

Back Mountain Jubilee Minstrels Rehearse Three Times A Week

Added to the cast of Back Mountain Jubilee are a pair of acrobatic ballet dancers, Gertrude and Marguerite Engler, students at Wyoming Valley Ballet Theatre. Another feature will be Jack Donahue in song numbers.

Forty-five participants met at Back Mountain Memorial Library Sunday afternoon, remaining for a rehearsal that ran well over three hours. Songs are being polished, choruses and feature numbers rehearsed.

Final selection of end-men has not yet been completed. More and more talent is being uncovered, husbands are being drawn into the picture, and it looks as if everybody in the Back Mountain might be on the stage instead of in the audience.

Costuming is in charge of Edna

McCarthy and Janet Lamb, who will appoint a committee to shop for material, design, cut and stitch the women's costumes, employing a basically simple design. Each member of the chorus will finance the cost of her own material, but costumes will be standardized. Women who can cut and sew are asked to get in touch with either of the Committee heads. It will be extremely simple sewing.

Three rehearsals per week are being scheduled, with Tuesday evening meetings at Dr. Bud Schooley's rumpus room on Lake Street, Thursday evening and Sunday afternoon rehearsals at the Library Annex.

The show will play for two evenings October 10 and 11 at Dallas-Franklin Township high school.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and daughter Deborah of Hatboro were pleased to find Mrs. Smith's father, C. W. Smith, recuperating so nicely at the General Hospital where "Butch" submitted to an operation on his knee.

The Warren Johnsons are spending their vacation touring Virginia and visiting an ex-Marine friend of Warren's.

The monthly meeting of the Lend-A-Hand Club was held at the home of Mrs. Paul Nulton instead of the I. O. O. F. hall. The group voted to have a Halloween party at the I. O. O. F. hall in October and to levy a fine on the unmasked.

It's good to see the work started on the shower and locker rooms at the school.

It's Time For Distribution Of Books To One-Room Schools

Miriam Lathrop, Librarian for Back Mountain Memorial Library, made the rounds of ten one-room schools serviced by the library Friday morning, to estimate the number of boys and girls who would be needing books this fall, and get some idea of the variety needed.

Teachers may pick out their own books from shelves in the Library Annex, or they may trust to Miss Lathrop's discretion. Delivery will be made within a short time, with volumes and selections changed several times during the school year.

It has been suggested that many parents do not know that the books their children bring home are from the Back Mountain Library, and that each book should be accompanied by a slip bearing this information.

This matter came up as a result of a parent's statement, "I don't see why we should support the Library. We never go there, and it never does anything for us." At that precise moment the twelve-year old son was stretched on the living room couch devouring a book of adventure from the Back Mountain Library, drawn from the collection left at his school by Miss Lathrop.

When the new school is built in Sweet Valley, six of the one-room schoolhouses will presumably be off the list for books, but teachers in the future consolidated school will welcome them as avidly as when they were teaching in the smaller structures.

It was Ord Trumbower, Sweet Valley merchant, who suggested that many parents in that section did not realize where the books came from.

Ben Johnson Loses Toe By Amputation

Ben Johnson, Trucksville, has been a patient at Wyoming Valley Hospital, Wilkes-Barre, where he had the great toe on his right foot amputated on Thursday. Johnson's car slipped from a jack and crushed the toe, partially severing it from the foot.

Ben, son of Mrs. Catherine Johnson, Carverton Road, is the young man whose wife and two little children were drowned in Trucksville's worst tragedy late in July, when Trout Run burst its banks and engulfed the little family while they were attempting to make their escape from the flood.

Siren Test In Dallas Gets People Excited

Dallas Borough's siren testing at noon last Friday, brought North Berti, assistant fire chief, out of bed and out of the house on the dead gallop. Hazel, when interviewed, said "I tried to catch him to tell him it was a test siren, but he was gone before I could make a grab. He wasn't feeling so well, and was trying to get a little nap."

A steady string of phone calls came to the Dallas Post to inquire "Where's the fire?"

The nine p.m. curfew in Dallas is in the nature of a siren test. Friday's long blasts came as a surprise to everybody.

Banta Resigns

light which no one saw as each driver claimed it was blinking amber. We never received a receipt. We were treated very unfairly. We did not pass a red light.

The following day I saw in the newspaper that he arrested twenty-two drivers on July 4, 1951. Since then we felt we would never travel through Kingston Township. We have traveled extensively and never met with a similar situation.

When we asked what had done, Banta would not say a single word. We really didn't know what wrong we had done until we received the summons. We paid it in order to avoid loss of time from work, but have always felt that Louis Banta would some day pay for his "Dirty Work."

I do hope you gentlemen give him exactly what he has coming to him. We are one of many who paid fines for laws we did not break. A man of his character is a disgrace to your township.

We were never arrested in our lives before. Our arrest on July 4, 1951 was made by a person without conscience.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gorozza

Contractor Writes
I was travelling about 40 miles an hour when Mr. Banta switched the light as I approached the crossing. The light turned from blinking amber to green and I went through the green light naturally. He blew his whistle. I tried to explain, but he would not listen and used very rough language. He threatened to lock me up if I said another word.

Another car went through the light but he was too busy with me to stop him. I had no choice but keep quiet because I did not want to be detained on my way to the Lake.

I received a notice from a Dallas Township Squire and I had to pay $12.50 fine for no reason. I know several people from out-of-State who were arrested for the same reason and had to pay a fine. I have watched Mr. Banta and he just waits for some one to pass a green light and keeps switching the light when traffic is heavy. If a driver cannot stop in time he has to pay a fine.

I was stopped a second time and told him I would not tolerate his action, but would have him in court if he sent me another summons so he let me go.

Philadelphian Abused
I have written to practically every one concerning Officer Banta. I shall, rightly so, now ask you for some show of justice.

In August 1951 I toured through the Kingston Township area on my vacation. On my way to Harveys Lake I went through a flashing yellow signal at no greater speed than twenty miles an hour.

A car was parked in front of an Acme Market so I attempted to pass it. Officer Banta stepped from in front of it, pulled me off the highway and subjected me, my family, (wife and son), and Mr. and Mrs. George Ziegler of Wilkes-Barre to a cursing outrage that I have never yet experienced in all my years "on the road."

When I asked what violation I made, I was told, "Get the Hell out of here before I take your Goddamn license off you."

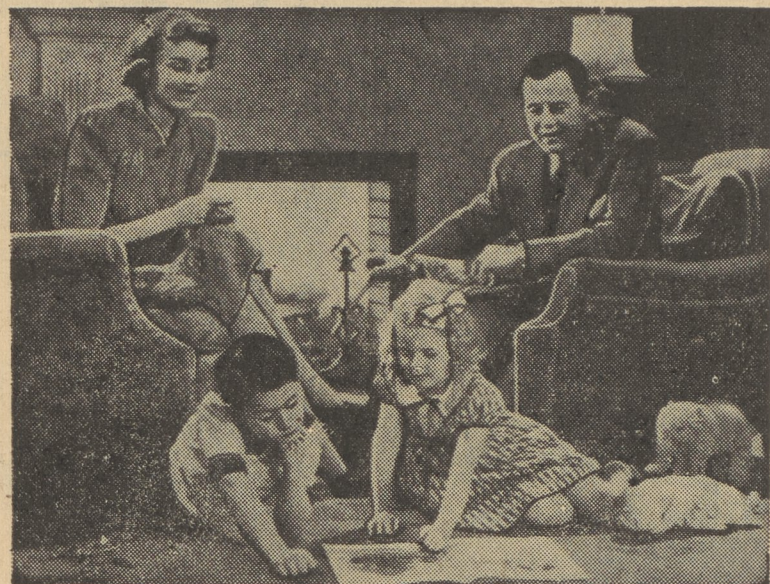

In two weeks I received a notice to pay Justice of the Peace Fowler of Orange $13.50 or surrender my license for something I have not been able to determine since. I paid the money. But in subsequent letters I have not been able to get a reply as to why I was arrested. Has he got something of a racket or what?

I am enclosing a diagram. Mr. and Mrs. Ziegler and my wife can attest to these facts.

Fox Terrier Is Lost

Vern Groff says it's like a funeral around the house without that little black and white fox terrier. No trace of it has been seen since Wednesday when it vanished at 3 p.m. He hopes that neighbors will notice and call him if they see such a little dog. School grounds have been investigated with no results.
