Barnyard Notes

We have watched Billy Berti grow up into a fine, energetic, civicminded young man. We wish him and his new teammate a lifetime

Billy and Wahneta spent a part of their honeymoon in New York City. Neither of them liked it. New York, I mean. Hated the hurry rush and bustle, and were glad to be back in Dallas a day or two later.

___ Learning to enjoy New York is like learning to swim. The first couple of plunges scare the wits out of the countryman. But after a few strokes on your own with the resultant self-confidence-it can

Young Nelson Downend has to keep busy. At one time or another he has sold me everything from chances on a television to himself and his ability to become a newspaper subscription salesman. Monday it was my pleasure to have him sell me once more on the fine quality of the fish products sold at Snider's new market. There is nothing gives a boy better insight into human nature than salesmanship, learned early in life. Some of the most successful young businessmen in the Back Mountain area, were first rate salesmen when they were in high school. Duke Isaacs was one of them; Gerald Frantz another.

Looks as though Myra and I have got to go back down South and find where Spring has gone into hiding. A week after our recent trip to Charleston, my cousin wrote: "Stopped at the Fort Sumter. Visited your famous gardens, today. Isn't it too bad, all the flowers

-0-Jimmy Richardson who wears a beautiful orange and black sweater and who as mascot was largely responsible for this year's success of the Westmoreland Basketball team, has turned his attention from sports to his first love-farming. Jimmy was in Tuesday carrying a pasteboard carton, almost as big as himself. From it came sweet sounds of spring. The source was Jimmy's Bantam hen and two baby chicks! He thinks she's in a class with the Westmoreland team-a champion. Come to think of it-she is also

An acquaintance of mine tells me that the corporation for which he works looks with disfavor upon its employees holding political office. Isn't it amazing? That corporation is dependent upon good government for its success!

It's always a puzzle why so many people who are concerned with good government, don't take part in it; never attend a School Board or Borough Council meeting. Not all the men who serve on school boards or as councilmen and supervisors are doing it to further a political ambition; most of them just want to contribute to their own town in the best way they know how. It would be mighty encouraging, now and then, if some of us would drop around at a meeting and say: "You fellows are doing a good job while I stay home watering the lawn or watching television." Lord knows enough of us are able to drag ourselves out to meeting when we have a gripe! Why don't you attend the next meeting of School Board or Council? Get acquainted with the men and women who run your town. You'll be surprised! Most of them are as smart as you are—and some of them a lot smarter!

-0-No one loves her country or appreciates America more than Mrs. Georgette Kozek of Machell Avenue. Born and reared in France where she remembers all the toil and struggle of the hard years under the German occupation, Georgette has now been in the United States

'The time has been so very short," she says wistfully. "When I came here I said, 'I will be back next year'; but I don't want to go back. There is no place like America!"

She recalls the days after the Normandy invasion-working and waiting in the fields with other young men and women—to welcome the vanguard of American troops. "We planned to throw flowers at the first Americans we saw-handsome young fellows. And then they came—old men on tanks!" Georgette shrugs her shoulders lightly and cocks her head prettily, "We threw the flowers, anyway. We were so happy to see them!'
