Bucks Boy Wins Farmer Award

Because he was the most outstanding Future Farmer in Pennsylvania, Willard Docktor, Quakertown RD., Bucks County, was selected to receive the annual State Star Farmer Award made during the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

The coveted honor was won on the basis of home farm project work and FFA leadership abilities as a vocational agriculture student at Quakertown high school over the past three years in which young Docktor had netted $3,313 and bought himself a tractor. His total income from farm projects since his freshman year was $4,213 and he still owes $900 on the tractor, according to H. E. Fetterolf, State Department of Public Instruction, FFA adviser.

At the same time that agricultural supervisors selected Willard as State Star Farmer they chose five Regional Star Farmers for Pennsylvania, the first time such awards have been made. Based on outstanding farming activities and leadership ability, the selections are as follows, Docktor winning his regional honor in addition to the State award:

Northeastern region: John McDermott, East Smithfield, Bradford County;
Southeastern region: Willard Docktor, Quakertown, Bucks Co.;
Central region: Kenneth E. Rishel, Mifflinburg, Union County;
Southwestern region: William Clayton, Trinity High School, Washington, Pa.
Northwestern region: Carl T. Chess, Sandy Lake, Mercer County.
