

YOU KNOW ME

By
Al, Himself

Well, as the Back Mountain Farmer says, "You got to have a winter, even though you may have to wait for spring to get it."

After a delightful fall, and the most open winter we have experienced at Harvey's Lake, at last we awakened Sunday morning to notice that the entire lake was frozen over.

At least it was frozen entirely over as far as Al, himself could discern, and of course that may be controversial. Some persons may have noticed open water here and there, but as far as our defective eyes could see, at last the lake was frozen over. It was calm Saturday night and cold enough to form at least a half inch of ice over the entire lake. At any rate that thickness of ice was the judgement of Al, himself and Professor George E. Taylor, our congenial Lake Township School Principal, who dropped into our house and invited us out to take a Sunday afternoon stroll. We amused ourselves in our walk by picking up stones as big as our fist and tried to throw them through the ice, but, no soap. We hope future skaters forgive us if they trip over those stones.

We called up Harry B. Allen, one of the most experienced fishermen of the lake, to question him about the lateness of the lake freezing over. He stated that in all the years, man and boy, that he has trolled the lake he has never seen such a mild fall and open winter. Mr. Allen fishes from the first day the ice breaks until it freezes over, so he should know.

We know of three other good fishermen, there may be more, but they are not numbered among our acquaintances. One is George Armistage, who is enjoying his usual winter sojourn in Florida. Another is Slim, who used to run an Inn opposite the picnic grounds, and the fourth is a fellow we knew only as "Red" who was at one time a bartender at Rooney's Restaurant in Wilkes-Barre. We hasten to assure our readers that we knew of the latter two more for their ability as fishermen than for their art in mixing drinks.

Squire Ralph Davis informed us that he remembers two winters when the lake never froze entirely. One was sixty years ago, which he recalls vividly because the group of boys he was palling around with had waited so long to get in some skating that one of the most daring trusted the thin ice late in the season and fell in at Point Breeze.

Another year, he states, was more recent. He forgets what winter it was but remembers being part of a chain of men that helped pull another skater out of open water. Pete Delaney spoke up at that point, stating that he "well remembers that winter, it was either '32 or '33," says Pete, "because I was in the ice business and only five inches of ice were cut off the lake and that was in the inlets and around the edges." "That year," Pete continues, "people were cutting grass in January."

There are two bets made that we know of, as to the thickness of ice that will be harvested. One person claims that the lake will yield sixteen inches and another is pulling for a more moderate twelve.

As for us, we don't know, we are comparatively new at the lake, only being here since '33. We only know there is very good swimming in the summer, if one sticks close to shore, and we know that no matter how harsh the winter may be from now on, nothing can take away the enjoyment we have gotten out of the wonderful weather up to this week.

Robins Resigns As Garage Manager

Dick Robins, manager of the Dallas branch of Oliver Motors, Inc., resigned last Tuesday after four and a half years of service.

Mr. Robins, who has been suffering ill health lately, said he had no immediate plans for the future, but that he would take a trip to Florida shortly if his health improves.

Dunham, former manager of Oliver Motors Used Car Lot in Kingston, has been appointed to succeed Mr. Robins.

Vegetables Plus
Give new and zestful flavor to garden vegetables by adding a little bacon, cooked crisp and broken in small pieces. Spinach and other greens take kindly to this treatment. It's a new idea for baby carrots, too.

With Cold Meats
If the main dish of the meal is cold sliced meat, it's a good idea to have one of the other items a hot dish. It may be hot soup served at the beginning of the meal, a fresh-cooked hot vegetable, or a casserole dish. Here are a few suggestions, all good with cold meats: Baked macaroni or noodles with cheese, brocoli with hollandaise sauce, scalloped potatoes and onions, succotash.

Casserole Suggestion
Put alternate layers of cooked corned beef (cut in cubes), boiled potatoes, and cooked beets in a baking dish. Pour cream sauce over all, top with crumbs and brown in the oven. A touch of grated onion gives extra flavor.

Quick Pick-Up
For a hearty luncheon dish that almost makes itself—top a casserole of scalloped corn with frankfurters, halved lengthwise and placed cut side down. Brush lightly with drippings; heat in moderate oven. Serve crisp cole slaw with chopped pickles added.

Food for Babies
Modern mothers give their babies a variety of foods at an early age. Baby's diet gets a nutritional boost when meat is included as soon as the doctor advises it. A good assortment of canned baby foods including meat is available. They save Mother a lot of work and they're popular with His Highness!

Sunday Breakfast
Cans of luncheon meat are mighty handy to have in the cellar. For a breakfast with plenty of "punch"—serve panbroiled slices of luncheon meat with tender pancakes. And be sure there's lots of hot coffee.
