WAR

War? We ask this humble question,
What does this small word mean?
Does it go to make us happy
Or does it make us mean?
Does it mean, we send our sons
away,
For vacation and for fun,
Or, does it mean to hunt and kill
And fear the sight of gun?

We ponder long and seriously
And wonder what it's for,
And then again this tho't it comes
What means this small word—war?
Can mothers who sent sons away
A few short months ago,
Explain to us the meaning of
The word we want to know?

O, no their hearts too heavy are,
Some sons did not come back,
And they are wondering still in fear
Of what became of Jack
Or Jim or Joe, or Bill, or Sam, and if he's under sod,
Or if he will return again
And learn to trust in God.

We listen, as we kneel to pray,
We hear an airplane soar,
And wonder if it's filled with boys,
Now being sent to war.
O, leaders of great nations,
Please tell us what it's for
To send our sons, away to kill,
And call this small word—War.

Mrs. Etta R. Roach Lies At Fern Knoll

With the passing of Mrs. Etta Reese Roach, 79, Trucksville, one of the last survivors of the graduating class of 1892, first group to finish training at Wilkes-Barre General Hospital, has put a final period to fifty-eight years of nursing. She served in the Red Cross in three wars.

During the Spanish American War, she travelled on Governor Daniel Hasting's train to bring back typhoid sufferers from Chickamauga, boys who were stricken in camp and never saw active service.

During the First World War Mrs. Roach organized the Trucksville unit under Miss Maude Brotherhood, head of the Wyoming Valley Red Cross, taught first aid, and was alerted to go overseas when the war ended.

Second World War saw Mrs. Roach again in charge of the home front in Trucksville, responsible for bandage and sewing projects.

In addition to private practice, Mrs. Roach held a position for twelve years, 1921 to 1933, with the Lehigh Valley Coal Company in Hazleton and Mahanoy.

In failing health since Thanksgiving, Mrs. Roach has been desperately ill for three weeks prior to her death on Sunday. Not able to lie down because of a heart condition, she passed away in her easy chair.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Harvey Weiss of Trucksville, with whom she made her home; two brothers, Sterling C. Reese, Trucksville, Clinton H. Reese, Cresco; three half brothers, Ross H. Lloyd, Cleveland, Gordon H. Lloyd, Wilkes Barre, Lynford Lloyd, Mountain Top; three nieces and nephews.

She was buried from her home on Wednesday, with private funeral services in charge of Dr. H. E. Thompson of Wilkes Barre, and lies in the Weiss family plot at Fern Knoll Cemetery.

That's Advice From The Lester Squiers

The Lester Squiers of Lehman have a good garden well under way in the back yard of what will be their new home. When Mrs. John Curtis, who lives just across the street from the school, found that the Squier family was having a garden plot ploughed and harrowed, she sent over what it takes to make a garden grow, a whole load of manure. Mrs. Squier says that due to this shot in the arm, her gladiolus is already over a foot high.

The house will be of ranch type construction, a large living room, dining room, and three bedrooms in addition to the usual utility rooms. Joseph Franks of Wilkes-Barre is the contractor. Outside finish will be brick and white siding, garage a separate building. Ground was broken on June 18, and the family expects to occupy by Thanksgiving.

The two boys have already had a chance to live on the new property, for their parents pitched a tent for them away back when the garden was first getting under way, before excavation for the foundation of the house started.

The location, on the same street as the school and almost next door to it, will be convenient for the supervising principal, within quick walking distance instead of car distance. There is almost an acre of land, enough for a large garden and a good lawn.

The Squiers picked up a pair of beautiful brass andirons, modern type, brand new at the Library Auction for their new fire-place.
