IKE MEETS WITH AIRBORNE APPOINTEES ON CRUISER

UNPARALLELED IN HISTORY is this meeting of President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower with five top appointees of his Cabinet, all of whom were flown and helicoptered to the cruiser Helena, "somewhere in the South Pacific." Dramatic as were the various arrivals, the situation took on more historic significance as the group plunged into the job of framing a program to be revealed by Eisenhower in his Jan. 20 inauguration address. Shown (l. to r.) are: Gov. Douglas McKay of Oregon, Secretary of the Interior-designate; Attorney General-designate Herbert Brownell; Secretary of Defense-designate Charles E. Wilson; Gen. Eisenhower; Secretary of State-designate John Foster Dulles and Secretary of the Treasury-designate George Humphrey. The shipboard conferences reportedly covered a wide range of problems. the hunter should tag it. Do not destroy evidence of sex. Turn the animal's head downhill so that it will bleed freely. It is quite important to cool the deer as rapidly as possible in order to keep the meat fresh and sweet. This can best be done by 'hog-dressing' it as quickly as you can.

"Cut the carcass open from crotch to throat. Be extremely careful not to puncture the intestines or bladder. . . Cut around the vent and loosen the organs in the pelvic cavity, taking care to keep hair from coming in contact with the meat. Now turn the carcass so that the head is downhill. Cut windpipe and gullet free at the throat. Pull backwards on these, cutting free from the body any part that sticks. Now remove all internal organs. Open the cavity and spread it apart with a stick. Wipe it dry with a clean cloth. DO NOT WASH IT OUT WITH WATER.

"If you are taking the carcass out of the woods before cooling and quartering, leave the heart and liver in the body cavity. . . Spread it so that air can circulate freely. Black pepper will aid in keeping flies away. If practical, allow it to cool overnight.

"Deer meat is not tough if it has been properly aged. Aging at the proper temperature is necessary in tenderizing any meat. Most butchers recommend that deer meat be aged for about a week at a temperature of from 37 to 40 degrees. This aging time depends on how old the deer may be; a real old buck should be aged for about ten days. If you properly bleed, cool, age and freeze your venison, it can be cooked in such a delicious manner that it will taste better than any 'store bought' meat obtainable. If you plan to put it in cold storage, it would be well to give it a 'quick freeze' first. Deer meat which is to be frozen should be cut into proper sized cuts and carefully wrapped with foil or waxed freezing paper in air tight packages."

Joint School Board Okays Little League

Votes To Replace Furnace Stack At Borough School

Permission to use Shavertown field was granted Little League at Monday night's meeting of Dallas Borough-Kingston Township Joint School Board. Charles Steinhauer and William Strasser spoke of improvements made to the field during the past season, and outlined further improvements, including flood lights, planned for next year. Mr. Steinhauer explained that some boys, faithful in practice, had been denied playing in actual games because of weather conditions. Flood lights would make possible two games in the course of an evening if necessary.

The board decided to invoke the emergency clause in replacing the stack at Dallas Borough building, a repair not included in the budget. Willard Garey, present by request, inspected and reported on its condition. Estimates range from $700 to $987.

Dr. Robert Bodycomb, reporting for Building and Grounds, stated that most projected repairs and improvements had been made, and that the only things not absorbed by the budget were unexpected expense to the septic tank at Westmoreland, and proposed replacement of the stack.

Quality of coal was reported as improved, with the Board's interpretation of cost accepted by the contractor.

Permission was granted to the Church League to use the gymnasium for basketball, with the proviso that boys in boots should be policed off the floor between playing periods.

Two students from Westmoreland Band will go to Stroudsburg to play in the State Band January 8, 9 and 10. Lester Lewis will accompany them.

The band will play at Community services in Dallas December 21.

Replacement of a faulty valve resulted in saving of 35,000 gallons of water.

Suggestion that a cyclone fence be erected around Westmoreland athletic field was received favorably, with future action implied. Too many spectators view the foot-
