Plan Carefully For Cabinets And Counters

Cabinets and counters occupy more space in a kitchen than does any other kind of equipment, says erican Builder magazine.

For this reason, the magazine adds, arrangement and size of cabinets and counters should be carefully planned.

"For greatest efficiency, storage space in the kitchen should be planned according to the size of the family," American Builder says. "And, if possible, the arrangement should be determined before planning the placement of windows. Otherwise, windows can limit the effectiveness of cabinet arrangements.

For a family of four persons, the building industry publication recommends a minimum of 5 feet, 3 inches of wall cabinets and 8 feet, 6 inches of base cabinets, in addition to space for storing din-addition to space for storing din-nerware.

"When the amount of storage space to be used is determined, it is important that this space be available where it is most needed," American Builder adds. "If appliances are properly ar-ranged according to recommended planning principles and if manu-facturers' cabinets are used, there is little chance of error in estabfacturers' cabinets are used, there is little chance of error in establishing correct availability of storage space.

"Manufacturers of wood and metal cabinets, largely responsible for the rapid progress in development and standardization of velopment and standardization of kitchen units, today offer inte-grated units styled to harmonize with appliances. Cabinets are available to fit any kitchen re-quirements and are usually de-signed to complement work areas.

"Base cabinets under counters where mixing is done, for example, usually have provisions for the storage of staple items used in mixing foods, while dinner-

"Shelves should not be higher than 72 inches from the floor, and wall cabinets should not be high-er than 15 inches above the work surface of counters."

American Builder says that minimum amounts of counter space as recommended by a re-cent Small Homes Council study are 15 inches beside the refrigare 15 inches beside the refrigerator, 36 inches at right of sink bowl, 30 inches at left of sink bowl, 24 inches beside, or near, the range, and 36 inches for food preparation

Modern Laundry Fits in Kitchen

Modern laundry equipment is designed to blend well with kitchen cabinets and appliances and the laundry itself can be planned as an attractive extension of the kitchen, says American Builder magazine.

The magazine also says, "Laundry equipment properly arranged in sequence with necessary counters can be effectively used in a combination laundry-game room, either on the first floor or in the

"Ideally, the washer, dryer and ironer should be arranged according to the sequence of their use, e near for sorting and folding of clothes. For plumbing economy, one-wall installation is recommended."

House Chosen for 'Livable Features'

Because of its large number of "livable features," this house has been chosen as Plan No. 40 by American Builder magazine, 30 Church St., New York 7, N. Y. American Builder says:

"Entrance to a generous powder room is accessible from the reception hall. It is also handy to the kitchen. Economy is considered by the fact that the fixtures back up to the bathroom wall. All idian comband door close the Cement Shingle Tabs In areas where farm buildings in exposed positions are subject to winds of demolition force, asphalt shingle roofs can be made windtight by cementing down the shingle tabs. The cement holds the tabs down so that wind cannot blow underneath to lift the roofing from the roof deck.

Quick-setting asphalt cement is used and can be applied with either a putty knife or a caulking gun. Place a spot of cement about the size of a 50-cent piece under the center of the exposed portion of each shingle tab and press the tab down firmly. Do not bend the tabs back farther than necessary. Use special care on sections of the roof most vulnerable to wind—the eaves, the rakes and the
