Mrs. G. A. Baur Dies In California

Just before the Post went to press last evening the following message was received from Mrs. Baur's sons in Philadelphia:

Dear Mr. Risley:
We were just informed by our brother Ray of Mother's death in her apartment in Los Angeles at 9 a.m. yesterday morning. The cause was evidently a heart attack as she was found in a chair at the time.

Due to distance and wartime restrictions—services and cremation will be held in Los Angeles and the ashes will be brought back by her son Raymond. It is planned that a memorial service will be held in Wilkes-Barre—date and time to be decided upon later. However, it is requested that no floral offerings be sent—that donations to the Red Cross be made instead.

We understand that you go to press Thursday—but announcement of the service to be held will be in the Wilkes-Barre Record as soon as it has been decided upon.

Very truly,
Fred D. Baur

Did you know this about the WAC?

... that the Army needs thousands more Wacs at once?

From all branches of the Army, officers are wiring in reports: "The Wacs are doing a great job. Give us more!" But there aren't half enough Wacs to fill the requests. Your fighting men need you in the WAC—and now!

... that all qualified women have a chance to compete for officer training?

If you meet the requirements, you may join the WAC as an officer candidate direct from civilian life. Or, you may join the WAC as a private and compete for selection as an officer candidate from the ranks.

... that WAC training may fit you for a career after the war?

Wacs learn radio, executive and staff work, mess management, photography, and dozens of other skills that may help them to a real career when the war is over.

... that WAC pay is good pay?

Even as a WAC private you get $50 a month—all clear. Wacs are given board, room, clothing, medical and dental care. Their pay increases with each step-up in rank.

... that Wacs are actually members of the Army?

Congress recently passed a bill making the WAC a part of the Army. So now a Wac gets all the benefits a soldier does—such as government life insurance at low rates, free mail, and veterans' benefits when the war is over.

... that being a Wac is an important way to help win the war?

Not every woman can be a Wac—only those between 20 and 50 years of age, single, or married but without dependents, without children under 14.

If you are one of these specially qualified women, then you belong in the WAC—that's where you can have a really vital share in helping win this war. Get full details at your nearest U.S. Army Recruiting Station. The Wac on duty will be glad to tell you all about the WAC and the thrilling opportunities it offers you. Go now!
