

Church League Lists Four Games For Opener At Dallas Township

In the opening game of the 1954-55 Back Mountain Church Basketball League St. Therese's young team takes on a much more experienced Huntsville team. The Saints who are out to atone for last year's shellacking in the first game face a rugged task in trying to hold the strong Christians in check.

The Saints will be out to make a good showing after their dismal 4-10 record of last year. John Baur, Frank Pavlick, and John Monka are expected to bolster the team along with seven men returning from last year's squad.

Huntsville, always a strong contender when not the champs, have acquired former St. Therese playmaker Neil Kocher to strengthen their team along with last year's players.

Trucksville vs. Dallas

Last season's play-off champs, Trucksville will take on Dallas in the second game.

Once again former Westmoreland High School stars Bernie Sherin and "Sham" Richards will spearhead the attack for the Hilltoppers. Newcomers to the team are Dave Carins, Bob Guyette and Bob Richards who is awaiting his military discharge from the Army.

Dallas also has a player awaiting discharge from the Army, Lowell Roberts, a good playmaker and scorer who will strengthen the Dallas attack.

Hunters Invade Woods, Many Bucks Shot

Robert Belles, supervising principal of Lake-Noxen schools, got a small three-pointer on South Mountain. Successful among members of a large party based in a sportsmen's cabin were four other hunters, Howard Shook, Fred Cool, Paul Space, and Roy Newell, all of Noxen.

In one case at least, a deer asked to be killed, leaping out in front of Andy Denmon's car while he was on his way home from hunting on Monday at dusk. It smashed a headlight, and went bounding on into the woods at Red Rock, probably not seriously hurt.

Duke Isaacs has a sure-fire recipe for getting a deer. Draw the short straw at the hunting cabin on North Mountain, get stuck with the job of cooking, start opening a can of beans, step out back for a moment, and find a spike buck peering from behind the shrubbery. Duke blasted it, the only one in his party of four to be successful on opening day. Losers were Willard John, Bill Jeter and Warren Unger.

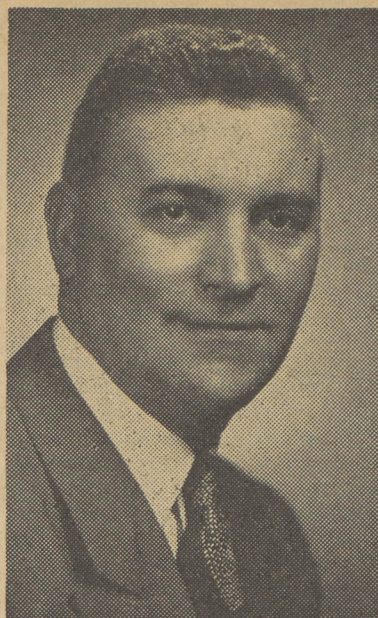

Eight Beaumont men were successful on Monday: Albert Patton, Richard Mock, Eldridge Wright, Lawrence Crispell, Lester Crispell, Herbert Mock, Russell Price, William Mock and Robert Dymond. Wilson's Keep Record

In East Dallas, honors again go to the Wilson family. Tex got an eight pointer, Ted a seven pointer, both big and fat. Ted has been hunting thirty years, his son Tex for nine, and both father and son have never failed to make their kill. Fred Shoop, hunting in a party with Doc Rutherford, Don Hughes, and Vern Groff at Mountain Springs, got an eight point buck at 11 a. m.

Fred Michael, Jr., Elizabeth Street, hunting with a large party including his father, Edward Hops, Anthony and Joe Hudak, Andrew Stash, Edward Estock, and Fred Dodson, got a 140-pound buck, six points, at Mountain Springs. In the same party, Manual Stiver was successful.

Bob Hislop, Jr., a student home from State University for the opening day, learned about life the hard way. He shot a deer while hunting near the Hislop camp at Lovelton, trailed it over a ridge and down a hill, only to find a hunter from another party tagging it as his own. Bob, Sr., and Murphy Hislop, Steve Sedler, Percy Waggell, Billy Dierolf,

Charles W. Reed Retires Nov. 30

Been With Transit Company 40 Years

Charles W. Reed, Shavertown, made his last run on a Wilkes-Barre Transit Company trackless trolley on Tuesday, retiring after forty years of service, fourteen of them on the Dallas-Harveys Lake line. More familiarly known to passengers as Charlie, he had not served the local bus line for some time, being assigned to the West Pittston run.

Each morning Charlie rose at 3:20, and made the 4 a. m. Dallas bus into Wilkes-Barre, getting home again by 1:30. He says it will be a real treat not to get up so early in the morning.

To Mr. Reed went the honor, April 30, 1939, of making the last run on the last street car serving the Dallas area before the tracks were abandoned and the switch made to buses.

He has been a resident of Shavertown for twenty-seven years. His son, Warren, is manager of the newly opened State Liquor Store in Dallas. His wife is the former Lillie Hahns, of Wilkes-Barre. There are two grandchildren, Carol and Janet Reed.

Mr. Reed was born in Easton. Ever since boyhood he has been an ardent baseball fan. With no plans for the retirement years, he thinks he could be persuaded to become interested in the Little League.

Shavertown vs. Carverton
Shavertown, last year's straight season champs will take on what is expected to be a much improved Carverton five in the third game.

The Shavers will be trying to defend their crown with Carey, Davis, Oney and company. Shavertown's roster will have plenty of reserve strength with the addition of Bob Bolton, Ken Smith and another service returnee Albert Hawke.

Carverton, last season's cellar-dweller is expected to cause plenty of trouble this year. This is only its second season in the Church league. With Mike Lewis and "Dynamite" Harris back with a few others from last year's team, Carverton has added Carl Dymond, Vance Walker and Harvilla to the roster.

Alderson vs. East Dallas

The last game of the evening brings together Alderson and East Dallas, both known as "spoilers" of the league. These two teams seem to upset the appellation when they meet the top teams of the league at crucial times.

An aggressive Alderson team will be led again by former Lake-Noxen High School star Dick Searfoss. Players from Loyallville Methodist will play with Alderson.

East Dallas, another team with plenty of zip at times will once again have "Tex" Wilson along with most of last year's players.
Luck and success to all teams.

Pete Roushey, Jack Sheehan were in the party. Jack got his deer Monday, 8 a. m.

Harry Post, Trucksville, lets his deer run up to him. Stationed with his rifle resting comfortably on a tree stump of the correct height, Harry drew a bead on a 160-pound five-point buck at 9 a. b., held his breath until it was well within range, and blasted it, the only one in his party hunting on the mountain back of Root Hollow to be successful. Harry brought it down the logging trail on a Model T Ford owned by Kenny Moules of Wilkes-Barre, one of the six printers making up the party.

Donald Kocher reports a six-pointer shot at Red Rock. Glenn Kocher an eight-point buck shot back of Harveys Lake.

Walter Bronson got a six-pointer at Ruggles.
The list is nowhere nearly complete. More names keep coming into the office all the time.

Pillar To Post

no matter how dark the hour. Persis was sitting on the floor surrounded by the evidence, and cursing expertly under her breath. "It's the first time he's ever done it," she announced, but without conviction.

"Don't give me that line of tripe," I countered, "I've seen dogs before and cleaned up after them too. Gimme that rag."

We coped with the situation. Pinky glared through the kitchen window, and if there'd been a little balloon thing coming out of her mouth, as in the funny papers, it would have said in large capitals, "If I'd done that, I'd have had my nose rubbed in it and been booted out the door."

And that's the way Thanksgiving started at our house. Continued in our next installment.

Register your deer with the Dallas Post, weight, number of points, locality, members of the hunting party, size of rifle, and anything else of community interest. Lots of deer are going unannounced. If it's your first deer, say so. If you're thirteen years old and got your deer with one well-placed shot, say so. It's good news and everybody is interested.
