

THE OUTPOST

FROM FIELDS AFAR

the address changes and I would appreciate your mailing the Posts to the new one. They certainly make swell reading for keeping up with what the folks back home are doing. Of course it nearly breaks my heart to read that Mr. and Mrs. Zilch (whom I have known well) have had a baby, bought a home or had a promotion and know that some agent back there will beat me to them to talk about the insurance they need. However, the pleasure afforded by knowing who's where and what's going on makes up for those other minor flies in the ointment.

I'll bet the trees on the Dallas and Kingston township hills are beginning to turn to all those well remembered beautiful colors and in a few more days those rabbits that gnawed carrots and cabbages will begin to thin out as the lads with shotguns begin to get busy.

Every Post beside giving pleasure starts a train of thought that gives twinges of nostalgia. You can quote me that I'll be glad to get back home. However, from the looks of things, it will be quite some time before I do. This is nice duty but if I have to be ashore, I don't see quite why it couldn't be Stateside. Probably millions of other guys feel the same way though.

About once a week out here I get to the Officers' Club Annex for a day and a night and it really is swell. A cabin with hot and cold water, mirror, wash bowl, bunk with inner spring, mattress, shower, a large building with dining room, lounge, reading room good refreshments, swimming on sandy beach, volley ball, paddle tennis and tennis courts. Lacking the friends one would like to have there, it is very nice.

There isn't much more to say except thanks for the Post, and you already know how much they are appreciated. Regards to all my inquiring friends.

As Ever,
George B. Turn,
Somewhere in the Pacific

• Sounded just a wee bit lonesome when you wrote that one, George. Don't know what I'd do if I were 3,000 miles from Myra. Suspect I'd cut a swath for about two days and then get homesick as the devil. Sometimes, though, 3,000 miles seems a trifle too near especially when I track mud across the kitchen or happen to lick a little grape butter off my knife. If you chance to run into a young communications officer, Ensign Bruce H. Zeiser, just fresh out of Harvard, he's my nephew. He's out your way. Hope to be seeing you one of these days soon.—Editor.

coast for seventeen days and my trip out was of amazement and pleasure. I travelled through many states that I never knew had so much beauty in them. One was the state of Arizona with its prairies, canyons and mountains. It would amaze most Northerners. Other states I enjoyed were S. Carolina, Georgia, Texas and New Mexico.

My job with the Marine Air Corps is teaching fellow Marines about chemical warfare. I took my training in chemical warfare at Edgewood Arsenal, Md. in the month of May. Until the enemy uses gas, which I hope they won't, chemical warfare must take a back seat. With only minor things to do.

Enclosed you will find a change of address.

• I keep out of sight of your granddaddy as much as possible. Usually he sees me first—driving through a stop sign or parking on the wrong side of the street. He's got a brand new flag on the flag-pole in front of his house. Keeps it flying in all sorts of weather for fellows like you, Hal.—Editor.

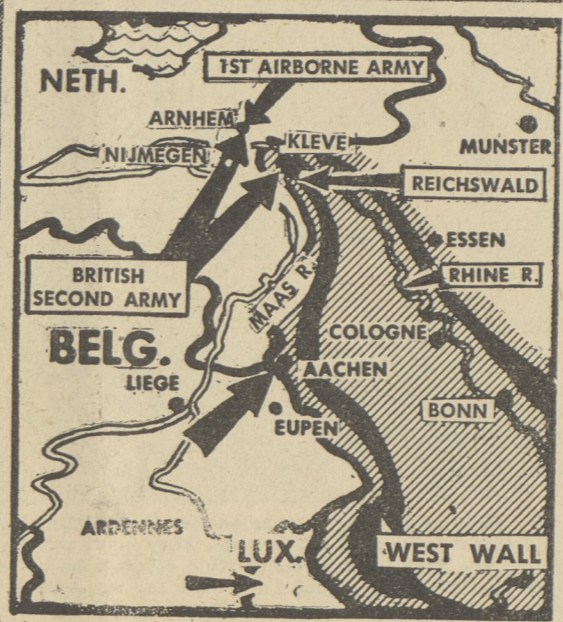

From One Of Five

Dear Sir:
I want to thank you very much for sending me the Dallas Post. I imagine it is quite a task to keep up with all of the boys from home. But you can just take it from me,

MUD HAMPERS ALLIED DRIVES ON CRUMBLING NAZIS

RELENTLESS ALLIED PUSHES on Nazi forces in Germany, France, and Italy are being blunted by rain, mud and even snow. Heavy guns and other mobile military equipment has bogged down in the quagmires leading up to and at the front lines. Precious time to build up their dwindling strength is being gained by the Nazis as Allied troops slog forward slowly to battle. In Italy (map at left) huge Fifth Army guns are beginning to shell the outskirts of Bologna, but the going gets harder each day. On the fronts in Germany and France (map at right), bad weather has cut down the number of allied air attacks and thrown the main weight of the assault on ground forces. Fighting both "General Mud" and the Nazis is the monumental task now facing the Allies as Winter approaches rapidly. (International)

It surely is nice to hear how the folks at home are doing and also how our friends are scattered all around the world.

My wife writes me from Maryland that they have had quite a lot of the wrong side of the street. He's rain lately. To me who has been got a brand new flag on the flag-pole in front of his house. Keeps it flying in all sorts of weather for fellows like you, Hal.—Editor.

It's nice here, but I still like the weather back home.

I expect to leave here shortly and hope to continue receiving the Post at the next base.

There is a lot I could say about my present job but in a few words, I'll just say I and my buddies repair landing craft used by the boys in training and you can imagine how some of the boats come in after practice landings.

Well it's almost time to turn in, so once again, thank you all for sending the Post.

• Good to hear from you, Wilbur, and to know that you are topside again. Your mother tells me you have been moved out into the Pacific area since this letter was written. This whole community takes its hats off to the Loveland family and the four sons and one daughter it has contributed to make this world a better one in which to live.—Editor

More Bushels in the Bin with a MASSEY-HARRIS SELF-PROPELLED COMBINE

- ✓ SAVES GRAIN... UP TO A BUSHEL PER ACRE (no tractor to beat down grain on opening cut)
- ✓ SAVES MANPOWER... only ONE OPERATOR
- ✓ SAVES FUEL... only ONE ENGINE
- ✓ SAVES TIME... ON EVERY JOB

ENJOY A NEW KIND OF HARVEST
Traveling through the field under its own power, the Massey-Harris SELF-PROPELLED Combine has no tractor ahead of it beating down grain on the opening swath... saves up to a bushel of grain per acre... works up close to borders and fences... allows selective cutting, getting the ripe grain today—leaving green sections for later cutting. One operator, sitting up high out of the dust, handles the harvest alone; One engine both propels the combine and operates the threshing mechanism. All these important advantages plus a bonus of time saved in the field add up to Massey-Harris SELF-PROPELLED field-proved Combine for tomorrow's heavy harvests. Stop in soon and get the complete Self-Propelled story.

MASSEY-HARRIS Self-Propelled "CLIPPER" (7-FOOT CUT)
Anyone familiar with Combine harvesting knows the brilliant success story of the Massey-Harris "Clipper." Since the day it was first introduced, the "Clipper" has rated "top honors" for fast, clean, grain-saving combining in more than 110 different crops. Now Self-Propelled, the 7-foot "Clipper" brings you all the advantages of its original 3-Point construction features plus the 4-way savings of Self-Propelled combining as pioneered by Massey-Harris. Available in grain tank or bagger models.
