Mrs. B. R. Hefft Borne To Rest

Her Ancestors Were Early Settlers Here

(Contributed)

The busy world is hushed for another member of our community. Mrs. B. R. Hefft died during the evening of Good Friday, April 19, 1946. She was a worthy descendant of those who made our country great. Daughter of Joseph and Mary Shaver, who themselves were preceded by several generations in the Back Mountain district, she retained throughout her life those qualities of mind which were handed down to her—courage, justice, truth, love, together with the ability to share them with a host of friends. She, therefore, gave comfort to many and the recognition was reflected in the faithful attention and care given by those friends during her last illness.

The influence of the wisdom which she possessed is great. Her estate is far beyond the realms of material accounting.

Mrs. Hefft was born in the old homestead near what is now known as Shaver's Mills, October 16, 1867.

Her husband, the late Benjamin Hefft, died June 19, 1939. Mrs. Hefft was a member of Dallas Methodist Church, W. S. C. A., Bible Class and W. C. T. U.

She is survived by three children: Joseph S. Hefft, Dallas; Mrs. George Davey, Wilkes-Barre; and Miss Maude Hefft, Dallas.

Funeral services were conducted from the home last Monday at 2 by Rev. Francis Freeman. Interment was in the family plot at Woodlawn Cemetery.

The pallbearers were: Sherman Hefft, Wesley Harris, Milford Shaver, Ray Prutzman, Frank Garrahan, and John Dana.

Prepare Clean Wool Clips

Shear only when the wool is dry, and do the shearing on a clean, dry floor, are two reminders by William B. Connell, extension livestock specialist of the Pennsylvania State College. To contribute to the value of the 1946 wool crop, he also suggests packing gray or black wool separately, keeping tags and dunglocks out of fleeces, using paper twine, packing burry and seedy fleeces separate from clean wool, and storing until marketing in cool, dry place.

Protect Pasture Lots

Give the grass a chance to make some top and root growth, and don't graze it too early or too hard in the spring. Also don't delay too long in turning on the cows because of the possible waste in good pasture.

Handle Plants Carefully

Because mosaic, a virus disease which can cause serious damage to tomatoes, can be spread to the tomato plants from tobacco, or potatoes, growers are reminded to wash their hands thoroughly after handling tobacco or potatoes.

Pastures Save On Feed

Good pastures can save up to 15 per cent on the cost of grain for pigs on full feed.

Avoid Late Hybrids

Whether for grain or silage, corn hybrids which are too long in season should be avoided since they mature poorly.

Prune Shrubs Now

Shrubs pruned at the end of the flowering season develop new wood and buds for next season.

Kill Weeds In Oats

Wild mustard, fast-growing weed that thrives in some oats fields to the extent that in some instances it almost chokes out the grain, can be reduced or almost eliminated by the use of two spray materials, copper sulphate at the rate of 7 pounds to 100 gallons of water, and Sinox, at manufacturers' directions.

Ban Cabbage Clubroot

Clubroot, a disease which can cause heavy losses to cabbage growers, can be checked in the seedbed by drenching the seedlings with corrosive sublimate, and by using hydrated lime in gardens.

Check Corn Planter

Necessary adjustments to corn planters, particularly those which determine accurate spacing and uniform number of kernels per hill, should be made in advance of the planting season.

Spray Despite Frost

Regardless of the condition of fruit buds from late freezes, apple trees need sulphur sprays for protection against scab.

Mow Lawn As Needed

Mow the lawn to 1½ inches when the grass reaches 2½ inches, advises A. E. Cooper, Penn State extension agronomist.

LET'S GET SOME FACTS STRAIGHT ABOUT PENNSYLVANIA

Pennsylvania out-produces every other State in 50 major fields—has one-tenth of all the manufacturing employment and payrolls of all States.

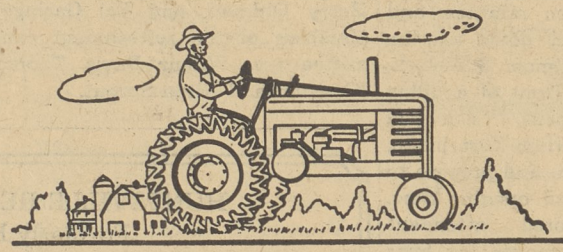

Pennsylvania has history — it has tradition — it has religion. Pennsylvania has more churches than any other State.

Pennsylvania alone is a bigger market than some whole nations.

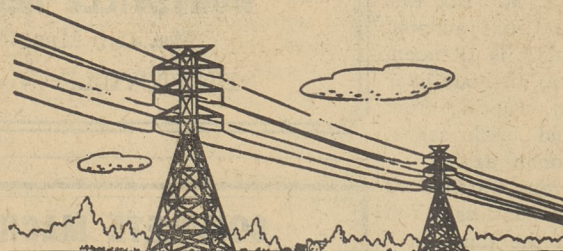

Pennsylvania has more skilled craftsmen—it is the melting pot into which English, Scotch, Irish, German, Scandinavian, Italian, French and other peoples have poured skills that have made them great.

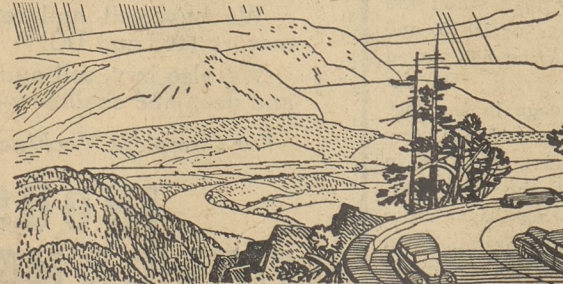

Pennsylvania has more farms than all England and Wales. Good ones, too. It has a billion-dollar farm industry.

Pennsylvania has more wild game than the Indians had.

Pennsylvania has an abundance of raw material resources and of power and the fuels to make power.

Pennsylvania has mountains, forests, streams. Nature was in her most generous mood when she created Pennsylvania. "Pennsylvania has everything!"

FOR PENNSYLVANIA

You are one of them. You are one of the ten million people who should "sell Pennsylvania." Because you live in Pennsylvania. Because you know Pennsylvania for what it is and what it can do.

If all ten million people of this grand old Keystone State of ours would raise united voices to tell all other people about our State, the greatest publicity-making, job-creating force in all history would be turned loose—an atomic force of good.

Believe in your State. A campaign is now under way to boost Pennsylvania. You can help best by doing everything you can to boost your own community, to attract new industries, to help those already here to expand. Anything you do to help your State and your own community will help you.
