

Dierolf Wins Wings In Paratrooper School

First Lieutenant William Dierolf, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Dierolf, Franklin street, Shavertown, won his paratrooper wings at Fort Benning, Georgia, on Friday, December 1. He is being transferred to Fort Campbell, Georgia, where he will be joined as soon as housing is available by his wife, the former Dolly Sawyer, and his two-year old daughter.

Lt. Dierolf has been in the infantry ever since November 11, 1940, precisely 22 years after the Armistice which released his father from service in France.

Gould And Elston Manage Oliver's Lot

Ray Elston and Milford "Tiny" Gould are in charge of Oliver Motors Used Car Lot which has recently been opened at the triangle intersection of Memorial Highway and Route 309.

An office is being erected and flood lights will be installed shortly. At present they have a stock of thirty-three cars and plan to have a formal opening when all installations have been completed.

Beau-Catcher

When is a hat not a hat? The fashion editors of Cosmopolitan magazine have an answer in this enticing peek-a-boo veil. It's held on by two velvet-bound wires. An added coquettish touch is the heart-shaped beauty mark.

LET'S GET TOGETHER SUNDAY TO SING THOSE OLD CHRISTMAS CAROLS

Don't miss the community singing on Sunday afternoon at 3, in the big parking lot that services the Acme Store, Bowman's Restaurant, and Merritt's Drug Store.

The choir from Dallas Borough High School will sing, accompanied by the brass section of the band.

The Businessmen's Association has fixed the time for the community carols in accordance with a request from residents that the carol-singing be held during daylight hours. The singing was an inspiration last year, but the weather was icy and the crowd was uncomfortable.

Ladies Aid Party

Loyalville Ladies' Aid will hold a business meeting followed by a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Wilfred Ide Tuesday, December 19. There will be election of officers. Door prizes and prizes for games will be awarded.

Meeker Holiday Party

Mrs. William Drabick will entertain the Meeker W.S.C.S. at a Christmas party Monday. Plans will be outlined for the coming year.

1951 Farm Show To Top Any Previous Exposition

Largely due to observance of the Centennial of the first State Fair, the return of full line farm machinery displays, and a record entry of livestock, interest in the 35th Pennsylvania Farm Show which opens on January 8 is mounting rapidly in rural areas of the State.

"Pennsylvania farmers will present a spectacle that will far exceed anything in Farm Shows since the exposition was founded 34 years ago," declared State Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst, chairman of the Farm Show Committee and the Farm Show Commission.

The coming show should attract between 500,000 and 600,000 visitors, depending on the weather, he continued. Decorations and the theme of the show will be based on the 100th anniversary of the first Pennsylvania State Fair, held in Harrisburg in October 1851, on the fact that this is the 35th Farm Show, and that its 13-acre home will be just 20 years old this coming January.

In addition to the largest known Farm Show displays of farm machinery and livestock, many new features will be presented at the Anniversary Farm Show, Secretary Horst said. Those announced to date include the first annual State Championship sheep shearing contest and first sheep dog demonstration in 10 years. Both will be staged in the large arena on Thursday night of Farm Show week, along with the annual parade of prize winning livestock, the State Championship horseshoe pitching and log sawing contests.

For the 1951 show the Farm Show Commission has provided a record premium total of $54,476. Advance entry of a record 1,734 head of horses, dairy and beef cattle, swine and sheep indicate that the livestock show will be the largest in Farm Show history. It will also feature the largest dairy cattle show, 565 head being entered. The number of cash awards for the entire show is a new record at 9,770. The Commission anticipates a total of 11,000 or more competitive farm products exhibits, highest since prewar days. Commercial exhibit space was completely sold out by mid-November. Youth participation is an outstanding feature of the coming Farm Show. Members of 4-H Clubs, Future Farmers of America, and Future Homemakers of America complete with exhibits of beef and dairy cattle, sheep and lambs, swine, poultry, eggs, honey, vegetables, tobacco, small grains and corn. Vocational schools prepare window displays and give demonstrations of their farm and school activities; home economics students display food and clothing and stage demonstrations in homemaking projects.
