Mothers Stage Own Easter Egg Hunt

Children at the far end of Davenport, Jackson, and Parrish Streets had their own Easter Egg hunt on Easter Monday, the date established by tradition for the White House Egg-Roll in Washington.

Ten mothers with young children, finding it more practical to be within range of their own homes, rather than take small children to Westmoreland high school for the annual Egg Hunt, dyed eggs and collected money for prizes among themselves, decided upon 1:30 as a good time, and entertained twenty-three children, using the Joseph Goode grounds. Children ranged from nine months up.

Mesdames Fred Drake, Charles Nothoff, Emerson Evans, Frank Richard, Ronald Carruthers, Wilbur Davis, Francis Dunham, Joe Hudak, Joe Katyl, Joe Goode, cooperated and there was one out of town visitor, Jane Dunham, from Baltimore.

Poet's Corner

ONLY GOD CAN MAKE A TREE

I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree,
A tree whose hungry mouth is prest
Against the earth's sweet flowing breast.

A tree that looks at God all day
And lifts her leafy arms to pray,
A tree that may in summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair.

Upon whose bosom snow has lain,
Who intimately lives with rain,
Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree.

—Joyce Kilmer.
Every yard needs more lovely flowering bushes and small dwarf fruit trees; a source of joy and beauty. Plan at once to plant this spring.

Local Girls Receive Awards For Essays

Nancy Congdon, a Senior, and Zelva Ann Moore, a Sophomore at Dallas-Franklin High School have been awarded certificates of merit for outstanding essays in an essay contest on Wyoming Valley History sponsored by the Historical Society of Kings' College. The awards were presented at a workshop on local history held at the College last Friday.

Nancy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Congdon of Demunds Road, entitled her essay, "A Study of the Abolitionist Movement in Wyoming Valley Prior to, and Following the Civil War." She expects to enter Temple University in September where she will major in history.

Zelva, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Moore of East Dallas, chose, "The North Branch Canal" as her topic. In her essay she described early attempts at navigation on the Susquehanna.

Both girls under the direction of their history instructors, Edgar Hughes and Daniel Williams, of the Dallas-Franklin faculty, did extensive research in connection with their papers.

Lee J. Gregg Buried Today

Dallas Man Had Been Ill A Year

The funeral of Lee J. Gregg, 63, who died Wednesday afternoon at his home on Pinecrest Avenue, will be held this afternoon at 2 from Elmer Williams Funeral Home with services in charge of Rev. Robert D. Yost. Interment will be in Fern Knoll Cemetery.

Born in Akron, Ohio, on September 19, 1890, Mr. Gregg was in early manhood employed in some of the big rubber plants in that city. Later he moved to Wilkes-Barre where he engaged in his own tire and recapping business on Hazle and Washington Streets.

For the past twenty years he had lived in Dallas, a part of that time operating a tire recapping business in his shop on Pine Crest Avenue. A man of quiet and introspective disposition, he had a mechanical bent that led him to study technical processes to perfect several machines which he used in his own business.

About two years ago while employed at Natona Mills, he suffered a nervous breakdown followed by mental illness which led to his untimely death on Wednesday.

Besides his wife, the former Ruth A. Gregory, who is known to hundreds in the community because of her long association with Commonwealth Telephone Company, he leaves a brother, Roland, of Akron.

Mrs. Rose Williams Funeral Today At 2

Mrs. Rose Williams, Sweet Valley, will be laid to rest this afternoon in Bronson Cemetery, following services conducted at 2 o'clock by her brother, Rev. Frank Whitesell of Forty Fort from Bronson's Funeral Home.

Mrs. Williams, 59, did not rally from a brain operation performed at General Hospital. She was admitted Saturday, following a stroke, and died Tuesday evening at 6.

Mrs. Williams, daughter of Mrs. Juliet King Whitesell and the late Ira Whitesell, Ross Township, lived the greater part of her life in the area, except for ten years spent in Kingston, where she joined and retained membership in the Kingston Baptist Church.

She is the widow of the late Orville Williams. Her mother, Mrs. Whitesell, is a patient at the Orangeville Convalescent Home, suffering from a broken hip and complications incident to age.

Harold Thompson, son by a former marriage, lives at home. There are four brothers: William I. Whitesell, Riverton, N. J.; George D., Sweet Valley; Rev. Frank, Forty Fort; and Fred, Sweet Valley.

Gets 16-Inch Trout

Robert Jeffery of DeMunds caught a 16-inch trout in Leonard's Creek at Kunkle this week. When the trout struck, Mr. Jeffery's pole broke and for a time it looked as though the trout might get away, but Mr. Jeffery jumped into the creek fully clothed and scooped the trout up on the bank.
