

George Rogers Clark was the first white man to visit the site of the city of Cincinnati, Ohio, having done so in 1780.

Hendricks Gets Award

Hendricks with a $50 War Bond, the gift of the anonymous founder of the award, and the Memorial Award plaque for 1947.

In a modest response Mr. Hendricks who was present with Mrs. Hendricks, said that he recognized the award not so much as coming to him as an individual but as coming to the schools for the contribution they have made to community life.

"This award comes to me for doing a job I consider it a privilege to do and can do only with the generous support and co-operation of the community.

Mr. Hendricks said that it was of particular significance that a school man was selected and he hoped that it was evidence of an increasing awareness of the important contribution made by the schools in our democratic and community life.

He hoped that it meant the opening of a new era in Back Mountain schools.

"We need to reevaluate the program and the purpose of the schools in the light of the changed conditions of today. We should check the administration, attendance areas and staff. We should see that we have adequate teachers, for the teacher is the important item in the matter of education.

"I consider being a teacher—the head of a school—a most solemn and sacred responsibility because in a school we are dealing with a human resource—the most important of all our resources.

"The school is in the key position in the community. Church, home and civic responsibilities all have their roots in the school. If the life of our community is to improve it will depend on how well the schools are doing their job.

"Our increasing rates of divorce, crime and many other ailments are the results of ignorance. If we are to improve the world and the Back Mountain Region we must have understanding. The school by its very nature can dispel this ignorance and promote understanding among men.

"The defeat of ignorance is an individual problem, it cannot be accomplished by 'letting George do it.' We cannot shoulder the responsibility on the school teachers, school boards, churches and welfare organizations. It is our own responsibility.

"If any individual is to enjoy life to its fullest extent he must do things for other people. Personally, the greatest pleasure that has ever come to me has come as the result of helping others.

"I hope the fine spirit of this award can be carried over into a closer cooperation in all Back Mountain activity: in education and in all the civic problems of our area.

"I know I shall cherish the opportunity to work with others who shall in later years receive this high honor.

"I consider it a challenge to any man who accepts the Hemelright award to live up to it in thought and action; to help meet the needs of this great community and its greatest resource—the boys and girls.

"I want to thank publicly the man or woman who has anonymously made available this award and the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, Harvey's Lake Women's Service Club and the Senior and Juniors Women's Clubs and all other co-operating organizations for their fine spirit of public service."
