READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKown

JOHN STEINBECK'S "The Moon Is Down" has been designated leader of the ten outstanding novels of 1942, and "They Were Expendable" by W. L. White as first in non-fiction, in the third annual nation-wide poll of literary critics conducted by the Book-of-the-Month Club, it was announced by Dr. Henry Seidel Canby, Chairman of the Club's editorial committee. Ballots were mailed to 250 critics on newspapers and magazines of whom 201 sent in their votes to the Club.

JOHN STEINBECK

The ten leading non-fiction books were: "They Were Expendable," "Cross Creek," "Flight to Arras," "Victory Through Air Power," "The Last Time I Saw Paris," "Mission to Moscow," "See Here, Private Hargrove," "Paul Revere and the World He Lived In," "The Raft," "Last Train From Berlin."

The first five books in the fiction listing and the first two in non-fiction were originally Book-of-the-Month Club selections, while of the total of twenty books, eleven were books-of-the-month. These were, in fiction: "The Moon Is Down" (April); "The Song of Bernadette" (June); "The Seventh Cross" (October); "Dragon Seed" (February); "Look to the Mountain" (November); "The Just and the Unjust" (August); non-fiction: "They Were Expendable" (October); "Cross Creek" (April); "Victory Through Air Power" (June); "Paul Revere and the World He Lived In" (July); "The Raft" (September).

W. L. WHITE

A heartening story is reported in "The Pocket Book of War Humor," edited by Bennett Cerf, about some Marines from Cavite before the fall of Manila. A Jap officer, harassed by a Marine sharpshooter on top of a steep hill, despatched his entire platoon to knock off the Leatherneck. Shortly, the platoon returned, minus several men and the Marine.

"Why have you come back?" the officer demanded. "So sorry," spoke up a Jap non com, "but there were two Marines."

Ira Wolfert relates this one in his "Battle for the Solomons." One day Wolfert, between bomb bursts, heard an American pilot report with amusement a conversation he had that morning with a captured Jap bomber pilot who claimed to be a graduate of Ohio State University. The Jap, he said, seemed puzzled and remarked: "I understand what we are fighting for—Tojo; and what the Germans are fighting for—Hitler; but your Marines seem to be fighting for souvenirs!"

Potash GROWS NITROGEN

Good stands of well-fertilized legumes will take from the air and return to the soil more than 100 pounds of fixed nitrogen per acre. To have the plants operate at full capacity and efficiency, a balanced fertility program providing for lime, phosphate, and potash must be followed. Since legumes are greedy feeders on potash and remove large amounts of it from the soil, this nutrient is very important in "growing your own nitrogen" for the following crop or grass-legume pastures.

If you are in doubt as to the fertility of your soil, consult your official agricultural authorities regarding soil tests and proper fertilization. Write us for free information and literature.
