RADIO NEWS

TELEVISION

In spite of the negative reports we hear, it is surprising how good some of the pictures we are getting in this area are.

However, a word of caution is in order. We are not all situated in favored spots or financially able to erect the necessary mast. Each installation is different; no one can say you will get it OK without a test, and then the opinion should be based on experience.

In fact - experience counts in most every phase of electronics. Let our twenty some odd years help you.
