Supervisors Fail To Explain Action

Lehman Township Volunteer Police were summarily dismissed in an un-explained action by Lehman Township Supervisors at their meeting Tuesday, July 1.

Joseph Ide, Chief of Police, was unofficially notified of the decision shortly before the Back Mountain Horse Show which the volunteers had agreed to police. Lacking official notice, members of the squad ably performed traffic and parking duty at the show, winning much praise for their efficiency.

Organized last spring at the suggestion of Chief Ide, who was attempting to patrol Lake Silkworth and part of Harvey's Lake with one man, approximately twenty volunteers were sworn in by Alan Major, Lehman Justice of the Peace. Interest in the organization remained high with monthly meetings and a police school well attended. A dance at Harvey's Lake last fall proved successful and it was planned to continue the event annually to help defray expenses of uniforms, parts of which are already Township Supervisor Mark Croop has moved to Nanticoke and submitted his resignation at the last meeting. Supervisor Fred Elston has said he s in favor of keeping the volunteer, non-paid, organization. With only Supervisor Nelson Rogers opposed to force there is now no majority and final action rests on what steps are taken to fill the vacancy left by

Senator

T. N. WOOD

The following article on Senator T. Newell Wood's service in the State Senate is submitted impartially. It was written at the request of The Post by our Harrisburg representative who has been in daily contact with the Capitol during the session just closed.

T. Newell Wood, Alderson R.D. 1 State Senator from the Twentieth Disrict, a part of Luzerne County, is one of the newcomers to the State Legislature. President and general manager of the Pressed Steel Company, he was elected to office in 1946.

Although a newcomer to the Legisature, he has been named to membership on five of the Senate's standing committees, on one of which he is vice chairman, the fairly important Banking Committee. Other committees on which he serves include the Committee on Executive Nominations: Laoor and Industry Committee; Military Affairs and Aeronautics Committee, and the Public Health and Welfare

His legislative ventures during the past session found him sponsoring a total of 14 bills in the upper house, along with three resolutions. Of these bills, six have been passed by the Legislature and sent to the Governor for signature, with four signed into law to date.

Of those signed by the Chief Execuive, one Wood measure provides for he establishment of dates on which inancial assistance shall begin for those persons provided assistance as typhoid carriers. Another measure now signed nto law prescribes the procedure to be used for counties of the second to eighth class in entering into contracts for the establishment, operation and maintenance of airports, and land-

A third measure not yet approved by the Governor concerns the same act but authorizes eighth class counties o acquire, operate, and lease aviation landing fields and airports and to use lands appropriated at tax sales for such uses, and to enter into joint to the Department of Health for the action with other political subdivisions for such similar purposes.

The fourth measure okayed by Duff would require reports of the daily examinations made by mine foremen of working places in mines while workmen are actually engaged at such places. Such reports are to be countersigned by the mine foreman in case such inspection is made by the assist-

A fifth bill approved by the Legislature as introduced by Wood, and which has been signed by the Chief Executive provides for establishment of a Veterans Administration hospital on a tract of land containing approximately 51 acres in the City of Wilkes-

Three resolutions introduced by Wood were all approved by the Senate. One resolution provided that no bills should be presented to the Senate after the appointment of standing committees of the Senate.

The other two resolutions pertained to the death of Adrian H. Jones, 20th district Senator who died June 12, 1946. Wood was named chairman of a six-man committee to draft suitable resolutions on the death of Jones, which were subsequently presented at a special meeting of the Senate held May 7. The resolutions also pro-

Appraised by Post's Correspondent Representative

HAROLD E. FLACK

The following article on Representative Harold E. Flack's service in the State Legislature, just adjourned, is submitted impartially. It was written, at the request of The Post, by our Harrisburg representative who has been in daily contact with the Capitol during the session just closed. -Editor

Harold E. Flack, Dallas, member of the State House of Representatives from the Sixth District, Luzerne Coun ty, is one of the Republican members of the lower branch, well liked by those with whom he serves. He is affable and fairly easy to get along

He was first elected to the House of Representatives in 1942 and reelected in 1944. During his sojourn with the Legislature he has been fairly active in legislative matters, and although neither chairman or vicechairman of any of the House standing committees, he was named to mempership on three including the important Committee on Highways, Insurance Committee and the Committee on Counties during the past session. Although not prone to stand on the floor of the House and talk for nours on end as are some Assemblymen, Flack during the past session introduced fifteen bills, of which number three were passed by the Legislature and are now awaiting the signature of the Governor to be made into

One of these measures would amend the Anthracite Coal Mining Law to set up further relating operations in the approach of inaccessable mine workings, while a second bill giver legislative approval and a companion neasure to the first one would require weekly examination of all accessible parts of an abandoned portion of a mine in which mine explosive gases have at any time been found.

The third Flack measure — this one Westcott, Republican, of Susquehanna County, would set up an appropriation purpose of providing vaccine for cercain persons "assumed to be in danger of hydraphobia or rabies," except in into the city treasury.

Flack introduced no resolutions into the lower chamber. His voting record with the Republican majority, for the most part.

Born in Plymouth December 30 899, he attended Scranton grade and high schools and is now a general nsurance agent. His civic enterprises Wilkes-Barre Chamber of Commerce Wyoming Lodge, 39, I.O.O.F; Prince Peace Commandery 69, Knights f Malta; Shavertown Fire Company Kingston Presbyterian Church; Lieu tenant-Governor, Pennsylvania District Kiwanis International, Division 11. Impartial Harrisburg observers rate him thus, "a good solid Republican who will go along with the majority Time may put him on other important
