Driver Narrowly Escapes Ducking

Car Plunges Through Reservoir Guard Rail

George Mihalick, 50, Lower Main Road, Dallas, narrowly escaped a plunge into Huntsville Reservoir Monday evening when his car failed to make the turn on the far side of the dam.

Mihalick was driving toward Lehman when the car, a '38 blue two-door Nash, left the road to crash over the bank. The accident was apparently caused by some mechanical defect in the brakes.

Ann Mihalick, the driver's sister, drove along the road a few minutes later and recognized her brother's car on the edge of the reservoir. She stopped, but could not find her brother. Mr. Mihalick was later discovered walking along the road toward Lehman.

Both Mihalick and the car escaped the accident unhurt.

West Side Flower Club To Hear Landenberger

Loren Keller, Idetown, president of the West Side Flower Club has announced that Jess Landenberger of Clarks Summit, authority on flowers and their arrangements, will be guest speaker at the special meeting to be held in the Forty Fort Town Hall June 17.

Persons interested in entering flowers in the fall show, August 27 and 28, should attend the meeting as Mr. Landenberger will explain what judges look for.

To Welcome Rev. Heapps

Circus Daddies Will Help Kids To See Circus

Everyone's a kid again on Circus Day. And every kid, Dallas Kiwanis Club members feel, should be given the chance to enjoy the spangled world's joys and thrills.

Helped by numerous Circus Daddies, the Kiwanis Club is seeing to it that all kiddies of the area who otherwise could not afford a circus ticket will be taken as guests to the matinee of Mills Brothers Three Ring Circus. The circus, world's largest motorized one, will appear at Harveys Lake Highway show-grounds near Dallas on Saturday, July 26, under sponsorship of the Dallas Kiwanis Club and the Back Mountain YMCA.

"We wish to thank all who have co-operated in this special project to enable these youngsters to enjoy free an afternoon of thrills under the big top," Kenneth Rice of the Kiwanis group said today. "At the same time, they have generously helped both of our organizations in their Youth project."

"We know, too, that these kiddies who will attend the circus free join in offering hearty thanks. On the basis of results to date, it appears we will attain our goal of providing enough free tickets so that no needy boys or girls will miss the circus, with its 40 tons of elephants, performers from 18 countries, dancing horses, clowns and all of sawdust-land's elements."

Mills Bros. is the world's only circus never performing on Sundays. For 12 seasons, it has appeared under civic and charitable groups exclusively, aiding local funds such as the one here.

The 1952 anniversary performance features imported artists plus American favorites. Dutch, Italian, Swiss, German, English, Austrian, Australian, French and Latin American stars will appear, plus the elephants, other trained animals, continental and American clowns, elaborate all-girl aerial ensembles, a full circus concert band, and spangled spectacles. Auspices members have advance tickets which provide heaviest receipts for the local fund, on sale now at special reduced prices.

Sterling Guernsey Is In Country's Top Ten

Sterling Victory, one of Andrew J. Sordoni's registered Guernsey cows, produced 13,566 pounds of milk and 725 pounds of butterfat to give her first place among the top ten of the Guernsey breed.

The record, computed in the Advanced Registry, started when "Victory" was a junior 2 year-old. The cow was milked 3 times daily for 3050 days. An average milk cow in the United States produces about 5,240 pounds of milk and 208 pounds of butterfat a year.

Coldspring's Romulus Ambition, the sire of this cow, has 3 daughters in the Performance Register of the American Guernsey Cattle Club.

GI DRIVER FOR CHAPLAIN BROTHER

Now Donald is a jeep chauffeur for his brother in 25th Infantry Division's 14th Regiment. (International)

Y Secretary Gives Twelve Rules For Water Safety

Observance of a dozen commonsense rules of water safety would prevent most of the drownings and near-drownings which annually mar the swimming season, John E. Donovan, Acting Secretary of the Back Mountain YMCA declared today. Everybody, young and old, should learn to swim, and that way a goodly number of water accidents would never happen, Mr. Donovan said.

"Many people take all health precautions they can, practice safe auto driving habits, look up and down before crossing a street, but for some reason or another just never get around to learning to swim," he explained. "Most adults won't admit they can't swim, and feel it is beneath their dignity to start as beginners when they have achieved success in the business or professional worlds." The result, Mr. Donovan said, is that adults may get into trouble in the water because they feel it is a sign of weakness to admit they cannot swim. "Parents, especially fathers, are the worst offenders among non-swimmers," he added. "To keep their children from knowing they can't swim, fathers often take foolish chances. It is just as important for parents to know how to swim as it is for their children. If parents and children learn at the same time, the swimming lessons can become a family project. Based on the Y.M.C.A.'s 67 years' experience in teaching swimming and water safety, Mr. Donovan listed 12 rules to help youngsters and adults of the Back Mountain area enjoy a safe, and happy swimming season:

- 1. Learn to swim. That's the first and most important rule. If you can't swim, the only sensible thing to do is stay out of the water, and out of small boats as well.
2. Swim only at properly protected beaches and pools. That way help can reach you quickly should you get into trouble.
3. Obey all warning signs. They are put there for your protection.
4. Don't show off, and don't take darts. Both these human failings have caused many accidents. Also, know your limitations and don't try to exceed them.

5. Never dive into unknown waters. You might strike rocks, or become entangled in debris. Don't swim where there are heavy growths of weeds.
6. When holding races, always swim towards the shore, not away from it. Then you won't find yourself exhausted and far from land.
7. Never swim alone. Always have another swimmer with you.
8. If you are over-heated, cool off before going into the water. Also, don't try strenuous swimming after heavy meals.
9. Should you get into trouble, keep calm. Cling to an overturned boat or other floating objects. Comparatively small things will support you, if you keep calm and take advantage of your body's natural buoyancy.
10. Don't attempt a rescue in the water unless you are a strong swimmer, skilled in life saving. Stay out of the water if possible, and try to reach the person in trouble with a pole, rope, or clothing. You may be able to push or throw something buoyant to him.
11. If you are sensitive to cold, and many people are, swim for short periods if the water is chilly. If it is cold, stay out entirely.
12. In electrical storms, avoid swimming, open boats, beaches, fields or trees. Safest places are houses, automobiles or beneath steel bridges. If you are trapped in the open, lie flat on the ground.

How to Be Safe in the Water Y.M.C.A. Rules for Water Safety

A collection of illustrations and text boxes providing water safety rules. One illustration shows a person swimming alone with the text 'NEVER SWIM ALONE: ALWAYS HAVE ANOTHER SWIMMER WITH YOU.' Another shows a group of people with the text 'DON'T GO IN FOR COMPETITIVE WATER SPORTS WITHOUT TRAINING.' A third shows a person being pulled across the water with the text 'COME ON, LET'S SWIM ACROSS.' A fourth shows a person looking at their limits with the text 'KNOW YOUR LIMITATIONS AND STAY WITHIN THEM.' A final illustration shows a person lying flat on the ground with the text 'IN ELECTRICAL STORMS, AVOID SWIMMING, OPEN BOATS, BEACHES, FIELDS OR TREES. SAFEST PLACES ARE: HOUSES, AUTOMOBILES, UNDER STEEL BRIDGES. IF EXPOSED, LIE FLAT ON GROUND.'
