Not Have Died in Vain"

'That These Dead Shall

Some thoughtless or malicious person, with total disregard for the American flag and its dead heroes, shot holes as big as pennies through the little white flower basket placed on the grave of George Race, Wardan Cemetery, by his mother on Memorial Day, and barely missed the flag behind it. Caretakers at the cemetery say that such desecration is not an unusual occurance. Amazing, isn't it?

George, you remember, died in an airplane accident while serving his country.
