

J. V. Coolbaugh Funeral Monday

Long Illness Ends Friday At Nesbitt

Johnson V. Coolbaugh, 58 Harris Hill Road, Trucksville, was buried in Cedar Crest Cemetery Monday afternoon. Rev. Arthur Mayo and Rev. Robert Webster conducted funeral services from the Williams Funeral Home. Throngs of friends attended the viewings on Saturday and Sunday, and floral tributes in profusion were a testimony to the love and respect of the community.

Pallbearers were nephews: Edward and Daniel Gabel, George Coolbaugh, Clifford, Clinton and Claude Johnson.

Mr. Coolbaugh, 69, died early Friday morning at Nesbitt Memorial Hospital. Realizing the probable fatal outcome of his illness, he made all arrangements before entering the hospital ten weeks previous. He had been in failing health for the past two years.

Everyone who used the Dallas-Wilkes-Barre buses before his retirement in 1950 enjoyed riding with Mr. Coolbaugh, one of the most popular of the Wilkes-Barre Transit Company drivers for thirty-three years. He was a great hunter and fisherman, belonging to the Overbrook Rod and Gun Club, and the Hubtown Gun Club near Du-shore.

Mr. Coolbaugh was known as the most patient hunting dog trainer, showing the same qualities toward them as those which made him so

"The Rumen Story"

Twenty-three dairymen and those from the Centermoreland area who are interested in dairying turned out last week for a showing of Purina's new film, "The Rumen Story."

Scheduled for 8:30 P.M. at the Centermoreland Grange Hall, we finally got the film rolling about 20 minutes later due to a burned out tube in the projection machine. Thanks to a very welcomed assist from Glen Major everything turned out fine.

The film itself was a 16 mm. sound film in color taken on the Purina Research Farm. For the first time local dairymen were able to see food and water entering the rumen, or first stomach, of a live cow.

This feat was accomplished by means of a glass window or fistula placed in the side of the cow. The process of digestion was followed and it was shown what an important part bacteria development plays in the rumen.

The point stressed in this film was the importance of a well balanced ration in developing rumen bacteria for proper digestion, thus stimulating growth of the animal and top production.

Following the film, delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Small and Mrs. Dan Dymond.

Those attending were Leonard Krispin, Ed Husted, Roland Spencer, Cliff Chapin, Ed Clark, Steve Haradem, Ralph Kaufman, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Dymond, Albert and Glen Nulton, Bob Rogers, Cliff Shupp, Leland Gay, Peter Forgas, Roland Schoonover, Carl Besteder, Mr. and Mrs. Dana Race, Tony Vedra, and Mr. and Mrs. Small.

Also we would like to thank

Gardner's Economy Store at Orange, The Hasse General Store at Beaumont, Crawford's Economy Store at Centermoreland, and The Vernon General Store for helping us advertise this event.

Last Time!

This is probably the last time we'll mention it this season, but we've still got some fly spray left.

I stopped out to see Fred Risch of Dallas RD 3 last week and he told me that Purina Building Spray containing malathion really did the job for him.

If you're still looking for something you couldn't find all summer, try some of this spray that Fred recommends. It really works.

Win Our Pup!

WHAT'S MY NAME?

We've got a cute male hound pup here at the store which we're going to give away absolutely free to the person suggesting the most original and suitable name for him.

He comes from good stock according to Joe Stager of Stager's Pet Farm on the Chase-Huntsville Road. We bought him there and Joe says he's got the makings of a good hunter and pet.

The contest begins Friday, September 24th and ends Friday, October 22nd.
Come see him and suggest a name.
