BILL'S BITS

By Bill Hart

As the chill of autumn steals through the air, baseball, king of the spring and summer seasons, starts taking a back seat to the sport of fast action and bruising contact, football . . . Of the "big three", basketball, football and baseball, only football is termed a contact game . . . Matter of fact, football is the only team-played contact game which is popular throughout the country.

Tom Edwards, Dallas Township mentor, is speculating on what a little added tonnage would do for his boys . . . The Red and White squad looks fit for all comers, but lack of experience and any larger size players will seriously hamper their chances . . . Edwards has a light but capable backfield composed of Wallace, Cooke, Bellas and Redmond . . . Dick Wallace is the captain and veteran of the team, he's now playing his fourth year of varsity football . . . The Terriers line is light but eager, anchored around capable pivotman Jay Bloomer . . . Also a standout in pre-season work is Flanagan, an end, who recently moved here from Detroit.

Edwards is receiving some valuable assistance from Bernard Rockovitch, Dallas Borough teacher, who played pro-football with the Shenandoah Presidents in the Penn State League.

Dallas Township's first game is September 25 against the Wyoming Seminary JV's . . . Fans will see a number of familiar faces on the Seminary squad, among them Jack Roberts, Dallas, who is playing there after a hitch in the Army.

Unmindful of its competition, baseball blissfully rolls on towards its seasonal conclusion . . . The playoffs in the Bi-County Loop are definitely settled with Orange, victor in two straight over Beaumont in the semi-finals, meeting Noxen, winner in two out of three games with East Dallas in the semi's . . . This best out of three series should be quite a battle putting Noxen's skillful mound staff of Scouten and Blizzard against Orange's "Murderer's Row" of Fronzek, Kunkle, J. Smith, W. Smith, Siekler and Company.

Noxen gained the finals last Sunday when, with a game apiece, it knocked East Dallas out of the running with a 5-1 victory . . . It was Noxen all the way with Granville Scouten shacking East Dallas batters time after time . . . East Dallas bid for victory in the seventh when the score was 3-0, but efficient infield work by Noxen nullified the Dallas chances . . . Fine stickwork for Noxen was contributed by Scouten and Van-Campen with long well hit triples and Session with a solidly hit double . . . Art Bellas pitched a good game but those extra base hits combined with a few costly errors gave the Wyoming County lads all the runs they needed . . . Scouten was in top form and was backed by a tight defense which helped him over the rough spots with ease . . . Mike Kozich, Pete Austin, Harry Martin and Tex Wilson played well for East Dallas, with Kozich connecting for two consecutive hits in the early part of the game.

Dallas Legion has definitely and absolutely withdrawn from the Susquehanna League, reports Ken Grose, Legion manager . . . The move was voted on by all players and all were in favor of the withdrawal . . . This action was precipitated by the disputed Miners Mills game two weeks ago . . . In this game the Legionnaires were given such raw deals that they walked off the playing field in the ninth inning . . . Grose tells us that it has been like that all year round and since they can expect nothing better in the future, it was a very reasonable withdrawal . . . Dallas has been in the first four teams all season and held down the top spot for a number of weeks . . . They have been participating in the controversial "playoff for position" the last four weeks.

The Legionnaires would like to play a three game series with Ted Wilson's East Dallas team . . . If this goes through, the games should provide a good drawing card and give answer to the question of whether the Susquehanna League is any better or faster than Bi-County Circuit.
