The Mammoth Easter 1950 Egg Hunt Gets Under Way

Lou Banta Sets Wheels In Motion
 For Bigger And Better Egg Hunt

For the afternoon of March 24 at 2:30, on Kingston Township school grounds, Lou Banta is planning an Easter Egg Hunt of mammoth proportions, outranking last year's production in number of prizes and children, with twice as many hard boiled eggs for bait.

Last year 5,000 eggs were dyed for the occasion. This year there will be 10,000, which should take up the spring surplus in egg production and cause falling egg prices to stabilize themselves.

Schools and mothers will again cooperate in the boiling and dyeing, and merchants will once more donate prizes of merchandise or cash.

Three thousand children attended last year's egg hunt. This year Lou is hoping for twice as many, with all Back Mountain schools collaborating.

Working through the schools, with each child responsible for a half dozen hard boiled eggs, the 5,000 eggs were accumulated without too great trouble to any one person. With other schools working on the project, the goal of 10,000 eggs is not unattainable.

Boy and Girl Scouts will again be pressed into service to help hide the eggs, and the grounds will again be divided into areas, one for pre-school children, a second for 1st and 2nd graders, a third for children from 3d to 6th grade, and a fourth for 7th and 8th grades.

This is the third year of the Easter Egg Hunt. Last year Old Toll Gate Lions helped distribute prizes, and police from Larksville, Kingston Township, Dallas Township, and the Reilly Detective Agency assisted in keeping order.

Prizes given by local merchants and interested residents included a camera and a bicycle, scooters, candy, portable radio and wrist watches, also some live rabbits and baby chicks. Dan Flood, congressman, contributed.

Baskets to Crippled children or children unable to take part in the festivities totalled 143.

Plan Big Community
 Dinner For Library

Plans are being made to accommodate 400 diners at Back Mountain Memorial Library Auction Dinner to be held Tuesday evening, April 24, at Irem Temple Country Club.

The dinner will be the opening gun for the Fifth Annual Library Auction which will be held July 6 and 7.

Co-chairmen of the dinner, Mrs. Arch Hutchison and Mary Weir, hope to make it the biggest community dinner ever held in the area. There will be entertainment, special numbers, group singing led by Herman Kern, and unusual table and dining room decorations.

Since the dinner will be limited to 400, reservations should be made at once.

Grace Barrall Finds
 Two Dates Conflict

Grace Barrall, Lehman High School Senior, president of the local FHA and also of Luzerne County Future Homemakers of America, had to decide this week between a delegate to the national convention at Indiana College on March 10, and taking a competitive scholarship examination at Misericordia on the same date. The prospect of a possible scholarship won out.
