an informal atmosphere—opportunity for hiking, horseback riding, golf, tennis, barbecues and other activities. October visitors to resorts will find added beauty contributed by autumn coloring of foliage.

Fife And Drum Corps Holds Forty-Second Annual Dinner

Maple Grove Fife and Drum Corps, one of the oldest organizations of its kind in the State, met Saturday night at Maple Grove Methodist Church Hall for its 42nd annual dinner. The Corps was organized in 1900 by Major Al Rood who had been an officer in the Union forces during the Civil War. Besides drawing the musically inclined men of the community closer together, its purpose was to play the old Civil War melodies exclusively at Memorial Day services in rural cemeteries in memory of the heroes of that great war.

Although its members now are scattered over a large area and many of its former comrades are dead, the corps assembles every year, as it has for the past 42, for an annual dinner and on Memorial Day every year plays in a dozen or more Back Mountain cemeteries.

Those members present were: A. M. Wilkinson, C. H. Wolfe, Albert L. May, Eugene F. May, Otis A. Rood, Charles Rood, George May, R. H. Moyer, Dana Davenport, A. C. Croisdale, and Ralph Rood.

Guests present were Rev. and Mrs. Walter A. Forred, Mrs. A. C. Croisdale, Evelyn Croisdale, Mrs. Charles Rood, Mrs. R. H. Moyer, Mr.

and Mrs. Lawrence E. May, Mrs. A. M. Wilkinson, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Whitesell, Mrs. Jessie Shupp, Mrs. O. A. Rood, Mrs. Mame Dymond, Mrs. A. L. May, Gertrude E. Thomas, and Mrs. Charles H. Wolfe.

The sport of kings is the sport of the people in Pennsylvania's resorts and dude ranches. Horse shows are popular. Many vacationists are looking to the horse these days for their recreation.

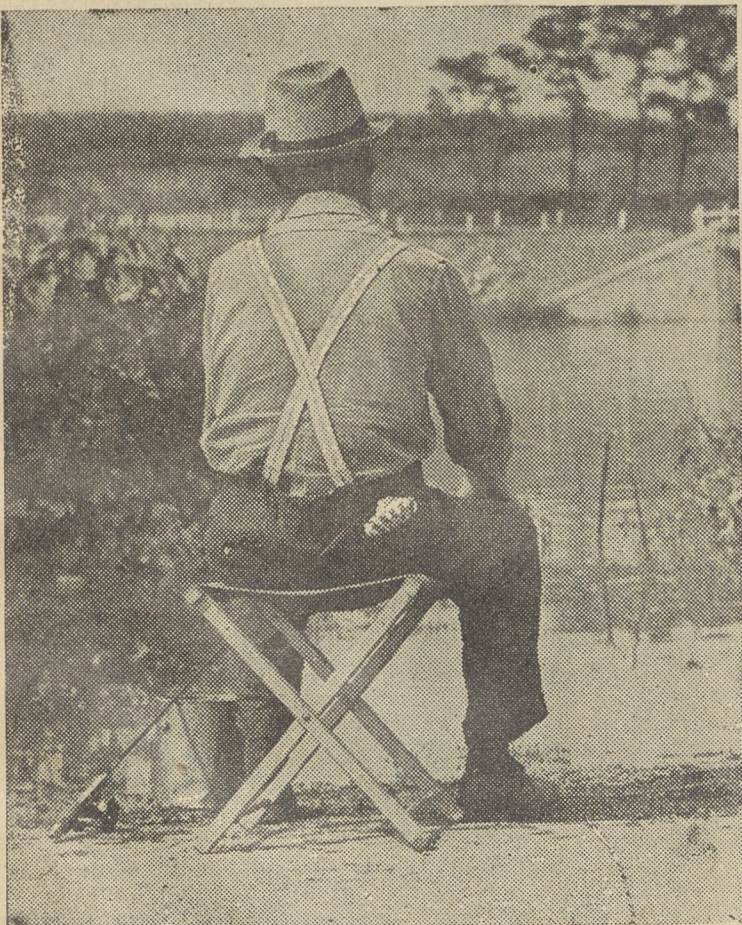

Americans "Discover" Hiking Fun

War workers on the home front like to spend their "day off" in the restful beauty of Pennsylvania's autumn-tinged hills acquiring relaxation and refreshment for the job ahead. These men have reached a typical Keystone State lookout spot after trying their "mountain legs" in an invigorating hike.

"It's So Peaceful"—in Pennsylvania

A typical American scene—the inveterate angler sits beside a Pennsylvania stream, free to ponder over a philosophy of his own making. The fishing pole—bucket—suspender—rolled-up sleeves—these are things American.

It's Chinese!
