The Dallas Post
MORE THAN A NEWSPAPER, A COMMUNITY INSTITUTION
Vol. 38, No. 24 FRIDAY, JUNE 11, 1948 6 CENTS PER COPY

Class of Forty-Three Students Graduates At Kingdom Township

I. CHESTER J. HUTTON
Post Commander Chester J. Hutton, 21 C. of L. Of Lebanon, a member of the American Legion, will return to 13,000 volt Luzerne
Lawrenceville, has been commissioned and received his driver's license.

Brisk winds have been occurring during the past few days. The May 27 and 29 and 31. He will be replacing the

The Dallas Post was founded in 1910 and is published weekly in Dallas, Pennsylvania. The newspaper covers local news, events, and community happenings. The content includes articles on local politics, business, and social issues. The paper also features advertisements and classifieds. The newspaper is a valuable resource for residents and visitors of the Dallas area, providing them with the latest news and information. The Dallas Post is a community newspaper, serving the needs of the local community by providing accurate and timely news coverage. The newspaper is published every Friday and is available for purchase at local businesses and online. The Dallas Post is a respected and trusted source of news and information for the Dallas community. The paper continues to grow and evolve, adding new features and content to meet the needs of its readers. The Dallas Post is dedicated to providing the best possible news coverage for the Dallas community. Through the years, the newspaper has undergone various transformations, but its commitment to serving the community remains steadfast. The Dallas Post is a vital part of the Dallas community, and its readers look forward to receiving the latest news and updates every week.