Editorially Speaking:

Remedy With People

Editor E. T. Leech of the Pittsburgh Press, a Scripps-Howard newspaper, says the public "has been kicked around, fought over, punished and persecuted. It has been deprived of essential services and goods. It has been inconvenienced by sudden stoppages of vital facilities. It has lost wages and profits and savings through disputes in which it had no part and against which it had no safeguards.

"The constitutional guarantees of justice, domestic tranquility and general welfare have been made a mockery. Government has surrendered and groveled, trying to appease reckless men who put themselves above laws and elected officials.

"We have had strikes against the public and the government, strikes against employers and strikes against rival unions, strikes against contracts, strikes against official awards, and untold thousands of strikes so obscure and trivial in origin that nobody ever quite knew what they were about

"And what can we, the people, do about it?"
"Something, surely, for under our government all strength lies in the people

"The basic solution to our troubles is in the national legislature—in a policy of putting public welfare above preferential treatment of any group."

FROM PILLAR TO POST

By Mrs. T. M. B. Hicks, Jr.

Hotfooting it along the country road with a bag of groceries or a suitcase, or even a redheaded riding pick-a-back, is a revelation. Ever since we have been reduced to the pedestrian class by an auto accident, we have had an unparalleled opportunity to size up the travelling public and draw comparisons.

Weighted down with fifteen pounds of canned goods and a half peck of potatoes, we are not above hitching a ride. In fact, we have descended in the social scale to a place on the bottom rung of the ladder where we are willing to wiggle a thumb at an approaching car, simulate a sprained ankle, or droop under the weight of the groceries. We are still unable to look plaintive, because it is not our nature to.

A beseeching thumb almost always brings results if the approaching car is weatherbeaten and beyond the age of consent, if it has livestock in the back seat, or if it holds a capacity load of humans, or if it carries a bedspring lashed to the roof, with the remainder of the bedstead adorning the radiator. Under these conditions there is always room for one more passenger, and the passenger is happy to wedge herself into too small a space and exchange pleasantries about the weather. It's a long haul from the shopping center of Dallas to the painted rainbarrels and the green pump.

The newer and more gleaming the car, the less chance of a pickap. Totally empty back seats fly past at fifty miles per hour, the driver wholly oblivious. One such car skittered around the S curve a few days ago, showering two pedestrians with small pebbles and continuing on its way without a side glance on the part of the driver for two perspiring pedestrians struggling with heavy suitcases and obviously trying to catch a bus. Ordinarily it wouldn't have made a particle of difference, but this time it did. No accommodating cars with bedsprings atop were on the highway, and the bus pulled out as we panted down the last lap of the hill.

Our faith in human nature was shattered, but yesterday it was restored. We were plodding along the road toward the little white schoolhouse that marks our halfway point when a car drew up behind us and a very pleasant faced woman leaned over her head to inquire. She said she was going toward Beaumont where she and her husband were building a house, but

Two Killed In Accident Near Tunkhannock

Severn Traver And Mrs. Holden Newell Die When Cars Crash

Severn Traver, 60, prominent Noxen dairyman and Mrs. Holden Newell, 40, also of Noxen, were killed Monday morning at 8:30 when Mrs. Newell's car slid and crashed into the Traver machine on the icy highway just this side of McCreary's concrete block plant on the Dallas-Tunkhannock highway. Pvt. Mauro Forte, Tunkhannock detail, State Police, said Mrs. Newell, manager of the Lazarus Electric Store, had negotiated a short curve on the highway and had difficulty straightening her car out on the ice-glazed road. After riding the shoulder of the road for several yards her car skidded across the highway, narrowly missing a vehicle driven by George Ross of Tunkhannock, and was struck broadside by Traver's car.

Impact of the collision threw both cars against a stone wall several feet from the edge of the highway. Mrs. Newell was thrown clear of the wreckage. She died enroute to Nesbitt Memorial Hospital. Traver was pinned in his machine. Investigators said the accident caused him instant death.

Mr. Traver was returning home after driving his daughter Jean to Tunkhannock, where she is employed in a drug store. Mrs. Newell was on her way to the Lazarus store in Tunkhannock.

Funeral will be held at 2 this afternoon from the home. Rev. David Morgan, Noxen Methodist Church, and Rev. Harry Rundell, Noxen Tabernacle, will officiate.

Deer Kill Is Reported Heavy Many Animals Shot Early On First Day

Deer kill this year is reported heavy with many persons who went out the first day spending only a few hours in the woods before bagging their bucks. Choice deer are being brought down, as proved by reports of eight and ten point bucks weighing up to 185 pounds. While the regular spots, such as North Mountain and Sugar Hollow, are providing their share of the kill, the deer are de-centralized, with some hunters finding them on the fringes of small towns and on farmland.

Steve Skopick, Lehman Heights, bagged a nice buck in light woods behind his home Monday. Harold Major, of the same area, reports seeing a large buck wandering around his gas station in mid-morning opening day.

Chief Fred Swanson of Harvey's Lake reports consistent bad luck. In a hunting party with Fred Dodson, Emo Swanson and Billy Thomas opening day, all Fred saw were two large black bear. Out for bear earlier this year, Fred saw three nice bucks in one day. Incidentally, Emo brought a four-point off Red Rock that afternoon, while Fred Dodson went on to bigger things Tuesday when he killed a buck of the eight point variety.

Brothers George and Charlie Bray, of Loyallville and Bunker Hill respectively, got theirs in the haven of wildlife, Sugar Hollow, on Tuesday.

Among those in the Sweet Valley area who were successful during the first two days were, William Farver, William Smith and William Doberstine. Each got a deer in the vicinity of North Mountain.

Richard Gregory, 16, Kingston Township Sophomore, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Gregory, shot a 170-pound ten-point buck on Monday at Forkston. Others in his party who got deer on Tuesday were: Robert S. Gregory, Trucksville, six-point buck; Ephraim Roberts, Luzerne eight-point buck, and Robert L. Gregory, Kingston, eight-point buck.

Richard Disque, Dallas funeral director, shot a beautiful big buck on the first day near Dinstels.

William Compton of Dallas Water Company got an eight-point buck at Cully. In his party were his son and Eddie Husted, Dallas Township supervisor.

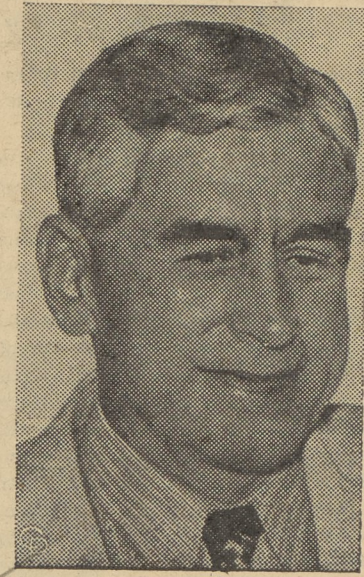

On Saturday David Jenkins, Daniel Robinhold, James Beseker, L. L. Richardson and Daniel Richards hunt at Bear Creek. Each expects to return with a deer.

Alford Jackson and his uncle Frank Jackson of Harvey's Lake each shot bucks before 10:30 A.M. on Monday at World's End where they had gone in company with William Roberts of Plymouth to spend several days at Mr. Jackson's cabin, Sycamore Lodge. Alford's animal had four points and weighed 120 pounds while Frank's was a ten-pointer and weighed 130 pounds. They said they saw ten bucks taken out of that area before noon on the first day. They were in the woods only an hour when they made their own kills.

Hunting on North Mountain, Tex Wilson killed his first deer, an eight-point buck weighing 175 pounds. Others in his party who got deer were Jack Edwards, Shavertown, an eight-pointer weighing 175 pounds and James Moore of Forty Fort, an eight-pointer weighing 165 pounds. Ted Wilson, Mike Koskik, Bernard Bolack and Frank Edwards were the others in the party.

Carverton Rod and Gun Club Has Active Conservation Program

Pacific 'Our Sea'

CHAIRMAN of a House Naval Affairs subcommittee currently touring the Pacific Ocean war areas, Rep. E. V. Izac (D) of California told reporters in Tokyo that the Pacific "is definitely our ocean." He went on to say that the U.S. must have "unilateral control" of the islands which served the wartime military machine. (International)

Carverton Rod and Gun Club, a newly organized Back Mountain Sportsman's organization, has recently received its Charter as a non-profit corporation, interested in the advancement of better hunting through restocking and conservation of game; protection of farm property owners through mutual understanding and agreement and the sponsorship of competitive trap shooting matches.

Charter Members are: Dana Sickler, Frederic W. Anderson, Richard Pryn, John Dana, Harold Dixon, James Sands, Howard Edwards, Harry Owens, Glendon Pryn, Clyde Faatz, John A. Wagg, Jr., J. VanTuyte, Leo Sickler, and Miles Shales.

Organized in July, the Club in four months has grown to a membership of 140 and has attained a reputation as a necessary community institution.

The Club has formed in excess of 6,000 acres of farm land in the Carverton area. Reports from farm owners are enthusiastic in their praise of the organization. Several species of game known to be scarce have been protected through the current hunting season by the Club, which has declared a closed season on such game in the areas controlled.

Competitive trap shooting matches have been held at the Club's shooting range located west of Memorial Shrine in Carverton. The latest held Sunday November 24th, was attended by a large crowd including some of the outstanding trap shooters of the region. Prizes ranged from sporting equipment to turkeys, tires and electric clocks. Despite the extreme chilliness of the day, the enthusiasts remained at the range all afternoon. The last match was staged in semi-darkness.

Club meetings are the second Friday of each month at 8 P.M. at Carverton Grange Hall. At a special meeting held Friday evening November 22nd a committee was appointed to make arrangements to purchase a building for club use and a large order was placed with a Kansas, Mo., firm for cottontail rabbits for restocking purposes.

The Club also contemplates restocking the tract with pheasants and other scarce game, and also the destruction of predatory animals such as fox and weasels.

Officers are: president, Dana Sickler; vice president, Glendon Pryn; secretary, John Dana; directors, John A. Wagg, Jr., Richard Pryn and Howard Edwards.

Lake Seniors To Give Play

Apple Blossom Time Is Senior Vehicle

Seniors of Laketon High School, under the direction of Miss Margaret M. Dunn, will present "Apple Blossom Time" by Eugene G. Hafer on Thursday evening, December 12 at 8:00 P.M.

"Apple Blossom Time" is a play with one mission—to entertain. The plot revolves about Bob Matthews, portrayed by Robert Lutinski whose first experience in a small town is a violent encounter with an eighteen-year-old "impudent whirlwind of a girl," Betty Ann Stewart, played by Lorraine Nicholas. She arouses his ire to the boiling point and then laughs at his threats. Imagine his dismay when he learns that this is the girl over whom he is to act as guardian and who, he thought, was only ten years old.

The constable played by Bernard Rogers who courts the cook portrayed by Helen Harding and an old maid, Annabelle Spriggins, played by Rebecca McColotion furnish their share of laughs.

Others in the cast are Eleanor Steltz, Joyce Hoover, Alberta Gensel, Clinton Ide, Rita Nicholas, Luther Kocher and Bernard Gray.
