Prince Of Peace Bazaar Draws Good Crowd, Offers Wide Variety

Prince of Peace Bazaar drew good crowds Wednesday and Thursday afternoon and evening. Patrons found a wider variety of articles for sale than usual, and merchandise moved rapidly. Decorations featured white and gold holly branches and Christmas tree balls. Outstanding were home-made dolls, smocked dresses, aprons, with good space devoted to home-made pickles and jellies.

Mrs. Alwen Mortensen made up twenty-nine clown dolls, gay in red and white seersucker; ten Raggedy Anns and Andy's; ten upside down dolls. In addition to these, she made dozens of doll dresses, some of them smocked, and hat and coat sets in quantity. Mrs. Mortensen started work immediately after last year's bazaar, making a career of doll manufacture. The six sock monkeys were contributed by Mrs. Harry Graves, a former member of the church.

Aprons ranged from sheer affairs to slip over and evening gown down the line to gingham mother and daughter sets with smocking. Mrs. A. S. James and Mrs. Fred Schmidt were in charge here, and doing a rushing business.

Mrs. H. R. Weaver and Mrs. Robert Maturi were chairmen of smocked dresses, dainty pestels and darker chambrays.

Baby things and other knitting were handled by Mrs. R. C. Milne and Mrs. John Vernon.

Mrs. Calvin Hall had charge of sports shirts. Thirty were made up, only half a dozen left by mid-evening on the first day.

Mrs. Donald Clark was in charge of baked goods. Mrs. Ralph Smith refreshments. White elephant table, Mrs. Paul Goddard and Louise Miller; Fishpond, Mrs. Jack Stanley; jewelry, Mrs. Shel Evans; country store, Mrs. Warren Unger.

A new department in charge of Mrs. E. N. S. Hodgson, included bot-

Ralph E. Major Lies At Lehman

Ralph E. Major, Lehman Heights, was buried Wednesday afternoon in Lehman Cemetery. Services were conducted from the home by Rev. Frank K. Abbott and Rev. Clayton Bostic, former and present pastors of Lehman Methodist Church, of which Mr. Major was a member.

Mr. Major, 63, had been increasingly ill for the past two years, requiring hospitalization at Nesbitt Memorial for a time last fall. Until ill health prevented, he was a machinist with W. H. Nicholson and Co.

A native of Lehman, son of the late Champ and Lydia Major, he had spent practically his entire life in the area.

He is survived by his widow, the former Mabel Moore of Benton; a son, Harold, at home, who narrowly escaped death from polio two years ago and is still crippled from its effects; three grandchildren; four brothers: Albert, Shavertown; Elmer, Homer and John, Lehman.

Nephews acted as pallbearers: Warren, Daniel, Glenn, and Wayne Major, Carl and Leonard Moore. Nieces were flower-carriers. Arrangements were by Alfred Bronson.
