bunny. And you could all take turns feeding the mamma bunny. When the baby bunnies came, you'd have to leave them alone for a little while, but pretty soon you'd be able to pick them up and cuddle them."

It was the numbers that did it, that problematical fraction of a bonus bunny.

A fat white rabbit, lethargic from over-eating and natural causes, was lifted gently into a large box, a lid with perforations tied securely in place, and the caravan started for home without a backward glance at the grey bunny, the brown bunny, the small white bunny, the white bunny with the black spots, and the royal looking black bunny.

And now everybody is waiting for Easter. The children all talk softly to the prospective mamma, encouraging her to put forth effort and produce ten bunnies, enough for two apiece.

Ambrose Talks On PTA Program

Says Parents Should Enter Discussions

Members of Shavertown PTA joined with Francis Ambrose in a discussion of the present status of the Dallas Borough-Kingston Township Schools jointure at the meeting Monday night. Mr. Ambrose, president of Dallas Township PTA, spoke on the importance of parent participation in PTA meetings.

"Any meeting is more interesting if the member takes part," the speaker stated, and urged that members must feel free to enter the conversation. Consensus on jointure by Shavertown parents was that both the children and the school districts had benefited, but that a still larger attendance area would be possible and provide more advantages.

James Goodwin, Shavertown principal, announced that 136 pupils out of 196 had been registered in the insurance program. Pupils may be registered until April 1. A group of parents spent three days at the school assisting in sending out the forms and registering the pupils as the returns came in. They were Mrs. Robert Casterlin, Mrs. J. H. Schaffhauser, Mrs. Si Jenkins, Mrs. Robert Williams, Mrs. Carl Shulteis, Mrs. James Eckerd, Mrs. Budd Hirlman.

Charles A. Eberle, president, appointed the following nominating committee: Mrs. William Glahn chairman; Mrs. Clyde Bruce, Mrs. Charles Mannear, James Eckerd, Raymond Malkames. The committee will present a slate of officers for the next school year at the May meeting.

Mr. Eberle urged support of the bake sale, sponsored by the PTA, to be held March 28 at the school. The attendance award was won by the second grade taught by Mrs. Edythe Kromelbein. Refreshments were served by Mrs. McGinnis' first grade mothers.

Returns Home

Leonard Ide Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ide Sr. of Lehman, returned from Germany where he had served with the U. S. Army for the past eighteen months and received his honorable discharge on Monday.

Psychologist Is PTA Speaker

Gravel Arrives For Borough Playground

Martha Olson Fry, clinical psychologist, spoke on the Child, the Home and the School at the meeting of Dallas Borough Parent Teacher Association on Monday night. After the formal talk, she answered questions from parents on child psychology.

W. E. McQuilkin who is supervising the Association's project of graveling the school playgrounds announced that gravel will arrive tomorrow and any one who is willing to help with spreading on Saturday should get in contact with him.

More than 120 parents have signed the accident insurance contract in Dallas Borough. Mothers are assisting in setting up the plan and anybody may still join.

James Lacy, chairman of the Ways and Means committee, reported $65 from the foodless food sale. A prize of $1,500 for collecting the most money was awarded to the First Grade. He announced that the committee will hold a Spring Carnival on May 16.

President Leslie Barstow, who presided, announced that the meeting for April will be postponed until Wednesday night, April 22, when the School's annual Art Exhibit will begin at 7 o'clock. Because of the change there will only be a short business meeting. The nomination committee composed of Mrs. Robert Wallace, Mrs. Roger Owens and Mrs. L. Dana will report at the May meeting. Mrs. Robert Van Horn, announced that membership in the Association now numbers 112.

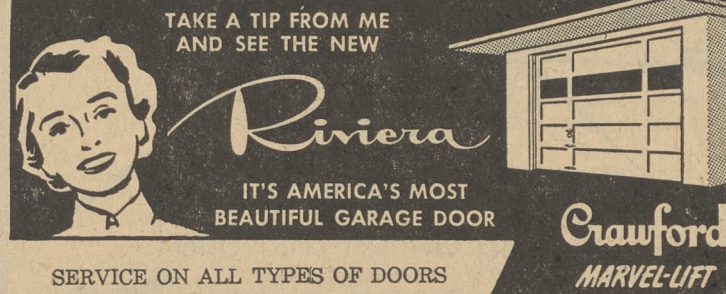

Refreshments were served by Fifth Grade mothers. The Second Grade won the attendance record.

Truck Goes In Hole

What appeared at first to be a problem of engineering turned out to be only a matter of skillful driving for Thomas Reese Sr., Thursday morning when one of his coal trucks slid into the excavation at Acme Market and landed on top of a septic tank.

Tom was called to look over the situation, said he could handle it, and drove the truck out easily.
