BACK MOUNTAIN Checkerboard News
by Jim Huston Jr.
HUSTON'S FEED SERVICE, Fernbrook

"I've Come Close To The Ideal"
MR. JOE KIPP of Sweet Valley has come close to breeding what he calls "the ideal meat rabbit." He told us that his rabbits now have the square, box shaped frame which is important in producing the most meat per rabbit.
Joe has been building his rabbitry for about four years now. He is very enthusiastic about the possibilities of increased rabbit production and is working hard with many others to help boost public acceptance and consumption of domestic rabbit meat.
At the Bloomsburg Fair this year, Joe showed his stock and won championship ribbons for many of his entries. He specializes in raising New Zealand Whites. A Purina feeder for about a year now, his rabbits average 4 1/2 lbs. in 8 weeks and Mr. Kipp is well satisfied with the program.
Sons and daughters of his championship breeder stock are for sale as well as delicious wholesale and retail rabbit meat.
Next time you're in Sweet Valley, drop in at Mr. Kipp's Farm. He told us he's always glad to show anyone interested what he's been able to do with rabbits.
26 Years of Dairying Behind Program
The Purina Dairy Program was not just "dreamed up" from scientists, theories of feeding. It grew through research on Purina's own grade herd, which was started in 1928. No females have ever been bought since then. No expensive or proven bulls have been bought. Bull calves purchased have never cost over $500. The whole operation has been practical.
Over the years, the average lbs. of milk and fat produced per cow have way more than doubled. All Purina calf, heifer, dry cow and milking cow feed and management programs have been proved in this herd. That's why we have so much confidence that we can help you get the most from your ccws.
LAST CALL WHAT'S MY NAME?

Friday, October 22nd is the last day for suggesting a name for the little hound pup we have here at the store.
Howard Risley and Dr. G. R. Flack, Veterinarian, have agreed to act as judges in selecting the most original and suitable name for our pup. They'll have a tough job from what we've seen of the names suggested so far.
You'd better stop in today and put your suggestions in the box!

TO OUR CUSTOMERS
We wish to thank those customers whose electric service was disrupted, by the October 15th hurricane, for their patience, courtesy and consideration.
The storm had the most devastating effect to electric service over a greater area than ever experienced. It exceeded the 1936 flood.
Seven telephone trunk lines were constantly in use by our Transmission and Distribution Engineers receiving your calls.
These men, and telephone operators and system operators were doing their utmost to record your calls, and dispatch orders by radio, telephone and messengers.
Every man available to us was impressed into service, by calling men from Sordoni Construction crews from outside this area, with additional help from Commonwealth Telephone Company and the Wilkes-Barre Transit Corporation, plus local electricians. The Bell Telephone Company helped to restore our radio service to our service trucks.
All our employees that could be of help were used. Many linemen worked all night and the following day, until the next night without sleep. After a few hours rest they went to work again at day break. Our engineers did likewise.
Falling trees on highways, and private property, plus branches blown by the wind were responsible for nearly all the service trouble.
From this experience we realize our enormous responsibility and great dependence upon utility service.
