Back From Holland, Trucksville Couple Admire Spirit Of Dutch

"You can thank your lucky stars you don't live in the cleanest country in the world—Holland, for a bar of soap costs $6 and every item of food is rationed."

Mrs. J. P. VanWyngaarden, the former Marjorie James, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. James of Trucksville, has the greatest respect for the fortitude of the Dutch people having returned from Holland where she and her husband and small son, Donnie, spent the past four months with his family in Amsterdam.

They arrived in the United States last Wednesday aboard the Swedish liner, Gripsholm, after a stormy crossing from Gothenborg, Sweden.

Mrs. VanWyngaarden, a graduate of Kingston High School class of 1940, and a graduate of Wilkes-Barre Business College was formerly stationed with the United States Civil Service at the Mojave, California Air Base. There she met her husband who had been in the Marines for six years, a part of the time with the famous First Division on Guadalcanal. A native of Holland, he has been in this country since he was ten years old and after the war was anxious to visit his homeland.

Mrs. Van Wyngaarden's impressions of Holland were of a country whose thrifty inhabitants are rapidly restoring it to a peacetime economy after years of subjugation by the Germans.

She found most homes cold and damp with only one room heated and that by a small charcoal heater. During the soft coal strike in November, she said, Holland was practically out of coal. She found women's clothing expensive and of poor quality. There were almost no cotton fabrics to be had.

Everything is rationed, dairy products, food, vegetables, baked goods, coal, gasoline and clothing. A Dutchman is permitted a half-loaf of bread and a half pound of meat weekly. Of course the Black Market is active and dairy products appear plentiful, but a pound of butter costs $6 in the Black Market and $2.50 to $3 a pound on rationed market.

At Christmas time gifts consisted mostly of things to eat. The fare is plain with little variety and Mr. VanWyngaarden who usually loved Brussels sprouts and cabbage became so tired of them that he hopes never to see a sprout again.

Motor cars are not allowed to travel on Sundays. Most Hollanders use bicycles to save gasoline. Adding to their transportation difficulties is the fact that the Nazis confiscated and carried away most of the trolley cars.

She found conditions much the same in Belgium and France where she also visited. The Jewish sections of most cities were completely wiped out. Any one during the war who looked like a Jew was taken out and shot. Practically every village square has its monument erected to the memory of hostages who were slaughtered by the Germans.

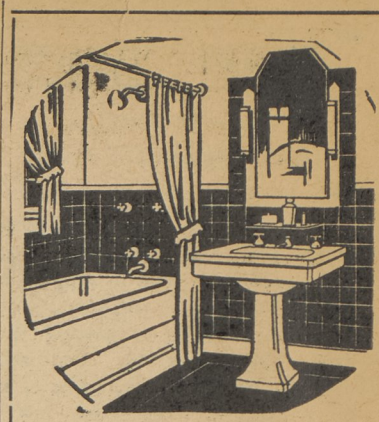

One of Mr. VanWyngaarden's own relatives was held by the Germans on three occasions and in his small community all of the able bodied men were taken away as slave laborers. Only eight of their company returned after the war.

The VanWyngaarden's visited Arnhem where Mrs. VanWyngaarden's brother, Alfred, a flight officer on a glider, landed with the American Forces. He is now at Randolph Field, Texas, where he and his wife the former Doris Madden of Forty Fort have just announced the birth of a son, Richard Lawrence.

Much of the country the Van Wyngaarden's visited was flooded and the fertility of farm lands destroyed because of the breaches made in the dykes by the Germans. All of the canals were frozen and they wished that they might have been there during the spring when tulips were in bloom.

When they were ready to leave they were not permitted to bring out anything except that which they had taken into the country. They were permitted to take $100 in American money in with them and on their return they had to have their passage money in American dollars with them. The official exchange rate is two and two-thirds Guildens for one American dollar, but the Black Market rate was seven guildens for one dollar.

All agreed that they have the greatest admiration for the Dutch to whom cleanliness is next to godliness and who with soap at $6 a bar still say "we've got plenty of water, we can always keep clean."
