James Keiper, 81, Dies on Tuesday

To Be Buried Today At Oaklawn Cemetery

James Keiper, 81, died New Year's night at his home on Franklin street after an illness of over two years. He will be buried in Oaklawn Cemetery this afternoon at 2, following services by Rev. Robert Yost from a funeral home at 1442 Wyoming avenue, Forty-Fort.
Mr. Keiper retired from the carpenter business where he was employed by E. E. Reilly, when 75. Unable to remain idle, he gardened for Clinton Ide until he suffered a stroke two and a half years ago.
Born on a farm near Fern Ridge, Monroe County, of pioneer Pennsylvania Dutch stock, one of fourteen children, he assisted his father Amos in one of the first Christmas tree ventures in the area, importing trees from Canada and cutting locally. As a young man he worked in the lumber woods at Stull and in the Poconos, taking up the carpenter trade in 1902.
Married to the former Maria Ellen Eckhardt, who died 1936, the family lived for a time in Noxen and in 1924 bought the home on Franklin street, Dallas.
He was cared for during his illness by his son, Lloyd, and his grandson James. During the warm weather he enjoyed sitting out on the porch in the sunshine, and his chief recreation was listening to western stories and music on the radio.
A daughter, Grace, died during the influenza epidemic of 1918, and another daughter, Mrs. Alice Merrill, died some years ago.
Surviving are six sons: Harry and Clifford, Kingston; Arthur, Ashland; Raymond, Wilkes-Barre; James, Shavertown; and Lloyd, at home. There are twelve grandchildren and eight great grandchildren; four brothers, Emanuel, Tobyhanna; George, Albrightsville; Ben, Allentown; Theodore, Kunkletown; and a sister Amelia, Slatington.
Funeral arrangements are by Richard Disque.

Breaks Two Fingers In Pump Flywheel
