To our many friends and customers:

These are unusual times, our government is in the process of the most gigantic defense program in its history. This will surely tax to the utmost our entire manufacturing facilities which mean that many consumer items will be in short supply.

Reputable manufacturers and patriotic citizens are doing their best to keep the ugly head of inflation from biting too deep into our national economy.

We wish to state at this time that we will do everything in our power to keep our prices as low as possible, consistent with quality and service.

We will also do our best to supply our customers with all their needs in the lines we carry in stock.

We further promise to our customers, that we will continue to give them the same fine service they have been accustomed to.

To the above statements we pledge the future of our entire organization.
