St. Therese's Wins Pennant

Softball Play-Offs
Start Wednesday

St. Therese's has captured the Church Softball League pennant in an abbreviated season of play. Although in pretty sad shape following the folding of several teams the league finished its season with the remaining squads playing a shortened schedule. St. Therese's suffered only one defeat in this shortened season, a 7-6 loss to Shavertown Methodist in the first game of the year. The Saints swept through the remainder of the schedule to nose out the second place Shavertown Methodist nine.

The playoffs will begin Wednesday and continue on through the second week of September. Last year the cup was won by Prince of Peace when it nudged by St. Paul's to take the championship. Prince of Peace as the defending champion started the season but a shortage of manpower forced it to disband in the middle of the season. The league definitely plans to run again next summer and with a little better organization to return to its former footing of an eight team circuit.

Heavy Loss Of Bees
Due To Bad Weather

Early prediction of heavy loss of bees last winter in Pennsylvania held true today when a Federal-State survey, announced by the State Department of Agriculture showed that one-fourth of all colonies failed to withstand the cold winter and late, cool spring.

Starvation and winter-kill accounted for most of the bee loss, the survey revealed. Spring weather was cold and wet and colonies generally were too weak to gather much honey from early plants and fruit bloom. The build-up was slow in most localities.

After the arrival of real spring weather the supply of nectar was good, fruit bloom was heavy, locust and dandelion so good that in some sections of the southeast and west considerable surplus honey was made, the Department reported. Clover bloom was especially good. When rains delayed cutting for hay the bees made large quantities of honey.

To offset the heavy winter loss of bees, Pennsylvania beekeepers increased the number of colonies remaining by 20 per cent, making a total of 180,000 colonies now in the State compared with 194,000 a year previous. Condition of colonies on July 1 this year was reported 86 per cent, the same as a year previous.
