A Pint Of Life To Save A Life

Bloodmobile To Serve Greater Dallas Nov. 2

By Mrs. T. M. B. Hicks
Will it hurt? That is the fearful question most often raised when asked for a blood donation. The answer is NO. When a Red Cross operative from the Bloodmobile makes the small puncture in the arm, she first uses a local anaesthetic. The only sensation is that of slight pressure.

The Bloodmobile sent from Red Cross Headquarters to Dallas, November 2, for Back Mountain Blood-Donor Day, will be as well equipped and staffed as the Blood Center on South Franklin street. The routine includes a test for red blood cell content, a temperature reading, a questionnaire to determine past and present health.

Arrangements are just as private as at the Center, with curtains hung from movable frames. Donors lie flat on a stretcher while the vacuum container is drawing the blood, continue to lie flat for a few minutes more, sit on the edge of the stretcher for another short period, and go to the canteen for a cup of coffee and a sandwich. As simple as that.

The pint of blood that each Back Mountain resident lends to the Blood Bank will save somebody's life. Maybe in Korea, maybe on the home-front. Maybe somebody else's life, maybe his own. A pint of blood is like money in the bank, on hand for instant use.

Blood donation is the simplest known method of saving a life, not so dramatic as dashing into a burning building to rescue a child, or braving the waves to save the drowning, but equally effective.

Almost anybody can spare one hour of time and one pint of life.

Fifty-Five Folks See School Film

Citizens Committee Meets At Kunkle

"Pop Rings the Bell", a film shown at the meeting of the Citizens Committee for Better Schools at Kunkle Community Hall Tuesday evening, presented to the 55 people present a good picture of what the committee is trying to do.

The business meeting was presided over by Dr. Lester Jordan. James Eckert and Marshall Nunlist were appointed as co-chairmen to study the financial picture of each of the Back Mountain schools under the present set-up, as contrasted with a financial picture under jointure. A report will be expected at the next meeting.

Joseph Maza, chairman of administration, read excerpts from minutes of Dallas Borough and Dallas Township Board meetings. Indications are that Professor Charles James, supervising principal of Dallas Township, will meet shortly to discuss joint use of present facilities. Both school boards, according to the minutes as reported by Mr. Maza, have expressed willingness to work together for the joint good.

Francis Ambrose, chairman of survey, reported facts showing the overburdening of teachers under present conditions.

It was announced from the chair that any organization desiring speakers from the Citizens Committee might get them by contacting Mrs. Thomas B. Robinson. Mrs. James Gross, Trucksville, was asked to handle publicity.

Hutchison's Trip

known instrument of the Gold Rush) you seem to find yourself transplanted into the days of long ago, and it seems quite natural for a mule driver with an authentic beard to walk past pulling his pack mule along. When you do come back to life and realize you should be getting a picture of it, he proves most willing to step over in the sunlight. This is of all the 'characters' around the place—another example of the thoughtful consideration of the Knotts.

We went back twice, for we hadn't had time the first evening to see the berry patches, flowers, gift and dress shops, Mark Smith Horse Show, or the Little Chapel by the Lake which houses the now famous painting, The Transfiguration. Had we had another week for vacationing, we probably would have returned once more, for this result of 30 years of cooperative efforts on the part of a family is a wonder to behold, and a joy to visit.
