

Streamlined Postal Money Order Went In Effect On Monday

Patrons of more than 42,000 Post Offices will find the new and more convenient money order available Monday morning, July 2, 1951, Postmaster General Jessie M. Donaldson announced today.

Principal changes in the new money order system will make it possible to have a money order cashed at any of the nation's post offices or it may be collected through any bank in the same manner as the depositing or cashing of a check.

The new money order appears in the form of a punched card instead of the customary paper slip and purchasers will fill out the same form and pay the same fees as has been required in the past.

The regulation that money orders must be cashed at specific post offices has been eliminated. Under the old system, it will be recalled, a money order had to be cashed in the office to which it was issued. If it was cashed at a post office in another city an additional fee was charged.

The new system makes available to the Post Office Department the most advanced electronic business machines: One machine, the IBM Type 808 Proof Machine, has been developed for the new money order purposes and it combines all the advantages of the modern proof machine in widespread use by banks and large department stores throughout the country. Another of the principal machines to be used with the new system is the Electronic Statistical Machine, workhorse of the 1950 Census tabulation.

The Postmaster General described the inauguration of the new money order system as the largest single accounting change ever made in postal history and said, that the development comes after exhaustive study by the Post Office Department, the General Accounting Office, the Treasury Department and the Federal Reserve Board.

The Department urges users to remember that the new money orders must not be folded, stapled, spindled or mutilated in any way since they are to be issued on punch cards and processed by machinery.

Last year more than 300,000,000 money orders, totaling upward to five billion dollars were issued and paid by the Post Office Department. The new money order system will be under the management and supervision of Assistant Postmaster General Osborne A. Pearson, who directs the Department's Bureau of Finance.

All new money orders will clear Federal Reserve Banks in the same manner as Treasury checks or other cash items. The Federal Reserve banks will then turn over the paid money orders to the proper regional Post Offices.

The new money order system is in keeping with the program to modernize and improve the operation of the postal service, as well as to effect economy and the better to serve the general public.
