 bership and call themselves "Independents". This figure among voters under 30, according to the most recent sampling, is close to 40%, with another 40% pledging their allegiance to the present party in power. It is apparent to me from my 2½ years of leadership in the Young Republicans and my recent contacts with young people in all parts of this country, that it is becoming increasingly difficult to sell Republican Party membership as such and that anyone with the title "Mr. Republican" would find that with young people it constitutes a serious political liability.
 On all sides, I hear the answer,

"Yes, but the young people don't know any other Administration but the present incumbents, so how can you expect them to be for the Republicans?" Right, as far as it goes. But if we Republicans are to win another Presidential election we must receive substantial support from the voters under 30, who have been voting heavily against us for the last two decades. Particularly, we must break into that 40%, the 4,000,000 Independent voters under 30. My experience in the last four months has convinced me that this essential group is almost solidly prepared to vote the Republican ticket if Eisenhower is nominated for President. I am equally convinced that the task of selling to these young voters the party without the man will be very, very difficult indeed.

Make Better Hay ... Cut Work and Costs
 with a JOHN DEERE FORAGE HARVESTER

You'll make the most from your hay crop . . . harvest it cured for the mow or green for silage, with less work and at lower cost with a John Deere Forage Harvester.

With the John Deere you can adjust the length of cut from an easy-to-fork 3-1/2 inches for field-cured hay to a compact-packing 1/2-inch for windrowed green silage crops. What's more, you harvest your crop in an easy, speedy trip through the field to hold muscle-work and costs to rock-bottom.

Chopping hay stretches your crop by making all of it palatable. Converting it to grass silage not only makes a nutritious, economical ration for your livestock, but enables you to save your hay crop when bad weather threatens.

And, the John Deere can be quickly converted for harvesting row crops. See us for details.

I have tried to explain why young people like Ike. I have neither attacked nor defended their conclusions; I have merely reported them. I have promised neither Republican victory with Ike nor Republican defeat without him. But I am completely convinced that with Dwight Eisenhower as its candidate the Republican Party has its best (and perhaps last) chance of victory in 1952.
