Open House At Naval Reserve

Lt. Cmdr. Schaffhauser Issues Invitation

Commanding Organized Naval Reserve Battalion 18 is Lt. Commander Jacob H. Schaffhauser of Shavertown, succeeding Commander Michael Kevolic, formerly of Dallas, who is now inspector-instructor of the Philadelphia Naval Reserve Training Center, one of the most extensive centers in the country.

Commander Schaffhauser extends an invitation to all Back Mountain residents to attend open house at the Naval Reserve training facility in Kingston Saturday afternoon, Armed Forces Day.

All phases and facilities of the Naval Reserve training will be open for inspection. Personnel of the Naval Training Center and Battalion 18 will serve as guides.

Headquarters for local Organized Naval Reserve Battalion 18, the Naval Reserve Training Center, corner of Mercer and Bennett streets, has prepared hundreds of young men for duty in the present Korean emergency and continues to offer training to members of three divisions associated with the Naval Reserve program in Luzerne County.

Commander Schaffhauser explains that the young men the local Naval Reserve is seeking must be between the ages of 17 and 18½—just ahead of the draft age. A young man joining the Naval Reserve and participating in training at the Naval Reserve Training Center is free of Selective Service until he reaches 18, and when he has attained that age, the Navy will summon him for active duty, if he is drawn in the draft.

"Thus, instead of being tossed into any branch of service the young man will be assured of duty in the Navy," according to Commander Schaffhauser. "Moreover, he will have had the advantage of thorough, intensive training in one of the number of specialized rates offered by the Naval Reserve."

Commander Schaffhauser was a lieutenant in the U.S. Army before volunteering for duty with the Navy. He received his Naval indoctrination at Princeton University. Aboard the USS Donnell in the Atlantic, Commander Schaffhauser was among the survivors of the vessel following a torpedo attack. He was picked up by an escort vessel and taken to England. There he served with the Advanced Amphibious Forces and later was gunnery officer aboard the USS Thomas Jefferson.

Excluding the Presidents who were assassinated, three U. S. Presidents have died in office.
